So Says Senator Sherman Speaking of Benjamin Harrison.

THEN GREETS THE EX-PRESIDENT

Ex-Secretary Talks About Republican Convention in 1888 and Mr. Platt's Doings—Good Word for Warner Miller.

Although Senator John Sherman declared yesterday to the reporters that he did not see any popular sentiment running in the direction of the renomination of ex-President Harrison, the Senator and the ex-President met in the parlor of the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night, shook hands, and chatted for some time together.

It may not be necessary to say that their talk did not make any great change in the outlook as to Republican Presidential possibilities.

Gen. Harrison saw several personal and political friends during the day. He may leave the city to-day or he may wait until to-morrow. He still refuses to talk on political matters. It was different with Senator John Sherman. He talked, and he talked freely. He said the things that he had set down in his book were facts, and he thought that he was big enough and broad enough to stand by them, whether they affected ex-President Harrison, Thomas C. Platt, or any one else.

The Senator had been spending considerable time with ex-Senator Warner Miller, and he said ex-Senator Miller agreed with him in all matters in which the latter was an actor.

In talking of the Republican National Convention of 1888, before which he was one of the candidates for the Presidential nomination, Senator Sherman said:

> I was in close touch with everything that happened during the convention of 1888. After the weary balloting had detained the Convention until Saturday night without a choice, the important matter was to ascertain whether the lines could be kept firm over Sunday, until the balloting should be resumed on Monday morning. Up to that time I had developed no strength in the New-York delegation. One delegate had favored my candidacy, but the delegation registered its vote as a unit, and his influence was lost.
>
> The famous dinner of the New-York delegation was given on Saturday night, and the delegation then voted to swing their strength to my column. It is Mr. Miller's recollection that there was no change in this attitude until after the diners had separated. Some time during Sunday Elkins and other of Harrison's friends persuaded ex-Senator Platt and other men of influence in the New-York delegation to go to Harrison for one ballot only. No one thought that this would be the decisive ballot. After it they were to join my column, and this would have nominated me. Gen. Harrison's friends did such efficient work with other delegations that the convention took the matter into its own hands and nominated Harrison on that Monday morning.

As to Mr. Platt's reasons for this change, Senator Sherman said:

> It is known that Mr. Elkins had in his pocket a written promise from Mr. Harrison engaging that ex-Senator Platt should control the Federal patronage of New-York State in case of his nomination and election. That may have had something to do with it.
>
> "Senator Platt is said to cherish the grievance that Harrison broke his promise to make him Secretary of the Treasury," the reporter suggested.
>
> It seems that to be Secretary of the Treasury has been, and is, the acme of Mr. Platt's political ambition. I do not believe that the convention engagement carried any explicit promise as to a Cabinet place. It undoubtedly went no further than the distribution of Federal places in New-York, and in that respect President Harrison stood to his bargain. He never seriously considered Mr. Platt's demand for the Cabinet place.

Senator Sherman said that he had not talked with Mr. Platt since he had been here, but that he would be very glad to read what he has to say if he concludes to make it public.

Mr. Platt said last night that he would have nothing to say, for the present, at least.

Senator Sherman, when told that Gen. Russell A. Alger was not pleased with some of the comments in his book, said that he did not think he had stated anything but the truth, and he regretted it if that seemed to hurt. The Senator denied that he had ever doubted the loyalty of Gen. Garfield to his (Senator Sherman's) candidacy in the convention of 1880. On this point he said:

> I believe that Garfield was loyal and did his best to carry out the mandate of his delegation. If there was any disloyalty it was not on his part. When my nomination seemed hopeless, and there was a tendency of my strength to go to him, I telegraphed him my full consent. I was glad that the nomination was to go to an Ohio man. I think his friendship for me was unshakable, as mine was for him. Garfield was an exceedingly brilliant man, with a handsome face and imposing appearance. What he seemed to lack was moral steadfastness. He was very susceptible to the influence of stronger natures. He lacked depth of conviction. The last man who got his ear was apt to influence his judgment.

Senator Sherman was asked if he thought Gen. Harrison was desirous of a renomination, and he said:

> If he is he ought to come out and say so. It was always my plan to let my ambitions be known. I doubt if he can be renominated, even if he desires it. I have not seen any strong current of popular sentiment running in his direction. In fact, I never saw that at any time. He was nominated the first time because Indiana was a doubtful State, and he barely carried it. The second time he lost his State. Ohio, which is ordinarily a safe Republican State, was barely carried for him in 1892, and we lost one Presidential elector. His only appearance in National affairs prior to his Presidential term was one term as Senator. He made a good hit, but was not a conspicuous Senator. I nowhere and at no time saw his strength with the masses.

It was after this statement that the ex-President and the Senator shook hands. The politicians said last night that they were giving each other the "icy palm."

The Ohio Senator criticised Secretary Carlisle's Chamber of Commerce speech in the vein he usually employs in such matters. He said that Mr. Carlisle's speech was ingenious, but, of course, he could not agree with it.

Senator Sherman said that ex-Senator Warner Miller would make a very capable Senator from this State. He intimated that he could not say as much for ex-Senator Hiscock. Mr. Hiscock, who was in the city, said that Gov. Morton was his candidate for President.

HARRISON OR ALLISON.

Indiana Republicans Have a Second Choice—Conference at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 20.—The Republican conference called here to-day attracted about 500 party men from every part of the State. Col. Richard W. Thompson of Terre Haute presided. In his speech, Col. Thompson predicted the nomination and election of Gen. Harrison to the Presidency.

Other speakers were Charles W. Fairbanks, a Senatorial probability to succeed Daniel W. Voorhees, and Congressmen Watson and Johnson, who rejoiced over the recent elections.

One of the side features that attracted attention was the large Terre Haute delegation which came to push the Senatorial claims of William R. McKeen, President of the Vandalia Railroad, who also aspires to succeed Senator Voorhees. There were also in attendance a large number of candidates for favors at the hands of the next Republican State Convention, among them being at least ten candidates for Governor.

The Republican State Committee met this morning and fixed Jan. 28 as the date for the reorganization of the committee. Indications point to the election of Enos H. Nebeker, former United States Treasurer, as Chairman, over John K. Gowdy, the present incumbent. His election would be an indication that the Harrison men control the State organization.

There was a good deal of discussion of the Presidential question, with the result that the policy which Indiana Republicans shall follow at the National Convention has been agreed upon as thoroughly as anything can be agreed upon without formal action. The thirty delegates whom the State will send will agree to represent the party of the State with the understanding that they shall use all honorable means to bring about the nomination of Gen. Harrison. Expressions of regret that Mr. Harrison had seen fit to go to New-York and stay there, apparently for the purpose of escaping this conference, were frequent. This kind of talk was not by the old politicians, who say that the ex-President showed good judgment, but by the younger members of the party. The thoughtful men are not neglecting to consider what the State should do in case Gen. Harrison should at the last moment positively refuse to allow his name to go before the convention.

There seems to be a strong undercurrent of sentiment for Allison, and the impression prevails that if, under any circumstances, Harrison should not be before the convention, the State will be for Allison. It is pretty generally understood that his selection would be satisfactory to the ex-President.

BISHOP JOHN J. CONROY DEAD

He Was for Many Years Bishop of Albany—Resigned and Came to This City to Live.

Bishop John J. Conroy, for many years the head of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany, died yesterday morning at his home, 148 West Forty-fourth Street, this city.

Archbishop Corrigan, at the Synod of the Archdiocese of New-York, announced that Bishop Conroy was dead, and asked for prayers for his soul.

The body will lie in state in the cathedral in Albany, and the funeral services will be held Saturday morning. Archbishop Corrigan will officiate.

Services of requiem will be held in St. Patrick's Cathedral, this city, to-morrow, when Bishop McQuaid of Rochester will celebrate mass.

Bishop Conroy was born in Queen's County, Ireland, in 1819. He studied under the Sulpicians at Montreal, completed his theological course in Mount St. Mary's, and was ordained in 1842.

He became Vice President of St. John's College, Fordham, in 1843, and was afterward appointed President. He was transferred to the pastorate of St. Joseph's Church, Albany, in 1844, and founded St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, built a convent of Sisters of Charity, and rebuilt St. Joseph's Church.

He became Vicar General of the Diocese of Albany in 1857 and administered its affairs during the absence of the Bishop. He succeeded Dr. McCloskey on the latter's promotion to the See of New-York. During his administration there was a large increase of churches and priests.

Among the most noted institutions that he founded are an industrial school, St. Peter's Hospital, St. Agnes's Rural Cemetery, and a house of the Little Sisters of the Poor.

He was present at the first and second councils of Baltimore and took part in the sessions of the Vatican Council. He convoked a Synod of his diocese in 1869 and made important regulations for its future government. A coadjutor was appointed in 1870 at his request, and in 1874 he resigned. He was then created Bishop of curium in partibus, and has since lived in this city.

MARINES TO BE ON THE INDIANA

Secretary Herbert Will Not Grant Capt. Evans's Request that Only Bluejackets Be Sent to His Ship.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The old controversy about the need of marines has been revived. The commanding officer of the battleship Indiana, finding that 400 men would make up the complement of enlisted force, expressed a preference that they should be all bluejackets. Capt. Evans assumes, obviously, that it is not necessary for the officers to draw a line across the ship and put an armed guard there to exhibit a certain distrust of the men before the mast, thus forbidding, as far as possible, any common sympathy or interest between officers and sailormen.

The commandant of the marine corps, naturally enough, protested, for if the Indiana could get along without marines, the other battleships could dispense with them, the navy would have no use for them, and there would presently be no employment for officers of the Marine Corps.

Secretary Herbert has ordered that the Indiana shall be manned with 340 bluejackets and 60 marines. The object in increasing the force of marines so materially as has been done in the case of the Indiana is to charge the marines with the operation of light batteries on board ships of war.

On all the war vessels there are a number of smaller guns, such as Gatlings and rapid-fire pieces. On a battleship like the Indiana this class of armament is quite important. The marines have never operated heavy guns, which will be fired, as hitherto, by bluejackets formed into gun crews under expert gunners. There has been a determined effort by those who regard the marines as impertinent and useless on shipboard to have the marines abolished.

It has been suggested that they might serve a subordinate purpose in patrolling navy yards, or standing guard over deserted buildings at old naval stations. The decision of Secretary Herbert is received with much satisfaction by marine officers.

FORT MONROE, Nov. 20.—The United States steamship Dolphin, which has been blowing up wrecks off the coast, has passed into Norfolk for coal and stores.

The monitor Amphitrite completed repairs to ventilators and passed out for Annapolis this afternoon.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 20.—Orders for the United States ship Maine to sail for Portland, Me., were received by Capt. Crowninshield to-day, and the ship will depart from here Saturday at 4 P. M., and will probably arrive off Portland Sunday night.

SUIT AGAINST SENATOR ELKINS

His Answer to W. B. Rencher's Action to Recover an Interest in Certain New-Mexico Lands.

The trial of a suit brought by William C. Rencher against United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia was begun in the Supreme Court, before Justice Patterson, late yesterday afternoon.

The plaintiff sues to recover an interest claimed by him in certain lands in New-Mexico, and also for an accounting. It is alleged that in 1871 Senator Elkins purchased some lands in New-Mexico, in which the plaintiff was to have a one-third interest, and that a deed to that effect was executed, under which Mr. Rencher's interest was to be held in trust by the Senator. The plaintiff alleges that Mr. Elkins has sold part of the land and has made no accounting.

Mr. Elkins said he signed a deed in 1871 entitling the plaintiff to one-third of the land on paying $1.25 an acre. The plaintiff failed to pay for the land, and finally relinquished his interest.

The case was adjourned until to-day.

Action to Recover Gravesend Bonds.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Lacombe gave permission to Thomas P. Wickes, receiver of the firm of Coffin & Stanton, to begin an action against the Matteawan National Bank for the recovery of fifteen local improvement bonds of the par value of $1,000 each, issued by Gravesend, L. I.

The bonds were pledged by Coffin & Stanton to the bank as security for promissory notes for $15,000.

William the Sudden as a Musician.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The Journal, published in Salzwedel, Prussian Saxony, says that at a banquet given on the occasion of the Emperor's hunting trip to Letzlingen last week, the Kaiser took the baton from the hand of the bandmaster and showed him how "Funiculi, Funicula" ought to be played, and afterward conducted several marches.

A Surprise for Hudson County.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 20.—The first convictions ever made for selling liquor in Hudson County on Sunday were secured in the General Sessions Court to-day. The men convicted were William C. Raven of Weehawken and B. J. McDonough of this city. They will be sentenced Friday.

CALVERT VAUX MISSING

WENT FOR HIS MORNING WALK

He Had Little Money and Left His Watch at Home—Search in the Parks—Fear that He May Have Been Drowned.

Calvert Vaux, the well-known landscape architect, has mysteriously disappeared from the residence of his son, C. Bowyer Vaux, in Twentieth Avenue, between Bath and Benson Avenues, in Bensonhurst.

Mr. Vaux helped to design the landscape work in Central Park, this city, Prospect Park, Brooklyn, and the parks in Chicago. He has of late held the post of Landscape Architect in the Park Department of this city, and is also a member of the Consolidation Commission. He lives in this city, but for the last week had been staying at his son's home, in Bensonhurst.

He was in the habit of taking a short walk every morning. He was apparently in good health when he started for a walk Tuesday.

His two daughters were out bicycle riding, and when they reached home at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon they learned that he had not returned, but they paid no especial attention to this, as they believed he had stopped at a neighbor's house.

When night came, and he had not been heard from, they became alarmed, and yesterday morning the police of Brooklyn and this city were notified of the disappearance. The following alarm was sent out, and was read at every station house in Brooklyn:

> Missing since Tuesday, Calvert Vaux, aged seventy years; four feet ten inches; medium build; gray hair and full beard; ruddy complexion; wore blue overcoat with velvet collar, blue trousers, dark mixed undercoat, no vest, black derby hat; wears gold-rimmed eyeglasses; shirt has name on it.

Mr. Vaux had left in his son's house a gold watch and chain and his vest. It is believed he had about $2 in change in his pockets.

Believing that he may have become ill, his son and his two daughters, Mrs. H. H. Donaldson and Miss Mabel Vaux, visited the several hotels in the vicinity of Bensonhurst, but up to a late hour last night he had not been found.

The Brooklyn police searched all the hospitals in that city, but no person answering the description was found.

It was thought that Mr. Vaux had wandered to Prospect Park, but he had not been seen at the Litchfield mansion, and the park police were instructed to search the park for him.

It is feared that he may have wandered to the water front at Gravesend Bay, which is only a short distance from his son's home, and, accidentally falling into the water, have been drowned. The family has not been able to ascertain whether he was seen walking in that direction.

Calvert Vaux was born in London, England, Dec. 20, 1824. He was educated in the Merchant Tailors' School. After a course in the office of a London architect, Lewis N. Cottingham, he came to this country at the age of twenty-four and became a partner of Andrew J. Downing, with whom he worked in laying out the grounds around the Capitol and the Smithsonian Institution, in Washington.

Mr. Vaux suggested a public competition for the designing of Central Park, and the joint plans of Mr. Vaux and Frederick Law Olmsted were accepted.

The idea of crossroads for traffic in the Park originated with him, and during the completion of the work he held the position of consulting architect.

Mr. Vaux's designs were also accepted for the construction of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, in 1865. In connection with Mr. Olmsted, he made the plans for the park systems of Chicago and Buffalo and for Riverside and Morningside Parks in this city.

He has held for some time the position of landscape architect to the Department of Parks. He found time to design many residences and public buildings in Newport and New-York.

Mr. Vaux is the father of four children—Downing Vaux, C. Bowyer Vaux, Miss Marian Vaux, and Mrs. H. H. Donaldson.

MODERN ARTILLERY IS NEEDED

Gen. Miles Reports that Regulars Are Embarrassed in Their Practice—Discipline in the Army.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Beyond the routine movement of troops in the Department of the East during the last fiscal year, Gen. Miles, who was in command at the date of the report, has little to discuss. He says the instruction and efficiency of the cavalry was excellent. The instruction of the artillery was embarrassed by want of modern artillery and material, but in their absence the officers have made creditable efforts to keep abreast of the times. The General recommends that the posts be supplied "sub-calibres" for practice work of the heavy artillery and the enlistment for the long term of ten years of a special class of non-commissioned officers, to be trained as experts in artillery fire.

The efficiency of the infantry was also excellent. All of the infantry in the department and part of the artillery had been armed with the new rifle, which has given satisfaction except in the sighting and some minor defects, which will, no doubt, be corrected. The discipline was excellent, and the trials by court-martial show a considerable reduction, notwithstanding the increase in the strength of the command. The consolidated post mess was not entirely satisfactory, and the old company mess is believed to be better.

Gen. Miles mentions briefly the need for garrisons at the seaboard ports, which subject he has treated at greater length in his report as Major General commanding the army, and winds up with recommendations for new buildings and improvements at most posts in the Department of the East.

MORE EVIDENCE AGAINST BARRETT

A Gun Found in His House Indicates that He Tried to Rob a Bank.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—By the identification of a gun at Police Headquarters this morning it became known that Burglar Barrett did not confine himself to house breaking.

Evidence goes to show that it was he who tried to open the safe of the Townsend National Bank July 31, 1886. The would-be burglar never got any further than the safe itself, and left the bank. When he left he took a shotgun which was lying on top of the safe.

The gun was found among the property taken by the police from Chaffee's house in Roxbury, which the latter says belonged to Barrett, and the natural inference is that Barrett is the man who stole it.

OFFER MADE BY W. K. VANDERBILT

Will Give a Large Sum if the Masonic University Is Built at Beaver.

NEW BRIGHTON, Penn., Nov. 20.—W. K. Vanderbilt, when in Beaver about three weeks ago, offered in behalf of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railway to erect a $15,000 station, a $50,000 hotel, and to donate $50,000 in money for college buildings, in case the Masonic University is established at that place. Mr. Vanderbilt is a Mason.

Max Alvary Has Recovered.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—At the performance of "Die Walkure," by the Damrosch Company, this evening, Max Alvary, the Wagnerian tenor, made his first appearance this season, having entirely recovered from his recent indisposition. Alvary was given an enthusiastic reception, as was Frau Klaufsky, both being repeatedly recalled.

SUMMIT FOLK ARE A BIT SLOW

Post Office Thieves Secure Booty and Steal a Rig—Two Men Who Heard the Safe Burst Did Not Marvel.

SUMMIT, N. J., Nov. 20.—The Post Office was rifled by burglars at an early hour this morning.

They entered by the cellar door and blew open the safe on the ground floor, securing over $5,000 worth of stamps and $500 in cash. One hundred and fifty dollars' worth of money orders and seven registered letters were overlooked.

Michael Crystal, a plumber, resided over the Post Office. About 3 o'clock he was walking along the floor over the Post Office with his sick baby. He heard the explosion, but thought it was a torpedo on the railroad track. John Stewart, a policeman, was at the railroad station at the time of the explosion, but paid no attention to it. He also thought it had been made by a torpedo.

The robbery was not discovered until 6 o'clock, when Mrs. Bridget Lane, the Postmistress, went to the Post Office to open the place for the day.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 20.—The police were notified early this morning to look out for some men who had stolen a horse and phaeton from Summit. The barn of W. H. De Forrest had been broken open close to the Post Office and the rig had been taken out. The thieves who robbed the Post Office evidently took this rig with which to get away.

The police found the rig at the corner of Beach and Cabinet Streets. The horse was standing in the gutter, and as the rig answered the description of the one stolen from Summit, it was taken to headquarters. There it was identified.

THIRTY-TWO BUILDINGS BURNED

Incendiary Fire in Indian Territory—Two Merchants, Arrested for Arson, in Danger of Lynching—Loss, $150,000.

PURCELL, Indian Territory, Nov. 20.—The Star Store was on fire early yesterday morning. A high wind blew, and the flames spread rapidly and soon ravaged the entire north side of the street, made up of frame buildings. The Chickasaw National Bank Building and Kanoff's hardware store are the only buildings left standing on that side of the street.

The wind increased almost to a tornado and drove the flames across the street. Blanchard & Wood's dry goods store and Campbell's drug store, which had just been built, were consumed, and every building on the block was more or less damaged. The east side of Canadian Avenue was swept for a block and a half.

The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin, and A. Froug of the Star Store, dry goods, was arrested, charged with arson, parties testify to having seen him leaving his building just as the flames broke out. P. Glucksman, manager of the Chickasaw Mercantile Company, is also in jail on the same charge. Witnesses claim to have seen him during the progress of the fire enter his store, which was thought to be out of danger, pour coal oil around, and light it.

Indignation was great, and for a time lynching seemed certain, but it now seems that the danger has passed, though a force of Marshals is guarding the jail.

Thirty-two buildings were destroyed. The total loss foots up about $150,000.

HOUSE SPOILS IN DEMAND

The Candidates for Offices Are Alone Taking an Interest in the Reorganization of the House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—There is not as much interest manifested in Washington in the approaching organization of the House as there is in the troubles of Turkey.

The Speakership being disposed of, the only persons concerned about the "pie" are the new candidates, who have established headquarters at the Willard and Ebbitt Hotels, and are waiting for members and developments.

Mr. Reed having made known his ignorance of any combination by which the election of Mr. Quay's advertised slate is to be put through, there is nothing more significant left of that story except the very intimate association, in one hotel, of Candidates McDowell of Pennsylvania, Russell of Missouri, and Glenn of New-York, who aspire, respectively, to the offices of Clerk, Sergeant at Arms, and Doorkeeper.

McDowell's one term in Congress is all that qualifies him for preference over Henderson of Illinois, and it may not prove to be a superior qualification.

CHIVALROUS BOWIE-KNIFE DUELISTS

Dr. Flourney's Death Recalls Encounter with Edgar Garth in 1854.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—Dr. David Flourney, who engaged in the famous bowie-knife duel with Edgar Garth at the University of Virginia in 1854, died here this evening.

The encounter, in which both parties were wounded, was the result of a controversy between Dr. Thomas Carrington, a kinsman of Flourney's, and Garth, a farmer, of Albemarle. The two men fought by agreement, and, while they were without seconds, observed all of the rules of fairness and honor. Both men were cool and skillful, and the battle only ended when Garth fell to the ground through loss of blood.

The father of Garth, although his son was desperately wounded and his life despaired of, became Flourney's bondsman, and saved him from being sent to prison.

Within twenty-four hours after the bloody encounter Garth sent for Flourney, and, around what was supposed was his deathbed, presented him to his mother and family. This case was one of the most famous of the kind ever known in the South.

NEW WARDEN FOR COUNTY JAIL

Capt. William J. Roe Appointed by Sheriff Tamsen.

Sheriff Tamsen yesterday appointed as Warden of Ludlow Street Jail, Capt. William J. Roe, residing at 412 Amsterdam Avenue, this city.

Capt. Roe is a graduate of the West Point Military Academy in the class of '67 and served thereafter for two years in the Fifth Artillery, United States Army. He resigned in 1869, and since that time has been engaged in civil engineering, scientific research, and has been a writer of scientific articles in periodicals and has done other literary work.

Among those who recommended Capt. Roe are ex-Mayor Hewitt, George Haven Putman, J. Abner Harper, J. Howard Sweetser, Col. Appleton D. Palmer, Francis S. Bangs, Henry W. Leroy, John O. Stevens, J. M. Knapp, L. S. Phillips, John Brisbane Walker, and Police Commissioners Andrews, Parker, and Grant, the latter of whom was in the same corps with Capt. Roe.

Capt. Roe qualified yesterday and entered on the duties of his office.

SETTLERS LOSE THEIR HOMESTEADS

Lands Taken Away from Them and Given to a Railway.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 20.—One hundred and twenty settlers south of Ashland are, by a decision received from the General Land Office yesterday, made homeless.

Their claims—20,000 acres of land, with every quarter section containing a house and barn—will be taken away from them by the Government and given to the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company.

This decision is carrying out the ruling of the Supreme Court in the Knight-Osborne case.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE

Wind from the Northwest Brings in a Cold Wave.

MERCURY ABOUT THE FREEZING POINT

Weather Forecasters Think There May Be Some Snow Flurries Before the Weather Settles—Wind Strong Off Coast.

The cold wave which was announced by the Weather Bureau Tuesday night reached this city yesterday. At 8 o'clock Tuesday night the temperature was 52°, and there was no great change until after noon yesterday, when the fall began in earnest.

In a few hours the contrast between the warm sunshine of the afternoon before and the cold northwesterly winds and rain was marked.

The thermometer fell from 48° to 33° between noon and 8:30 P. M., a drop of 15 points, as against the 4° change of the sixteen hours previous.

The Weather Bureau had predicted northwest winds, and the prediction was duly fulfilled. At 12:15 the velocity was thirty-six miles an hour, and it increased to over forty by evening.

The downfall which was predicted took the form of rain. There were two showers yesterday, one from 11:15 to 2:15 and the other from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. In all, .009 inches of rain fell. The weather prophets said last night:

"We may have a flurry or two of snow before it clears off. The cold wave extends from the lakes to the Gulf, and has just reached the Atlantic coast, where the same high winds prevail all the way from Delaware Bay to Eastport, Me. This northwest wind is bringing in the cold, and it may last some time."

The observer at Sandy Hook reported at 9:30 last night that the wind was northwest, blowing half a gale.

A COLD WAVE WITH SNOW.

The Central Portion of the Country Feels a Breath of Winter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The temperature in Washington at noon was 38° above zero, with the wind blowing from the north and a little flurry of snow visible. To-night the temperature, it is predicted, will go down to about 28°, and to-morrow, the Weather Bureau officials say, it will grow warmer.

BUFFALO, Nov. 20.—There was a sudden drop in the temperature here early this morning of over 20°, accompanied by high winds and a light snow.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Within the past twenty-four hours there has been a drop of at least 25° in the temperature, and a wintry gale with snow prevails.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 20.—An unprecedented cold wave swept down from the Northwest last night. The mercury dropped to 1° below zero.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 20.—The mercury fell 30° inside of twenty-four hours last evening, following the snow and sleet earlier in the day. The streets and walks are covered with ice. It was clear and cold today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Chicago's weather this morning settled down into the genuine Winter variety. It was the coldest day of the season, 20° above zero being about the lowest temperature recorded. A sharp wind from off the lake added to the discomfort of those on the streets, who, however, derived consolation from the fact that yesterday's slush and mud were frozen stiff and the air was dry and crisp.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 20.—A sharp fall in the temperature occurred during the night, and a light snow fell early this morning. The air was cool and crisp.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20.—The cold wave struck this city about 3 P. M. yesterday, and since that time the mercury has dropped 20°. The weather to-day was cloudy, with flurries of snow.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 20.—The thermometer registered 28° at noon to-day. There was a heavy fall of snow during the morning. It was the first snow of the Winter.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—The mercury reached 4° below the freezing point at 10 o'clock this morning. A strong northwesterly wind prevailed, accompanied with a light flurry of snow.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—The maximum temperature in the last twenty-four hours was 35° and the minimum 21°. No rain or snow fell.

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATED PRESS MEETING

Session Held in The Atlanta Constitution Office—Fair Is Visited.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—The members of The Southern Associated Press met here to-day in annual session. The meeting was held in the business office of The Constitution. The old Board of Directors was re-elected with the substitution of J. P. Caldwell of The Charlotte Observer for D. M. Tompkins of the same paper. This change was made at the request of Mr. Tompkins.

After their business meeting this morning, the members visited the exposition under the guidance of Clark Howell and spent the day sightseeing. This afternoon they attended the reception of the Louisiana dignitaries at the Woman's Building, and Patrick Walsh delivered an address in which he congratulated the Pelican State upon its magnificent display.

This afternoon the members of the association were dined by The Constitution at the Piedmont Driving Club.

NOT LIABLE FOR A SUBSTITUTE'S ACT

Case of Interest to Physicians Decided at New-Brunswick.

NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 20.—An interesting question to physicians has just been decided by the New-Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals, which fixes the liability of physicians for the acts of a substitute.

The action was brought by Mr. Hueber against Dr. Meyers for damages for the loss of services of his wife.

Dr. Meyers was employed to attend Hueber's wife during her confinement, but he sent another physician, and it was claimed that the latter's treatment resulted in Mrs. Hueber's being an invalid for several months.

The Court held that Dr. Meyers was not liable for the conduct of the substitute; that physician being in the performance of an independent occupation, and that he personally was liable for his own conduct.

Gen. and Mrs. Schofield Here.

Lieut. Gen. John M. Schofield, late Commander of the United States Army, accompanied by Mrs. Schofield, arrived in town yesterday afternoon from Cleveland, Ohio. Gen. and Mrs. Schofield went directly to the residence of their son-in-law, Police Commissioner Avery D. Andrews, in West One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Street. It is expected they will remain here several weeks.

Slight Shocks of Earthquake.

CHESTER, Penn., Nov. 20.—A very perceptible earthquake shock early this morning was felt in this city and various parts of the county.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 20.—Residents of Claymont, six miles north of here, report that they experienced an earthquake tremor about 3 o'clock this morning. No other locality reports being affected.

The Rev. E. D. Francis a Pastor.

LUDLOW, Mass., Nov. 20.—The Rev. E. D. Francis of West Hartford, Conn., a graduate of Yale in 1892 and of the Hartford Theological Seminary in this year's class, was ordained and installed as pastor of the First Congregational Church here to-day.

SHOULD NOT GO TO EXTREMES

Representative Babcock Tells How He Thinks the Monroe Doctrine Should Be Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Representative Babcock of Wisconsin is likely to be taken in hand by Lodge, Chandler, Hitt, and other jingo Republicans if he repeats the opinions published as from him in to-day's Star. He believes the Monroe doctrine, as originally intended by its author, has come to be an unwritten law.

"There is a possibility, however," he says, "by following the advice of demagogues, of perverting and distorting the Monroe doctrine until it loses the semblance of its original intention and is disavowed by the people of this country. This could happen by the United States becoming too officious and intermeddling in every little affair in Central and South America, where a European Government may seek to maintain its proper and rightful position. But whenever a European power endeavors to acquire territory in the western hemisphere, either by purchase or by force of arms, or in any other way, we should declare the Monroe doctrine to be in force, and maintain the declaration by every means within the power of the Government.

"That is a stand which the people of this country will indorse, and, in my opinion, will go to any length to maintain. I have always been an advocate of the Nicaraguan Canal project, and am now earnestly in favor of any proper and fair measure which will bring the Atlantic and the Pacific together by the construction of the canal."

ELECTRIC POWER FOR THE CANAL

A Contract for Equipment Reported to Have Been Let—Several Companies Interested in the Arrangement.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—Information has been received here of a contract for the equipment of the Erie Canal with electrical power.

It is understood that the Erie Canal Traction Company has entered into a contract with the Erie Construction Company to install a system for canalboat propulsion from Buffalo to Albany at an expense of $2,250,000, and that the work will proceed as the work upon the canal enlargement progresses.

The Erie Canal Traction Company is the owner of the franchise authorized by recent legislation to be given to the Cataract General Electric Company, the rights of that company for towing purposes only having been assigned to it. It is believed that the capitalists and bankers who control the Cataract General Electric Company also control the Erie Canal Traction Company.

The Cataract General Electric Company also controls the "Cataract Electric Company of Rochester," the "Cataract Electric Company of Syracuse," the "Cataract Electric Company of Utica," and the "Cataract Electric Company of Albany," each of which has a capitalization of $1,000,000.

It is stated that these various organizations will expend in equipment about $6,500,000. The electric power to be introduced will be generated at the Falls of Niagara. The Superintendent of Public Works and the State Engineer and Surveyor will be asked to ratify the equipment contract referred to.

LIVES LOST OFF THE FLORIDA COAST

The Sponge Schooner Shamrock Founders in the Gulf of Mexico and Six Men Are Drowned.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., Nov. 20.—The sponge schooner Shamrock of Key West, owned by William H. Asbury, foundered in the Gulf this morning off St. Martin's Key, and six of the crew were drowned.

The vessel was a twenty-three-ton schooner, and carried a crew of fourteen men. The names of those who were drowned were as follows:

ALBURY, GALISHA.
BUTLER, BOLLER.
KNOWLES, WALTON.
LEAVARITY, JOSEPH.
SAUNDERS, JEREMIAH.
STEWART, —.

The disaster occurred about 10 o'clock, and the schooner went down in six fathoms of water. The members of the crew who were saved took to one of the dingheys. They drifted around until about 8 o'clock in the morning, when the sponge boat Silver Spray picked them up. No bodies of the drowned men have been recovered.

ILL FEELING SHOWN AT A BANQUET

An Anti-Quay Man Interrupts a Speech with a Caustic Remark.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—The first annual reception and banquet of the Union League Republican Club of this city was held at Turner Hall to-night. Between 500 and 600 guests were in attendance. Among the principal speakers were Lieut. Gov. Lyon, Congressman W. A. Stone, Mayor Kennedy, and several well-known local orators.

There was one unpleasant incident that caused some comment. Lieut. Gov. Lyon was down on the list to speak on "Harmony at Harrisburg." During his address he said that all factional feeling should cease after the nominations at the primaries. The Lieutenant Governor was with Senator Quay in the late fight. The Lieutenant Governor was finishing a sentence in which he said the people should vote for whom they pleased, regardless of factions, when Deputy Sheriff Doyle interrupted him and said: "So long as it is the Quay faction."

This nonplused the Lieutenant Governor for a moment, but he finished his address.

THEY MAY HAVE A LIVELY ROW

Matters That Are to Come Before the Republican County Committee.

There is likely to be a fine old row at to-night's meeting of the Republican County Committee, which will be held at the headquarters in West Thirty-eighth Street.

The propositions to amend the constitution so as to permit office holders to sit in the County Committee and in the nominating conventions, and to make the basis of representation the Republican vote, instead of the Republican enrollment, will come up. The Platt men were declaring last night that they would vote them down.

A protest will be entered against the constitutionality of the Committee on Organization's appointment of sub-committees of three to correct the rolls in the Assembly districts. The Platt men will vote this down, too.

There is plenty of talk just now of the organization of an anti-Platt County Committee in this city. This would, of course, mean two County Committees.

Dies of Injuries at a Fire.

Meyer Lipschitz, who jumped from the fifth story of the burning building at 98 Clinton Street Tuesday, died yesterday morning in the Gouverneur Hospital of his injuries.

Herman Pops of 62 Ridge Street announced to Capt. Copeland of the Delancey Street Station yesterday that his brother-in-law, Emanuel Eiser, a tailor who was employed in the building, had been missing since the fire.

Wemple Taken to a Hospital.

FULTONVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Ex-State Controller Edward Wemple was this morning taken to the Utica State Hospital. He consented to go, and was sent by his family, and not by the authorities.

Only One Fire in This City Yesterday.

Only one fire alarm was sent out in this city yesterday. That was at 1 A. M. for a fire at Doescher & Schlattner's butcher shop, 931 Columbus Avenue. The damage was about $100.

Those desiring best values for their money should examine the Carpets and Rugs at Cowperthwait's, 104 West 14th St., near 6th Av.—Adv.

PUTS THEM IN A QUANDARY

Republicans at Washington Discuss Mr. Carlisle's Speech.

PLAN TO GET RID OF GREENBACKS

Not Prepared as Yet to Deal with the Question—Tawney Looks with Favor on "Popgun" Tariff Bills.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—It is evident from the tone of the comment heard here from Republicans on Mr. Carlisle's New-York speech that they regard themselves as much better prepared to take up and dispose of the revenue question by a return to McKinley lines than they are to supply a solution to the proposition renewed by Secretary Carlisle to get rid of the ever-redeemable but never-redeemed greenbacks.

As the Republican opinion heard here is general and not individual, owing largely to the fact that there are not yet a hundred Representatives of both parties in sight, the disposition to repudiate a return to free banking, or State banks, is only significant as a straw or two may be to tell how the wind blows.

Unless Republican sentiment is grossly misrepresented here, the majority in the Fifty-fourth Congress will insist that, having been in the banking business for thirty years or more, even with no facilities, as Mr. Carlisle stated, the Treasury shall continue to monopolize banking by maintaining a tax on the business sufficient to suppress all independent banking undertakings.

Representative Tawney of Minnesota has apparently no sense of consistency. Regardless of the fact that his party ridiculed the introduction of "popgun" tariff bills, he says that the sentiment of the Republicans of his State is in favor of a conservative revision of the tariff, but, if the whole tariff cannot be treated in that way, he admits that it might be advisable to fall back upon the "popgun" plan.

"There are articles upon the dutiable list which we would like to see graded higher," said Mr. Tawney, "notable among them being barley. The duty upon barley as fixed by the last Tariff bill works serious injury to the farmers of the West by permitting the importation of Canadian and Russian grain, and bringing it into disastrous competition with our own product. Just before I left home a farmer gave me an example within his own experience. In 1894 he raised thirty-three bushels of barley to the acre, which he sold for 50 cents a bushel. In 1895 he increased his yield to forty-five bushels per acre, but the price for which he could sell the barley fell to 23 cents a bushel; so that, although the productiveness of his farm increased 50 per cent., he lost $6.15 an acre over the previous year."

According to the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, the average price at which barley was imported for the nine months ending Sept. 20, 1895, was about 42 cents a bushel. Mr. Tawney's plan is to add a duty that will bring twenty-three-cent Minnesota barley up to 50 cents.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Taking Secretary Carlisle's New-York speech for his text, ex-Secretary of the Treasury Foster, who is here, to-day discussed the Treasury situation. "The United States Treasury," said ex-Secretary Foster, "is practically compelled to maintain the gold reserve for the entire country. When the exigencies of our foreign trade demand the shipment of the yellow metal those desiring to obtain it simply present greenbacks at the Sub-Treasury in New-York City and obtain it. The defect in our present system is that there is no method whereby the Government can obtain gold to maintain the reserve except by the sale of bonds. This is a defect which can very easily be remedied. Let Congress pass a law requiring the payment of duties on imports or a stated proportion of them in gold. This would keep the reserve in the Treasury far above the hundred-million mark and preclude the necessity of bond issues for the purpose."

"THE MERRY COUNTESS" FAILS

Garrick Theatre Closed—Actors Say They Were Not Paid.

The Garrick Theatre was closed last night. "The Merry Countess," in which Marie Jansen had the leading part, has been a failure.

The members of the company, with Miss Jansen as spokeswoman, notified Steiner & Harn, owners of the piece, Tuesday night, that unless their salaries were paid by 7 o'clock last night they would strike. They received no money, and there was no performance.

The players say they have received no money since the opening night.

W. A. McConnell, who represents Richard Mansfield, lessee of the Garrick, says Steiner & Harn owe Mr. Mansfield $400 for rent of the house.

Ticket holders waited about the closed doors of the theatre for nearly an hour last night. No notice was posted of the reason for closing.

Richard Mansfield will open his season in the Garrick Dec. 2, and will be followed Dec. 9 by Gustave Frohman's company in "The Witch," in which Marie Hubert Frohman is the star.

NEW TRIAL FOR HAYWARD

Mrs. Earle Brings Suit.

Mrs. Lillie J. Earle, wife of Gen. Ferdinand P. Earle, is suing the Gorham Manufacturing Company before Justice Patterson in the Supreme Court for damages, because of the alleged wrongful seizure of silverware in the Hotel Netherland. Gen. Earle gave notes for the silverware, and it was alleged before the seizure that they were not paid when due. All the notes have now been paid. Mrs. Earle wants the silverware and interest on $25,000 paid for it while the Gorham Company kept it away from her.

ÆolianRecital

TO-DAY, THURSDAY,
Afternoon at 3 o'clock,
Evening at 8:30 o'clock.

We have been asked a great many times by gentlemen who find it inconvenient to come to our warerooms during business hours to give a few of our recitals in the evening. We are pleased to comply with these requests, and will give the second of the evening concerts this evening at 8:30 o'clock. These recitals are public, and those who are interested in the Aeolian are invited to attend.

PROGRAMME.

1. Overture—Hansel and Gretel..E. Humperdinck
(Aeolian Grand.)
2. Two Waltzes ....Chopin
(Two Pianos.)

The performer in playing this selection is seated away from both instruments at a small cabinet called a Console. The two pianos are connected electrically with the Console in the same manner as the Pipe Organ. The Pianos are played separately and together, and the Tempo, the Crescendo, and Diminuendo effect, together with the pedals of the Pianos, are controlled by the player from his seat at the Console. It is possible to play any number of pianos simultaneously by this system, and the pianos can be at any distance from the performer. The action is electrical and practically instantaneous. All the electricity required for operating the pianos can be obtained from a small battery similar to that employed for ordinary electric bells.

3. March Religieuse, Op. 15, No. 2......Guilmant
(Pipe Organ.)

In playing the Aeolian Pipe Organ the performer is seated a short distance from the instrument itself at the Console. The Console is connected with the Organ by means of small electric wires inclosed in a cable about an inch in diameter. In the Console are stops controlling the different sets of pipes, the organ swells and a stop controlling the tempo. It is possible to have the Organ at any desired distance from the player.

4. Dance Macabre..................Saint-Saens
(Aeolian Grand and Piano.)
5. Lohengrin—Introduction ....Wagner
(Vocalion.)

This selection is played from one of the Aeolians with Vocalion tones. These instruments are entirely new.

6. Concerto, A Minor, Op. 54..........Schumann
Andantino—Allegro Vivace.
(Pipe Organ and Pianos.)

Three instruments—the Piano, Organ and two Pianos—are used in playing this number. They are all connected with and played from the Console, as explained in numbers 1 and 2.

7. Romance Etude ....Ketterer
(Two Pianos.)
8. La Reina de Saba—Marche Cortege....Gounod

PHILADELPHIA MUNICIPAL ART

Five Thousand Dollars in Prizes for the Decoration of the Common Council Chamber, City Hall.

The important announcement is made by the Commissioners for the Erection of Public Buildings in Philadelphia that the city has appropriated the sum of $5,000 to cover the expenses of a competition for sketches for mural and other decorative painting in the new City Hall, and so they, with the co-operation of the committee of the art institutions of Philadelphia, invite a competition for the decoration of the Chamber of Common Council, Room 400, in the new City Hall. This is one of a suite of rooms occupied by the municipal Legislature, and is well adapted to and deserving of mural decoration of great artistic merit.

The competition will be governed by the following rules:

1. The competition shall be open to American artists without distinction as to age or sex.

2. The designs submitted shall comprise a complete plan of decoration for the entire room, with the color scheme of the architecture, and shall include two or more mural paintings, as hereafter provided.

3. The panels in the north and south walls are to be decorated with two or more mural paintings on canvas, and to be fixed to the walls after the completion of the paintings in an approved manner. The paintings shall consist of figure compositions of an allegorical or historical character, or both. The propriety of an historical subject connected with the history of Philadelphia is suggested.

4. Each competitor is to submit with the sketches a typewritten description of his or her intentions, both as to the meaning of the designs and as to the process proposed to use in fastening to the walls.

5. The competition is to be an open one, and sketches must be submitted under the name of the artist or artists who have executed the same. Competitors are not limited as to the number of designs submitted.

6. The scale of the designs to be submitted must be as follows:

General scheme showing decoration of walls and ceilings to a scale of one inch to one foot; the mural paintings to be worked into and to form a part of the scheme of decorations.

7. The competition shall be judged by a jury of seven members, four of whom shall be artists of recognized standing, and the jury shall be so selected as to be free from the suggestion of local bias. No member of the jury shall be eligible as a competitor.

8. Blue print copies of the plans and elevations of the room to the scale of one inch to one foot, also plan of the ceiling, together with a photograph of the room to be decorated, will be forwarded to intending competitors on written application to W. Bleddyn Powell, architect, 459 City Hall, Philadelphia, Penn., and all sketches and written descriptions must be sent on or before the 15th day of April, 1896, to William B. Land, Secretary, Room 453, City Hall, Philadelphia, Penn., express charges to be prepaid.

9. The Commissioners for the Erection of Public Buildings and the Associated Committee of the Art Societies reserve the right to exhibit publicly all the sketches and designs submitted in competition, and no competitor will be permitted to withdraw the same until after the exhibition.

10. The following prizes are herewith offered:

(a) For the best design, the sum of $3,000.

(b) For the second best design, the sum of $1,000.

(c) For the third best design, the sum of $750.

11. It is believed that a commission will ultimately be given to the winner of the first prize to execute the design deemed appropriate and artistically worthy. Such commission to be exclusive of the prize.

12. Sketches for which prizes are awarded shall become the absolute property of the commission.

This opportunity should and doubtless will, bring out numerous responses from American painters. It is a most hopeful sign of the times, and, coming as it does, directly after the inauguration of the work in our new Criminal Courts Building in this city, possesses especial interest to New-Yorkers.

WILL OF MISS CLARA CAMPBELL

Her Fortune Will Eventually Go to Missionary Societies.

IRONTON, Ohio, Nov. 20.—The will of Miss Clara Campbell, who figured in the Arbuckle breach-of-promise case, was presented for probate to-night.

The larger share of her fortune, estimated at $100,000, goes to relatives, and upon their death the principal and proceeds shall be converted into money and paid to the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, incorporated under the laws of Ohio.

The rest of the estate is bequeathed to the International Missionary Alliance, incorporated under the laws of New-York.

HIS TUSSLE WITH A SHARK

A Diver from Barbados Tells of His Experience.

HAD BEEN PLUNGING AFTER COINS

Shark Grabbed Him by a Leg and Carried Him Under a Ship—Companion Comes to His Rescue with a Knife.

Rouee Youma, a stockily built son of Barbados, who is now in this city, tells of a remarkable experience he had with a shark. It is because of this experience that he is here in a sailors' boarding house, suffering from a bad wound in his leg, awaiting opportunity to return home.

Rouee is a black. He speaks English with a broad accent. He is a diver by inclination, as are many other young Barbados negroes, who go out in the roadstead in all sorts of craft to meet vessels that anchor there, and gather up such coins as they can prevail upon the passengers and crews to throw into the water. The divers are all powerful, expert swimmers, and usually appear at the ship's side with simply a breech covering and appeal for "master" to throw a coin into the water. As the coin leaves the thrower's hand the divers plunge into the water for it, and the successful one will bring it up, usually between his teeth.

Rouee was found yesterday hugging the stove in the general room of the boarding house, and wishing, between shivers, for the hasty discharge and immediate return to Barbados of the English ship Kiamo, in which he was brought to this port. He told his story as follows:

"I was foolish, Master, or I would never have been caught by the shark, for sharks, you know, don't bite black boys; anything white or shiny they will snap up in a minute, but black boys seem to be safe from them. The Kiamo anchored in the roadstead off Bridgetown, and by the time her cable was out Rodo, who owns the old boat with me, and I were at her side, begging for coins. We got a few, and then, with the other divers, went back to shore. We saw the usual number of sharks swimming about the ship; the water is so clear there that the anchor can be seen on the bottom ten fathoms down, but paid no attention to them.

"That night Rodo had a strange dream about a quarry opening and swallowing a man who was taking out stone for the roads, and, as the man resembled me, he was certain that something would happen to me. I laughed at him, but could not change his mind, and so when we went to the Kiamo next day he did what he had never done before; he took a big knife with him. If it hadn't been for that knife I think I'd have been in the shark's belly before this time.

"We got out to the Kiamo, which had come up from South American ports, and was quarantined, so nobody on her could go ashore, and after a time we picked up a few coins. I had the crew throw two coins at once about twelve feet apart, and I got them both before either one reached the bottom. They didn't believe that I did it fairly, and said that I showed one of the old coins each time, and only got one of the two. I told them if they would do it again and give me a piece of white rag I would tie it about my leg so that they could see me better in the water. Rodo was afraid for me to do this. He said to remember his dream, and that sharks would snap at the rag, and that I would be killed. I laughed at him, tied the rag about my leg, looked sharp for sharks, and, as the coins touched the water, jumped for them.

"Almost as I touched the water I saw something white shoot toward me, and I knew it was the belly of a shark that had turned and rushed for the rag. As I thought of my danger I felt my leg grabbed by the shark. It turned without striking the ship's side, and went under the bottom, taking me along. I bumped my shoulder against the keel, and I think it was that which saved my life, for it stopped the shark some. It all happened in an instant, but I saw Rodo coming toward me as I went under the keel, and when the shark had turned over with me on the other side of the ship—you know they don't eat while on their backs, although they always get on their backs to make a rush—Rodo was right after us with the knife. While the shark was thinking what he would do with me Rodo came up under him and stuck the knife into his belly. He let go of me to go at Rodo, and as he turned to rush at him the water was filled with his and my blood, and I couldn't see either of them. I got up to the air as fast as I could. The crew threw me a line. While I was trying to get it Rodo came up, placed it under my arms, and I was hauled on board.

"While the Captain was fixing my leg, I was told that the shark had come up, dead, about twenty fathoms from the ship, and that Rodo was in his boat caling to me. He was told that I could not move and that I would be taken care of, and he then rowed back to shore. I wanted to be put ashore, but, as I was on the ship, and it was quarantined, the health Doctor wouldn't let the Captain get rid of me, and so I had to come here. I wanted the Captain to put me ashore at St. Thomas, but he wouldn't go out of his course to do that.

"I have suffered a great deal with my leg, but it is nearly well now. I don't like this cold place, and am anxious to get back to Barbados."

"Do all the black boys in Barbados speak English as well as you do?" Rouee was asked.

"Many of them do, but not all. I was born in the Governor General's house, and lived on his place, where my mother was a nurse, until I was twelve years old. I learned to read and write, but never learned to work. I like to dive, but am afraid that my leg will get stiff now, and that I can't do it any more. I used to run away and go out in the roadstead and dive for coins when I was only seven years old. Some times when passenger ships anchor we get lots of coins. Some people try to fool us by throwing copper and nickel coins into the water, but we won't dive for them because we can't use them on the island."

"Are there many sharks off Barbados?"

"Plenty of them in the roadstead, but they never touch the black boys. They always come around vessels to get whatever is thrown overboard."

Rouee exposed his arms and chest to the reporter and showed a magnificent set of muscles. All the other divers, he declared, were as well built as he, and some were even more powerful. He is impatiently awaiting the departure of the Kiamo, as its Captain has refused to send him home by another ship.

Mr. Haviland Criticises Mr. Preston.

To the Editor of The New-York Times:

I am aware that the receiver of the Commercial Bank, Brooklyn, and the Banking Department have been holding a love feast ever since the bank failed, but, in the face of the report filed last week showing a deficiency of upward of $80,000, and in view of the receiver reporting last April under oath, by and through a wonderful petition, that there was a deficiency of $83,000, and asking the court to allow him to saddle the burdens upon the poor stockholders, who had already been robbed by bad banking methods, a greater crime in my opinion than all others has been committed. I am certainly glad to know that the Banking Superintendent has a letter from Mr. Dykman, the receiver, showing that there will be 100 cents on the dollar to all depositors. This is all I have been demanding of the Directors. If the receiver has secured another big installment from Directors, I am thankful that my labors in carrying on the reference by direction of Judge Gaynor to prove that certain Directors should be proceeded against for the deficiency, rather than stockholders, have been productive of good results.

Again, I repeat that even though the Directors were compelled to take up $200,000 or more of worthless securities to make up the deficiency, it in no way relieves Superintendent Preston.

The testimony of Lawrence F. Cahill and Spencer D. C. Van Bokkelen will prove all we have charged against Preston.

DUNRAVEN'S FRIENDS SUSPICIOUS

They Were Looking for Fraud as Soon as They Arrived in New-York Harbor.

Little by little the whole history of the Valkyrie's visit to this country is being made known, and yachtsmen here are being constantly surprised. At the Erie Basin yesterday, Mr. Glennie's actions were discussed by some of the officials, and they would show that Lord Dunraven's friends were suspicious of fraud being perpetrated from the time they arrived here, which was some time before Lord Dunraven reached this country, and they probably induced the Earl to believe that he was not going to have a fair race.

Rear Commodore Glennie and W. D. Dickey are known to have had several tiffs, and on one occasion Mr. Dickey said he would order the Valkyrie away if he had any more trouble. Glennie was always speaking disparagingly of Mr. Iselin. Then he hinted that the crew of the Defender would not be above carrying extra lead on board, as the Defender's people would win by hook or crook.

Mr. Dickey is said to have told Mr. Glennie that all his suspicions were groundless, and requested him to keep them to himself.

"One day," said one of the foremen in the basin "Mr. Glennie went to Mr. Dickey and said, 'I want to know if the Defender has tanks below decks for water ballast. I think she has, and am anxious to be convinced.' Mr. Dickey declined to tell him."

Mr. Dickey, when seen last night, said the story was not true.

When the Defender was measured in the Erie Basin 7,000 pounds of pig lead were placed on her deck. This lead had been stored in the basin. The yacht was measured with the lead on board, and then it was cut into proper lengths to fit in the yacht and stowed away. One of the basin officials thinks that the stowing of this lead away is what Lord Dunraven and his friends saw the crew working at the night before the race. If those on the Valkyrie had looked they must have seen the lead on the yacht when she was measured.

An afternoon paper yesterday reported that Ogden Goelet and J. Malcolm Forbes were added to the committee at the New-York Yacht Club meeting on Monday night, but it was their wish to have their names withheld. Mr. Goelet seconded the resolution appointing the committee, and he would hardly have done so if he was to have been one of the number appointed.

Mr. Goelet was seen last night, and said he was not appointed Monday night, and if he had been since he had heard nothing of it. Mr. Forbes is in Boston. Mr. Goelet knew nothing of his appointment. At the New-York Yacht Clubhouse the story was said to be untrue.

FROM BROOKLYN TO ATLANTA

A Large Party Starts for the Exposition—Headed by Mayor Schieren and Mayor-Elect Wurster.

The Brooklyn party which is to celebrate Brooklyn Day at the Atlanta Exposition took a special train from the Pennsylvania Railroad station, Jersey City, at 4:43 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In the party were:

Mayor and Mrs. Charles A. Schieren, Mayor-elect and Mrs. F. W. Wurster, Miss Wurster, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, Col. and Mrs. A. D. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. William Berri, William C. Bryant, Congressman Charles G. Bennett, Murat Halstead, William Hester, Jesse Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair McKelway, ex-Senator Eugene F. O'Connor, Park Commissioner Frank Squier, ex-Congressman and Mrs. William C. Wallace, Police Commissioner and Mrs. Leonard R. Welles, Tax Collector and Mrs. R. R. Appleton, Edward Barr, George W. Baildon, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Beatty, Dr. R. J. Bell, Walter Berri, Herbert Berri, L. H. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Britton, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Brower, Wilford Burr, Mrs. Carrie Plummer Burr, J. A. Butler, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Clark, P. J. Connors, George W. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Julius De Long, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Dick.

Speeches will be made Brooklyn Day, next Saturday, by Timothy L. Woodruff, Murat Halstead, Mayor Schieren, Mayor-elect Wurster, William Cullen Bryant, and St. Clair McKelway. William Berri will read a poem.

The excursionists will return home next Wednesday.

MANHATTAN DAY ARRANGEMENTS.

New-York Delegation Starts To-day—Gov. Morton Unable to Attend.

The delegation which will represent New-York at Atlanta on Manhattan Day, Nov. 25, will leave the Pennsylvania Railroad station at 2 o'clock this afternoon in three special trains. Squadron A will accompany the party as special guard.

Mayor Strong will leave to-morrow at 3 o'clock. A letter was received yesterday by the Mayor from Gov. Morton, who had been invited to go to Atlanta. The Governor said: "The chief honors of the occasion will belong to the Mayor and citizens of New-York, and it would give me pleasure if, I could accept the proffered courtesy and join in celebrating Evacuation Day on so interesting an occasion and amid such attractions as surround this grand exposition of Southern industry and energy. I regret, however, that I find myself unable again to visit the exposition, but I shall claim for the Empire State of the North a share in the hearty welcome with which I am sure the representatives of the cities of New-York and Brooklyn will be greeted by the Governor and citizens of the Empire State of the South."

The Gridiron Club Off.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Members of the Gridiron Club of Washington, accompanied by ladies, left here to-day on special cars attached to the exposition flier of the Southern Railway, en route to Atlanta, Ga., where they will devote several days to visiting the Cotton States Exposition. The party numbered about forty. Each member of it wore for a badge a large silver gridiron, tied with a narrow black ribbon. L. S. Brown, General Agent of the Southern Railway Company, accompanied the party as a representative of the Southern Railway.

Louisiana Day at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—In spite of the cold wave, Louisiana Day witnessed a great throng at the exposition. The exercises opened at 1 o'clock, with an address from President Collier and a response by A. A. McGinnis, in behalf of Gov. Foster. Another address was delivered by C. H. Parker, and one by W. C. Stubes, Commissioner for Louisiana.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

The Question of Consolidated Companies Charging Two Fares.

A CASE BEFORE THE STATE BOARD

The Pelham Park and City Island Railway Companies Accused of Illegal Acts—The Board Sends the Matter to the Courts.

There was another public hearing before the Board of State Railroad Commissioners in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday. Commissioners Samuel Beardsley, Michael Rickard, and Alfred C. Chapin were present. The case of Richard S. Williams of City Island against the Pelham Park Railroad Company and the City Island Railroad Company was continued.

Mr. Williams complained that the two companies named, although operating what was practically one railroad line, were unlawfully charging passengers double fare, when only a single five-cent fare ought to be collected. Franklin Bischoff appeared as counsel for the complainant, and endeavored to show that the existing agreement between the two companies was entered into simply to evade the law. The district into which the City Island line runs was made part of New-York City by the annexation act, and, consequently, only a single fare should be charged each passenger.

Chairman Beardsley said that the board would have to decide that the act of 1895 and the Park act of 1894 did not command a reduction in railroad fares. "It is a question for the courts to decide," he said.

Mr. Bischoff said that he would take the case immediately to the Supreme Court.

MR. FLYNN'S NEW ROAD.

Application for Permission to Construct Surface Lines in Brooklyn.

Patrick H. Flynn, President of the Nassau Electric Railroad Company, is at the head of the East River and Atlantic Ocean Railroad Company, which was incorporated at Albany last Saturday. He wants to secure the right to lay tracks on about twenty-five miles of Brooklyn streets, and yesterday he applied to the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen for the necessary permits.

The streets that he wants to use are Manhattan Avenue, Clay Street, Franklin Street, Dupont Street, West Street, Calyer Street, Leonard Street, Driggs Avenue, Ewen Street, Johnson Avenue, Morgan Avenue, Hamburg Avenue, Woodbine Street, North Second Street, Marcy Avenue, North Fifth Street, Wythe Avenue, North Thirteenth Street, Kent Avenue, Quay Street, Ridgewood Avenue, Monroe Street, Classon Avenue, Pacific Street, Nevins Street, Livingston Street, Court Street, Fulton Street, Liberty Street, High Street, Franklin Avenue, Bergen Street, Rogers Avenue, Fifth Avenue, Atlantic Avenue, Flatbush Avenue, State Street, South Eighth Street, Park Avenue.

Washington Avenue, Malbone Street, Ocean Avenue, Sixth Avenue, Prospect Avenue, Greenwood Avenue, East Fourth Street, Church Avenue, East Fourteenth Street, Carroll Street, Third Avenue, Third Street, Hoyt Street, Bridge Street, Concord Street, Central Avenue, Jefferson Street, Cypress Avenue, Troutman Street, Nassau Street, Washington Street, Sands Street, Elizabeth Street, Dwight Street, Hallock Street, Hicks Street, Cranberry Street.

Mr. Flynn asks permission to run cars on Liberty Street, from Fulton to High Street. This is the plaza that the Bridge Trustees spent nearly $1,000,000 in improving.

The stockholders are P. H. Flynn, Frederick C. Cocheu, Silas B. Datcher, George S. Studwell, Joseph B. White, John Duane, L. H. Mehl, Joseph F. McClean, E. M. J. Kennedy, G. D. Dredger, James C. Brower, George Damen, William J. Studwell, R. B. Fithian, all of Brooklyn, and James F. Casey of Albany.

The matter was referred to the Railroad Committee of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, and they will consider the application at a public meting, to be held in the Common Council Chamber, on the evening of Dec. 6.

ATCHISON RUMORS.

Mr. Walker Said to Have Been Selected as Chairman of the Board.

One of the members of the Atchison joint Reorganization Committee is the authority for the statement that Receiver Aldace F. Walker has been selected to be the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the new Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company.

E. P. Ripley, at present the Third Vice President of the St. Paul, it is said will be made President, and D. B. Robinson will retain his place as First Vice President in charge of the operation of the road. Mr. Ripley is regarded as a first-class traffic man, and Mr. Robinson as one of the best railway operating officers in the country.

Victor Morawetz, a member of the Reorganization Committee, and also of the law firm of Seward, Guthrie & Morawetz, is said to have been slated as the general counsel of the company, to succeed John J. McCook.

Street Railway Growth.

Information of an unusually detailed and comprehensive character relating to street railroads is presented in the latest issue of "Poor's Directory of Railway Officials." It is shown that the total length of the street railway lines in the United States equals 13,176 miles, an increase of 3,514 miles over those in operation in 1891. Of this total, 409 miles are operated with steam dummies, 10,238 by electric power, 578 by cable, and 1,950 by animal traction. Such returns as have been received show an equipment of 30,857 passenger cars, 12,563 motor cars, 2,607 dummies, and 45,353 horses. The rapid substitution of electric traction for animal power may be judged by the fact that since 1891 the number of horses employed in the street railway service has declined nearly 145,000, or about 71 per cent.

The capitalization of 12,797 miles of street railroads from which reports have been received aggregates $520,745,823 stock and $367,694,477 bonds, an average of $40,691 per mile of stock and $28,333 per mile of bonds, equal in the aggregate to $69,024 per mile of stock and bonds, against $56,611 per mile for steam railroads.

The New Traffic Association.

George R. Blanchard, Chairman of the Central Traffic Association, who will doubtless be one of the Commissioners of the Joint Traffic Association, was asked yesterday why the new agreement did not include the following articles: Coal, coke, iron ore, mill cinder, limestone, and petroleum. He replied: "These things have never been included in the agreements of the Trunk Line and Central Traffic Associations. Besides, some of them may be covered by special agreement."

Speaking of the allotment of equitable proportions of competitive traffic among the various roads, Mr. Blanchard said: "That is a matter yet to be determined. Money payments cannot be made to even up differences. They would be illegal. Rates can be adjusted so as to influence the course of business, or business can be diverted to lines which run behind when the shipper does not direct that it shall go by a certain route."

Western Railway Men Meet.

A meeting of Managers and General Passenger Agents of the Western railroads was to have been held in this city yesterday to discuss the east-bound European passenger business. It is estimated that 40,000 or 50,000 Swedes, Norwegians, and other foreigners residing in the Western and Northwestern States visit their native lands each year. In the general scramble for this traffic there has hitherto been a great deal of rate cutting. The railroads interested now desire to arrange such a division of the business as will enable all the roads to maintain rates and derive a fair profit.

There was only a minority representation of the Western roads at yesterday's meeting; consequently, action was deferred until the first week in December, when a meeting will be held in Chicago. James McCrea, Vice President of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, presided yesterday.

Burlington's Heavy Traffic.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—During the month of October the Burlington Road handled 106,000 cars of freight. October is usually a busy month with the Burlington, but only once before in its history did it move a larger tonnage in that month. In October, 1892, it handled 116,000 cars of freight. Its earnings for the month this year averaged about $30,000 per day more than those for the same month last year.

These figures are quoted as an illustration of the general improvement which has taken place in the railroad situation in the West. It is but the beginning of what is to come. The Burlington is pre-eminently a corn road, and the corn crop has not yet begun to move in volume. It will not do so till about the beginning of the new year. In the meantime general business has improved to such an extent throughout the West as to enable the Burlington to make the record it has made.

Free Passes for State Officers.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—One of the earliest measures which will be introduced in the Legislature, probably by Senator John Raines, will be an act to authorize the Secretary of State to issue transportation over railroads in this State to State officers, Legislators, judicial officers, and such subordinates in State offices as the heads of those departments may indicate.

This measure will be introduced as the result of the decision of Justice Alton B. Parker, which is that the Legislature has authority to direct the Secretary of State or some other State officer to issue transportation tickets for such persons employed by the State as it shall direct.

Wisconsin Central.

George Coppell, Chairman of the Wisconsin Central Reorganization Committee, is having a statement prepared of the exact figures of the earnings of all parts of the Wisconsin Central Railroad, in order that the committee may be able to judge whether a reorganization plan can be offered to the bondholders now, or whether it will be advisable to wait for the hoped-for improvements in business in the territory through which the road runs.

RAILROAD MEN AND MATTERS.

—There are indications that the largest New-York delegation that has yet visited the South will leave here to-day via the Pennsylvania and Southern Railway, Piedmont Air Line, for Atlanta. The Citizens' Committee have made arrangements for the prompt handling of this large delegation, Squadron A, numbering 180 men, will go as special escort to Mayor Strong and party. The Southern Railway, Piedmont Air Line, which is announced as the official route, make round-trip rate of $20.50 for this occasion. In addition to the train departing to-day tickets will be on sale at the above-mentioned rate to-day, to-morrow, and Saturday. Extra cars will be provided each day for those who cannot leave with the party to-day.

—Gen. G. M. Dodge, President of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Company, who is now in the West, sends word that he is much encouraged at the prospect of being able to reorganize the road without foreclosure. He reports from Denver that everything there is prospering and that railroad earnings will increase and business improve.

—Samuel Carr of Topeka, Kan., has filed foreclosure suits against the Central Branch of the Union Pacific, the Atchison, Jewell County and Western, and the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railroads. Mr. Carr is trustee for purchasers of the construction bonds, and on their account brings the suits.

—At a Special Master's sale of the Port Royal and Western North Carolina Railway, which took place in Greenwood, S. C., yesterday, the entire property was sold to A. R. Hutchinson, representing Samuel Thomas and Thomas Ryan of New-York, for $2,650,000.

—A dispatch from Baltimore says that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has under consideration a proposition looking to the absorption of the Monongahela Coal and Coke Company and the Monongahela Railroad Company.

—Judge Seaman of the United States Court in Milwaukee yesterday granted the application of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company for a decree ordering the sale of the Green Bay, Winona and St. Paul Road.

—For the quarter ended Sept. 30, the New-England Railroad reported gross earnings $1,641,171, operating expenses $1,113,383, and net earnings $527,787, an increase of $118,471.

—All of the railroads centring in Philadelphia report largely increased freight earnings. The traffic recently has taxed the railway equipment to the utmost.

—A quarterly dividend of 1 per cent. was declared yesterday by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Directors. It is payable Dec. 17.

—The sale of the Little Rock and Memphis Railroad has been postponed until the fourth Wednesday in January.

—E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, was in New-York yesterday.

—The Wabash Railway Company has agreed to join in the new Western trunk line agreement.

—Oscar G. Murray, Vice President of the Big Four system, is in New-York for a few days.

—The Buffalo and Southwestern has been merged into the Erie Railroad system.

—D. B. Martin, General Passenger Agent of the Big Four, was in this city yesterday.

CHILDREN AT HEINE FAIR

Hundreds of Them Enjoy Themselves—Many Distinguished Visitors.

The progress of the Heine Monument Fair in the Lenox Lyceum continues satisfactory to all concerned, and the fund required for the erection of the Loreley fountain is being enhanced daily.

The fair was opened to children yesterday afternoon, and from 3 o'clock until 6 o'clock hundreds of little ones enjoyed the sights. Seidl's Orchestra of forty instrumentalists, under the conductorship of Samuel Bernstein, enlivened the occasion with selections that met with approbation.

Good attendance throughout the evening was the rule, and the musical programme by the Hungarian Orchestra, Miss Clara Wieland of Koster & Bial's, and several singing societies was favorably received.

Among the visitors were Carl Schurz, William Dean Howells, Dr. Abraham Jacobi, Victor von Altenberg, Miss M. Schlueter, Miss E. Schlueter, Dr. A. C. Anderson, John Racki, and C. T. Klein. An extremely artistic etching by H. C. Rost of the Loreley fountain is one of the latest objects which is proving of much profit to the fund. The fair closes next Monday night.

For Killing a Special Policeman.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 20.—The trial of Frank Freehill for the murder of Special Policeman Alfred B. Jewell, in Rahway, in March last, was continued in the Union County court at this place to-day, before Judge T. F. McCormick.

The counsel of Freehill do not deny the shooting, and claim self-defense. They are endeavoring to prove that Freehill did not recognize Jewell while the latter was pursuing him as an officer, because he had no insignia of office on him. There is testimony to prove that Jewell's coat had brass buttons on it, which were easily discernible.

Jot Dreads the Highbinders.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—Jen Jot, a Chinaman, embraced Christianity several months ago and began the task of reforming his former brethren. To these radical departures from their traditions the Chinamen objected and the matter was the principal subject of discussion at the last session of the Highbinders. According to Jen Jot's story, as told to the police authorities to-day, sentence of death has been placed upon him and he asks police protection.

MANITOBA AND IRRAWADDY AFLOAT

Both Steamers Pulled Off the Sand Bars and Brought to New-York—Ocean and Lake Shipping Damaged.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 20.—The big freighter Manitoba, from Rio Janeiro to New-York, which went ashore at Beach Haven during a heavy fog Monday morning, was floated this morning. Shortly after the Manitoba went ashore one of the Merritt wrecking tugs went to her assistance. Yesterday she took off most of the cargo of the Manitoba, and this considerably lightened her. The tug then was able to pull her off at high tide. She did not appear to be very much damaged, and left in tow for New-York.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 20.—The steamer Irrawaddy, which went ashore off Second Avenue Nov. 9, was floated this morning. and left for New-York. The Irrawaddy, which had a cargo consisting of asphalt, will be repaired.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The British steamer Albert, Capt. Nelson, from Charlottetown for Placentia, N. F., has been abandoned at sea in latitude 58° north, longitude 47° west. She was leaking badly, and her pumps had become so choked that they were useless. Her crew arrived at St. Pierre, Miquelon.

Advices from Buenos Ayres state that the German brig Kiandra, Capt. Bunje, from Chatham, N. B., Sept. 18, which has arrived there, landed nine of the crew of the British bark Sentinel, Capt. Holmes, from Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 10, for Buenos Ayres, previously reported burned at sea.

The British steamer Llandaff City, from New-York, via Bristol, which was sunk while docking at Cardiff yesterday, went down in consequence of colliding with the pier.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 20.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, Capt. Smith, from New-York Nov. 13 for Liverpool, which arrived here this morning, reports having experienced heavy gales and high seas throughout Monday and Tuesday. The sea is still very high, and she was compelled to enter the harbor to land her passengers and mails here, the rough water preventing the use of a tender.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 20.—The two-masted schooner T. W. Allen of and from Calais, Me., for New-York, with 400,000 shingles, was wrecked last night east of Napatree Point, on the southern Rhode Island coast. Capt. Murchis and crew were rescued by the Quonocontaug life-saving crew.

HARBOR SPRINGS, Mich., Nov. 20.—Word has been received here that three fishermen were drowned between Hog Island and this place.

POINT EDWARD, Ontario, Nov. 20.—Two schooners went ashore about three miles east of Blackwell. Tugs took the crew off one of the schooners. The crew of the other is in the rigging, and the tugs are unable to reach them.

SAND BEACH, Mich., Nov. 20.—The Northern Liner Northern Wave, which left Port Huron in company with the steamer Kearsarge yesterday, went on the rocks near here, and is badly damaged.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 20.—The steamer J. B. Ketcham, lumber laden, arrived here at noon to-day in a dismantled condition. The Montgomery broke away from the Ketcham during the night, and was driven ashore near Cull Drain, Ontario. She will prove a total wreck.

FOR SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS

Mayor Strong Reappoints Messrs. Maclay, Ketchum, Hubbell, and Mack—Inspectors Also Reappointed.

Mayor Strong reappointed the following School Commissioners yesterday: Robert Maclay, President of the Board, 50 West Fifty-seventh Street, Democrat; Alexander P. Ketchum, 32 Mount Morris Place, Republican; Charles Buckley Hubbell, 115 East Sixteenth Street, Democrat, and Jacob W. Mack, 129 West Seventy-fifth Street, Republican.

The terms of School Commissioners Daniel S. McSweeney, Hugh Kelly, and Joseph H. Goulden also expire with this year, but Mayor Strong did not name their successors yesterday. Corporation Counsel Scott advised that the provisions of the law, which seems to make it mandatory upon the Mayor to appoint seven of the School Commissioners on the third Wednesday of each November, would not prevent him making the appointments later.

Commissioner Goulden will not be reappointed. Commissioner Kelly probably will be. There is some question whether Commissioner McSweeney will be named again.

The Mayor also reappointed these Inspectors of Public Schools, whose terms expire at the end of the year:

Frances E. Wendell, 126 East Thirty-fifth Street; Jessie H. Smith, 3 East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street; Abbie Hamlin MacIvor, 675 East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Street; Ellen Collins, 41 West Eleventh Street; Julia Pfingsten, 18 Bridge Street; Jacob S. Myers, 2 Van Ness Place, and Phyllis Leveridge, 277 East Broadway.

The Mayor appointed Kate M. Bowe of 262 East Seventh Street to fill a vacancy; Jerome Buck of 108 West One Hundred and Thirty-second Street, to succeed Dr. Jackson, deceased, and Matilda Martin of 188 East Broadway, to succeed Mrs. A. L. Woolfolk, resigned.

John A. Amundson, a lawyer of Bedford Park, may succeed Mr. Goulden as School Commissioner.

Were Not Agreed About Trustees.

At the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday it was decided to buy a site for a schoolhouse at Ninety-first Street and First Avenue, for $51,000.

In executive session there was considerable discussion about the election of Trustees. Some of the Commissioners were opposed to the men named because it was said they had worked against legislation that the Commissioners favored last Winter. These Trustees were elected, however: Dr. J. H. Byrne, Twenty-second Ward; L. M. Hornethal, Nineteenth Ward, and Dr. Louis Haupt, Tenth Ward. In the Twelfth Ward W. E. Stillings's name went back to the committee. Frederick Flaccus was chosen in the Eighteenth Ward.

DEATH OF AGENT S. W. FLOOD

He Looked After Mutual Marine Underwriting Associations.

S. W. Flood, agent in this country for Norwegian mutual marine underwriting associations, died yesterday at Roosevelt Hospital from the effects of an operation. He was widely known among shipping men, having been a shipmaster in his early manhood, and having, as an underwriter, visited all parts of the coast in North and South America to examine damage to insured property in the interest of his principals. He had been a member of the Maritime Exchange since its organization, and had offices at 45 Whitehall Street.

At the International Marine Conference at Washington in 1889 he represented his native country, Norway, and in recognition of his services there the King bestowed on him the Knighthood of Danenbrogen. He was about fifty years old.

FARMERS HUNTING WILD BEASTS

A Lioness and Two Leopards at Large in an Ohio Township.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Residents of Thompson Township, in Delaware County, are excited over the fact that a lioness and two leopards, which escaped from an overland circus there several weeks ago, are still at large, and preying upon their farmyard stock. Hunting parties have been organized to find and kill the unwelcome prowlers.

Sheriff Swartz Too Old for Duty.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Nov. 20.—Sheriff Swartz of Warren County has not renewed his bond, and it is said that he will be succeeded as Sheriff by his son-in-law, Warren Bachman of Phillipsburg. Swartz, who is past seventy-five years of age, is feeble and is unable to look out for the affairs of the county. Sheriff Swartz's term of office does not expire until next year. Judge Morrow, who has practically been conducting the affairs of the Sheriff's office during the past year, favors the appointment of Bachman, so that the salary will not go outside the Sheriff's family.

Anti-Ross Democrat to be Named.

NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 20.—Governor-elect Griggs will probably appoint either James M. Parsons or William F. Fisher a member of the State Board of Taxation in place of Oliver Kelly of Metuchen, who has filled the position for some years, and who was renominated by Gov. Werts, but rejected by the Republican Senate last Spring. Parsons and Fisher are anti-Ross Democrats, and no opposition to their confirmation will be made by Senator Herbert of this county.

YOUNG WOMEN ON THE JURY

A Mock Trial Furnished a Pleasant Entertainment in Aid of the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids.

The Young Ladies and Gentlemen's League of the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids gave an entertainment, followed by dancing, last night in the Recital Hall of the Carnegie Music Hall.

The entertainment took the form of a mock trial in a suit for breach of promise. All the actors in the trial, except the jury, were dressed in caricature costumes, apparently from the models furnished by the comic papers. Judge Henry C. Botty, in a full-bottomed wig and gown, acted as Judge. J. Major Heyman, the counsel for the defendant, had a fiery-red wig and whiskers and a blue face, as an Irish lawyer. U. Fernbach, with a shock of flaxen hair, was the German lawyer, who appeared for the plaintiff.

Henry Barnard, with rouged cheeks and in woman's attire, was the fair plaintiff, and Theodore Druyfus, dressed as an overgrown boy, was the defendant. W. P. Schoen, dressed like a nondescript, was the court crier.

The jury consisted of twelve of the prettiest young women present. Their names were Miss Schlestein, Miss Lesser, Miss Rosetta Kastor, Miss Schiele, Miss Baum, Miss Simon, Miss Teresa Kastor, Miss Emsheimer, Miss Kempner, Miss Meyers, Miss Frank, and Miss Lilienthal.

The object of the league is to raise as much money as possible for the Montefiore Home. All its members are unmarried. This makes many changes in the membership, as marriages are said to be frequent among its members and their friends. Last year the league raised $14,000, chiefly from dues, as most of its entertainments merely pay expenses, and serve to make membership an additional inducement.

UNITARIANS ELECT OFFICERS

Work of the Conference in Brooklyn—Dr. Furness, Ninety-five Years Old, Preaches a Sermon.

At the eleventh annual meeting of the Unitarian Conference of the Middle States and Canada in the Church of the Saviour, Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, yesterday, the Rev. Dr. William H. Furness of Philadelphia, who is ninety-five years old, preached a sermon and baptized Marion Alice, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner of Brooklyn.

The report of the Treasurer showed the receipts of the year to have been $7,332.45, and there is a cash balance of $3,506.78.

George W. Stone of Boston spoke on "The Missionary Motive," and the Rev. Arthur H. Grant of Newburg addressed the conference on "The Missionary Method."

The following officers were elected:

President—Dorman B. Eaton; Vice Presidents—The Rev. Robert Collyer of New-York, Mrs. John P. Illsley of Philadelphia, Henry B. Wills of Plainfield, N. J., the Rev. Thomas R. Slicer of Buffalo, the Rev. Joseph May of Philadelphia, Prof. Franklin W. Hooper of Brooklyn; Secretary—The Rev. D. W. Morehouse of New-York.

Addresses were made last evening by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Crowe, the Rev. Gustave Gottheil, and the Rev. Dr. John W. Chadwick.

Stronger than Two Highwaymen.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Two men attacked Paul Metz of 209 East Fifty-first Street, New-York, while he was walking along Broadway toward Irvington, last night, and demanded his valuables.

Upon his refusal to comply one of them knocked him down. He is a powerful man, and was on his feet in an instant and dealing blows right and left. He knocked his assailants down one after the other. He had called for help, but none came in that lonely spot, so he decided to protect his property as best he could. His assailants, finding they had met the wrong kind of victim, succeeded in escaping without any booty.

Says the Guard Was to Blame.

John Richardson of 136 West Ninetieth Street, whose leg was crushed Tuesday evening between the platform of the West Ninety-third Street station of the elevated road and a moving train, yesterday recovered sufficiently to tell his story. He accuses the guard of having shut the gate and rung the bell while he was stepping on the car. He is in the Manhattan Hospital.

Tried to Burn Herself to Death.

THINKS HIS ARREST AN OUTRAGE

William B. Van Houten Says He Will Make Complaint Against Acting Captain Thompson.

William B. Van Houten, who was detained in the Oak Street Police Station over Tuesday night for being one of a throng gathered before a Nassau Street restaurant where a waitress clad in bloomers was the attraction, is much incensed over his arrest.

Mr. Van Houten is head bookkeeper in the Harry Wiltshire Engraving and Printing firm, at 120 Fulton Street. He is sixty-two years old and highly respected. He said yesterday:

"I was coming from luncheon when I saw the crowd in Nassau Street, and was soon hustled into the midst of it. Before I knew the nature of the attraction there came through the crowd a man dressed in a brown suit. 'I am the Captain of this precinct,' he exclaimed. 'Now get along here.'

"'Anybody might say that,' I replied, not believing for an instant that such a man could be a Police Captain. With that he turned back his coat, showed me his badge, and, without giving me a chance to get away, handed me over to a policeman.

"I consider the arrest an outrage, and I am going to complain to President Roosevelt of the Police Board for redress."

Acting Captain Thompson and his squad of police arrested sixteen altogether at the restaurant. All were released at the station excepting Mr. Van Houten, who was discharged by a Magistrate. Regarding this arrest, Acting Captain Thompson said that Mr. Van Houten had refused to move even when he showed him his shield.

NEW BOARD OF TAX ASSESSORS

TAMMANY MEN REMOVED AND THEIR SUCCESSORS NAMED.

John W. Jacobus, W. H. Bellamy, and Thomas J. Rush, Republicans, and Edward McCue, State Democrat.

The Tammany Board of Tax Assessors was wiped out yesterday by the Tax Commissioners—President Barker and Commissioners Sutro and Wells. They removed Assessors Cahill, Haverty, and Gumbleton, who, with Charles E. Wendt, formed the old board. Mr. Wendt had previously sent in his resignation.

In the places of the four Tammany Assessors the Tax Commissioners appointed John Wesley Jacobus, William H. Bellamy, and Thomas J. Rush, Republicans, and Edward McCue, State Democrat.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of William Sohmer as a Deputy Tax Commissioner was filled by the appointment of Assemblyman Robert Miller, but he cannot take the place until after his term as Assemblyman expires. He is a Brookfield Republican.

Charges were filed some time ago against Assessor Wendt for going to Europe without the consent of the Tax Commissioners. This led to his resignation. Major P. M. Haverty, another of the old Assessors, was charged with being physically unable to perform his duties. His lawyers contended that he was fully able to perform his duties, and that he was protected by the veteran law and could not be removed. There was some talk yesterday that Major Haverty would appeal to the courts. He may not do so. The other old Assessors probably will not contest.

John W. Jacobus was United States Marshal under President Harrison. He has been in Republican politics for about thirty years and was born in the old Ninth Ward. He served in the Board of Aldermen, and ran for Sheriff on the Republican ticket in 1885. He was defeated by Hugh J. Grant. Years ago Mr. Jacobus occupied the same place to which he was appointed yesterday. Mr. Jacobus has a good army record. He lives at 74 Bank Street.

William H. Bellamy was born in Medina, N. Y., about fifty-six years ago. For several years he was Secretary of the Republican County Committee. He ran for the State Senate in 1883 against George W. Plunkitt. In 1891 he was the Republican candidate for County Clerk, and in 1892 he ran as the Republican candidate for Register. He has been a banker, and is in the real estate business.

Edward McCue is about fifty-one years old. For several years he was a Clerk of the Special Term of the Supreme Court. Justices Van Brunt, Patterson, and Lawrence are among the Judges who are said to have recommended him for appointment. For some time Mr. McCue had been Superintendent of Real Estate of the New-York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company. For the last few years he has been in the real estate business. Mr. McCue is the leader of the State Democracy in the Thirty-fourth Assembly District.

Thomas J. Rush is a lawyer at 58 William Street. He lives at 700 East One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street. He was appointed through the influence of Tax Commissioner Wells. He is a Platt Republican. Mr. Jacobus is an anti-Platt Republican. Mr. Bellamy is credited to the regular Republican organization, but he is regarded as neutral in his Republican politics.

THE TEXAS OUT OF DRY DOCK

When Her Engines Are Ready She Will Have a Dock Trial.

The battleship Texas was hauled out of the dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday. The vessel floated at about 10 o'clock A. M., drawing 20 feet 4 inches forward and 21 feet 8 inches aft. It was an hour later, however, before it was high water, and then an unusually favoring flood tide gave her 26 feet 8 inches at the sill, or fully 5 feet free.

She was warped alongside the big crane wharf, where she will probably remain till the dock trial. This cannot take place for three or four days, as her engines are not quite ready.

No board has yet arrived to investigate her mishap in the dry dock, and the officers claim entire ignorance as to what is to be done.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The changes proposed in the Texas, involving the removal of the hydraulic pumps from their present position to the armor redoubt, will not be considered until the more thorough and careful test of the present machinery under the best possible conditions has been had. For this purpose certain recommendations of the constructor, which are expected to lower the temperature in the pump room, will be tried, and the present system given a more thorough test and under more favorable conditions than has been practicable before.

The Texas is regarded by the department, according to a statement obtained there today, as a good and efficient ship, and, so far as the reports of her officers show, she will, with certain minor changes, prove to be a very excellent fighting machine.

SENATOR GORMAN'S DAUGHTER'S CHOICE

Miss Daisy to Marry Richard Johnson —Cardinal Gibbons to Officiate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The first of the weddings in Senator Gorman's household will take place Wednesday, Nov. 27. The first bride among the bevy of handsome sisters will be Miss Daisy Gorman, third daughter of Senator and Mrs. Gorman, who will marry Mr. Richard Johnson, eldest son of the late E. Kurtz Johnson, formerly President of the Citizens' National Bank.

Cardinal Gibbons will perform the ceremony, as the bridegroom is a Catholic. Only a family party will be present at the ceremony and breakfast, but, as the relatives on both sides make a houseful by themselves, the company will not be a small one.

The young couple will make a honeymoon trip to New-York and other points before settling down in their sumptuous new home on P Street.

Dr. Gunning to Pay Alimony.

FURST FELT SLIGHTED

Expected Re-election, but Schwalbach Beat Him at Good Roads Meeting.

CONTEST CAUSED CYCLISTS TO TALK

The Good Roads Association's Work for the Year Very Gratifying —Large Membership and No Debts.

What was declared to be a reopening of the Potter-Luscomb feud, a matter with which the cyclists of the Empire State are well acquainted, caused a ripple of excitement Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of the Good Roads Association, held at 1,217 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn. The fuss came about through the nomination of two prominent wheelmen for the office of First Vice President. Michael Furst, a popular clubman, who has filled the position since the formation of the association, and Alexander Schwalbach, one of the best-known of the pioneers of cycling, were the two nominees in question. The former is a Potter man, and Mr. Schwalbach a Luscombite.

It was regarded as significant that all the other officials were unanimously re-elected. When both names had been proposed, I. B. Potter, the President of the Brooklyn Bicycle Club, of which Mr. Furst is a member, spoke so well in favor of that candidate that his selection was regarded merely as a matter of counting the ballots. There was a surprise in store for the Potter faction, however, for when the votes were counted Mr. Schwalbach was credited with 22 and Mr. Furst with 15.

The latter gave voice to his displeasure later on when somebody proposed his name for the Executive Committee. He didn't use exactly these words, but the inference was that he must decline to serve as a high private in the ranks after having been practically ousted from the honored position of Vice President. The members of the association present talked of the contest with great animation after the meeting adjourned.

The Good Roads Association is distinguished for its remarkable growth in membership and its success in securing for Brooklyn many miles of improved streets, and other conditions favoring wheelmen and horsemen. Its membership numbers 1,000, and it has got money in the treasury.

In his report, President A. H. Angell spoke enthusiastically on the good work of the organization. "More has been accomplished this year," he said, "than during its entire previous career." This he attributed to the fact that the public generally has taken a great interest in its objects, and helped it in many ways. The return cycle path on the Coney Island Boulevard was a theme on which Mr. Angell dwelt at some length. This he thought would come in time, perhaps sooner than many anticipated. But it would have to be secured through legislation, and he added that an attempt would be made this Winter in that direction, backed up by the association. The good accomplished by the Road Committee was something which Mr. Angell spoke pleasantly about. This committee, he declared, had done the lion's share of the work mapped out for the whole season, and he complimented its members in a graceful fashion. In conclusion he said that the membership ought to reach 10,000, and that he hoped those figures would be reached at no distant day.

Mr. Angell was re-elected unanimously, and the applause was hearty in the extreme when he took the chair and bowed his acknowledgments. The other officers are: Second Vice President—George Stebbins; Secretary—S. P. Meacham; Treasurer—Henry Strugnell. Appointments on the Executive Committee were made as follows: Kings County Wheelmen—Durant McLean, Frank Sheldon; Midwood Club—E. J. Merriam, E. W. Mersereau; Long Island Wheelmen—Frank P. Share, F. O. Merrill; Brooklyn Bicycle Club—C. W. Hewlett, I. B. Potter; Jeunesse Doree—Wyllys Terry, Norman S. Dike; Liberty Wheelmen—Charles Green, William T. Cowenhoven; South Brooklyn Wheelmen—Robert Smith, G. Erskine Stackhouse; Whirling Dervishes—D. B. Van Vleck, H. B. Fullerton; Crescent Athletic Club—F. M. Munroe, E. A. Walker; Twenty-third Regiment Wheeling Section—Ralph Shepard; Excelsior Club—Arthur Clapp, Edward L. Walker; Unattached—R. D. Kirkland, W. M. Palmer. Other members will be appointed by the committee.

Durant McLean, Chairman of the Road Committee, drew attention to the work done to secure better railroad crossings in Bedford Avenue by saying that they had been promised and that this point was one of the most gratifying obtained this year.

Following Mr. Angell's remarks on legislation as a means of securing the return cycle path, Chief Consul Potter said that with the permission of the association he would instruct all the local consuls throughout the State to help the matter along. This prompted Mr. Angell to refer to the proposed plan of having the League of American Wheelmen relinquish the control of racing by saying that the sooner it did this the better it would be for its members. Mr. Angell believes that the league can accomplish more by giving its attention to road improvement.

The rules were amended so that applications for membership can hereafter be seconded by any reputable citizen, irrespective of whether he is a cyclist or a horseman.

YONKERS CYCLISTS CELEBRATE.

The Sixteenth Anniversary of the Famous Club Pleasantly Observed.

The Yonkers Bicycle Club, one of the oldest bicycle clubs in the State as well as in the country, ranking as League of American Wheelmen Club 10, celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of its birthday by giving a dinner on Tuesday evening at Moultrie's, on Warburton Avenue, Yonkers. Fifty members were present, the notable absentees being the "century fiends," George Wheeler, who must have been lost, strayed, or stolen, and C. T. Lockwood, who is away on a long surveying trip in South America.

The excellent menu having received due attention, the equally pleasant part of the programme, the speeches, succeeded. Charles May, the newly chosen President of the club, presided and acted as toastmaster. After making a short speech, he called upon a number of the more prominent members, the responses to toasts being interrupted only by the music.

Among the speakers and their subjects were ex-President Fones, "Touring"; Capt. Stevens, "Club Runs"; J. J. Lawrence, "The League of American Wheelmen"; C. T. Kuchler, "Our Neighbors"; ex-President Curran, "Good Roads"; H. A. Pagan, "Things in General"; C. P. Staubach, "Century Runs"; J. Edward Murphy, "The Treasury." Other members were called upon, and spoke briefly on various topics.

One of the pleasant incidents of the evening was the ceremony of filling and passing to each member of the beautiful loving cup, won by C. P. Staubach, from scratch, in the one-mile handicap of the Westchester Cycling League of White Plains. This race practically decided who was the Westchester County champion of 1895, and the Yonkers Bicycle Club is naturally proud that the distinction should belong to one of its members.

TWO GAMES FOR COLUMBIA.

Beat the New-Utrechts in the Long Island Wheelmen's Tournament.

The wheelmen of Brooklyn last night resumed play in their bowling tournament. The Columbia Wheelmen traveled out to Bath Beach to try conclusions with the New-Utrechts, and, though rolling poorly, they defeated their country neighbors by safe margins in both games. The scores:

TO SELL AND LEASE BICYCLES.

The Latest Adjunct to a Well-known Riding Academy.

Straws show which way the wind blows, likewise the onward progress of cycling. It has been said in many quarters that the livery business has suffered considerably since wheeling became so immensely popular. Until Monday, however, it was not known to be mixed up in any way with the equestrian academies. Evidently these somewhat exclusive resorts have felt the encroachments of the silent steeds, for now comes the announcement that one of the largest academies in town has been incorporated, with the object, among others, of buying, leasing, and selling bicycles. Durland's Academy is the one in question. The articles of incorporation were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office. As set forth in the articles, the objects are, "To give instructions in riding horses, and to manufacture, buy, sell, and lease carriages, bicycles, and other vehicles." The capital stock is $300,000, and the Directors are Gen. Thomas Eckert, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company; Judge Morgan J. O'Brien of the Supreme Court, Dr. Charles McBurney, Dr. Samuel O. Vanderpoel, Austin M. Slauson, Walter J. Peck, and Henry F. Kilburn. A new building is contemplated not far from the present academy, in the Grand Circle. This will contain one floor in the upper stories to be used exclusively for cycling purposes.

That College Cycling Union.

The effort of the Columbia College Athletic Union to organize an Intercollegiate Cycling Union is taking definite shape, and a flourishing association is predicted. A committee comprising W. Fearing, George R. Taylor, and H. K. Bird has been appointed to secure the views on the subject of the leading colleges. These being favorable, a meeting will be called and the union formally organized. The object of the proposed association is to regulate and govern all college cycling events, and to hold an annual championship meeting.

AMONG THE WHEELMEN.

Cyclists wishing to join the League of American Wheelmen will be furnished application blanks and necessary information by addressing Cycling Department of THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

—The adaptability of the bicycle for military purposes is frequently spoken of by English officers of rank. In this connection The Cyclist says: "Sir Evelyn Wood recently said that Parliament would not be making a mistake by sanctioning the raising of at least 20,000 volunteer cyclists. Lord Wolseley, too, is a great believer in the cycle for military purposes, and in a recent speech made the following allusion to it: 'There are very few countries in the world where you cannot use cycles. During the whole time I was in India, during the mutiny, I do not remember, except when actually in the hills for three or four days' fighting, one day's march or any one fight in which we took part where cycles could not have been used with the greatest possible advantage.' The Commander in Chief has always been of the opinion that the cycle might be made to subserve a variety of military purposes, and that it could also be employed with advantage when serious work became necessary."

—Harry C. Palmer has gone to Atlanta to complete the arrangements for the big wheelmen's banquet to be given at the Kimble House, in that city, on the 30th inst. R. Lindsay Coleman gives the banquet in celebration of his birthday and to show his appreciation of cycling as a sport and industry. Mr. Coleman has given Mr. Palmer carte blanche, and the dinner, therefore, is being expectantly looked forward to. Prominent cyclists from the East and West will attend.

—Among the new members of the League of American Wheelmen secured in this city last week, were: Mrs. Thomas L. Stedman, 383 Park Avenue; Mary L. Norcott, 570 West One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Street; Dr. Eleanor Kilhan, 5 Livingston Place; Jeanie Minor, 10 East Forty-first Street; W. Bayard Cutting, 32 Nassau Street, and Joseph W. Burden, 10 East Fifty-fourth Street.

—The Crescent Wheelmen of Plainfield are going to have a minstrel show before long. This evening the club will appoint a committee to carry out the arrangements. A date will also be chosen on this occasion. Four years ago the Crescents gave a minstrel show that was successful beyond expectation. They hope to duplicate that success this Winter.

—Sterling Elliott of Boston, who is said to have designs on the Presidency of the League of American Wheelmen, came to town yesterday. Mr. Elliott is exceedingly popular with all classes of cyclists, and in the modern Athens they say he's a sure winner.

—That very popular club, the Greenwich Wheelmen, held a highly successful entertainment and reception last evening at the Lexington Opera House. The affair was largely attended, all of the prominent wheel clubs of the city being represented.

—Fully seventy entries are expected for the two-mile bicycle handicap to be run at the Thirteenth Regiment games on the 30th inst. The floor will be resined for the event, thus reducing the chances of sliping to a minimum.

—An interesting progressive euchre tournament is now in progress at the clubhouse of the Long Island Wheelmen. Games are played every Tuesday evening, and at the end of the month there will be a consolation round.

—Register-elect William Sohmer, has been elected to membership in the Golden Rod Wheelmen.

—The newly elected officers of the Golden Rod Wheelmen are as follows: President—Frederick Eckstein; Vice President—E. H. Olcott; Secretary—Charles K. Starr; Treasurer—Charles Rieger; Captain—M. Goldbaum.

TROTTERS AND PACERS AT AUCTION.

Daghestan Bought by J. C. French for $1,300—Fair Prices Obtained.

When trotters and pacers with fast records are up for competition at Madison Square Garden, the question of weather is not considered by the patrons of the light-harness stock. Yesterday was no exception to the rule, for the buyers and sightseers assembled in force despite the storm, when W. B. Fasig & Co. began a sale that will last throughout the week. As the consignment from Savannah Park Farm, California, which came first in the catalogue, had not arrived on time, some other lots were taken up instead, commencing at the end of the big list. Prices were fairly good at the start, and when the stock from William Simpson's Empire City Stud was reached the market became still more lively.

The top figure for the well-bred steppers offered by the New-York fanciers was $500, paid for Electrician, a son of Electioneer. As the market became rather dull toward the end of his sale Mr. Simpson decided not to sacrifice any more of the choicely bred ones and placed an upset price of $250 each on three fillies by his favorite sire, Hummer. As there was no advance on that sum they go back to the farm at Cuba, N. Y.

The tardy Californians were on hand early in the afternoon, and the bidding became lively nutil Daghestan, the handsome son of Stamboul, was sent over the miniature track. He finally got up to $1,300, and at that price, the best one of the day, went to Wickliffe Farm, near Cleveland, the property of J. C. French, a wealthy breeder of the Forest City.

To-day's business begins with some youngsters by Pamlico and several well-known campaigners with fast records follow soon after. Abbie V. is the most noted of these, and as the gray mare looks well "General" Turner, her tutor, expects to get a good figure.

Following is a summary of the best prices:

H. O. Havemeyer Loses a Brood Mare.

The death of Hinda Wilkes, a brood mare that won a blue ribbon at the Horse Show last week, is reported from Hempstead, L. I. She was bred at San Mateo Farm, California; foaled in 1884, by Guy Wilkes, out of Woodford Queen, by Almont. A. B. Darling of the Fifth Avenue Hotel purchased her a few years ago, and at his dispersal sale last Winter Henry O. Havemeyer became her owner. Hinda Wilkes was the dam of Hilda S., Double Cross, and Lou Wilkes, all with records below 2:20. The rupture of a blood vessel is supposed to have destroyed this valuable producer of trotters.

James G. Bennett Buys Trotters.

When the trotting mare Quiz was exhibited at the Horse Show last week she attracted considerable attention as a recent addition to Col. Lawrence Kip's choice collection of roadsters. In a class for trotters with records of 2:30 or better Quiz won first prize, and got another ribbon in the class for single roadsters and road rig. It is now known that Col. Kip has sold this handsome young trotter to James Gordon Bennett, and that Howard Phillips, who went to Nice last Spring with a small string for Mr. Bennett, will return shortly and take Quiz to Europe. Another mare by Nutwood, selected by J. W. Knox, will also be added to the Bennett stable of fliers. The price paid for Quiz has not been made public.

PRINCETON'S GOOD PLAY.

Long Runs and Excellent Tackles—Capt. Lea on the Field.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20.—Capt. Lea decided to-day to give the students one more chance to see the Princeton football eleven play before the big game with Yale on Saturday. During the first half the gates were thrown open, and for an hour before the game began a constant stream of enthusiasts poured into the 'Varsity grounds. The entire college and seminary lined up along the side lines, and the liveliest scene witnessed here since the Harvard-Princeton game ensued.

The cheering was enthusiastic. The 'Varsity received all the praise. "Phil" King, "Johnnie" Poe, "Bob" Church, Cassel Burt, "Beef" Wheeler, and Crowdis reinforced the scrub. The regulars had no difficulty in running up a score of 22 to 0 in a game of twenty minutes, and the 'Varsity's goal was never menaced. The play was almost sensational. Long runs were made and brilliant tackles abounded. It recalled the snap and dash which the Tigers displayed in the Harvard game, and which they have not shown since that contest. All the injured players were in the game on the 'Varsity side, with the exception of Hearn. Capt. Lea came out with his new shoulder harness on. To the surprise of every one he played left end. Baird went in at full back, and seemed in fair condition. He bucked the line well, but was not called on to kick. Ayers soon succeeded him.

An army of coachers surrounded the players. "Jim" Blake looked after the work of the full back, Harry Brown coached the ends, House Janeway and Jesse Riggs kept their eyes on the guards, and Cook, Wood, Brownlee, and Bergen took a hand at the general coaching. The play was dashing from kick-off to call of time. Barring occasional fumbling, the work was clean throughout.

After three minutes of play, Tyler crossed the scrub's goal for a touch-down, and Galley got the second one in two minutes more. Rhodes got a third after three minutes more. At this point, Bannard and Kelly succeeded Armstrong and Rosengarten at the halves. Kelly distinguished himself by several long runs, and Bannard went through the entire scrub, evading the tackling of John Poe, and gaining forty yards before being tackled by Burt. Bannard soon got the fourth and last touch-down. Riggs kicked all the goals but the last. Only once during the entire game were the coachers able to hold the 'Varsity for four downs.

The college feels very much encouraged by the improved playing of the eleven. The campus is thronged with returning alumni, who are visiting their Alma Mater on their way to New-York to witness the great game, and enthusiasm runs high. The college poets have been busy, and the students are singing the praises of the team, and telling how the Tigers will down Old Eli.

To-day's was the last hard practice prior to the championship match. To-morrow the coachers will give the men light work, and Friday will be devoted to rest, only signal practice being indulged in. Contrary to the practice of former years, the eleven will spend Friday night in Princeton, and will then go to New-York on the morning train. The Murray Hill Hotel will, as usual, be their headquarters.

Princeton, '99, 18; Columbia, 0.

In their annual football game with the Columbia freshman at William's Bridge yesterday afternoon the Princeton freshmen won by a score of 18 to 0. The game was characterized by good, sharp, gentlemanly playing on the part of both teams, and excellent individual play by Gregg, Colfelt, Green, and Cobb.

Princeton, '99, will play Yale, '99, at New-Haven on Wednesday next. From present indications Yale should have slightly the better of the argument.

The line-up:

Columbia, '99.	Positions.	Princeton, '99.
Elmer	Left tackle	Geer, Capt.; Bronson
Einstein	Centre	Benson
Herschfield	Right guard	Nicely
Wigham	Right tackle	Dietrich
Eaton, Henderson	Right end	Rogers
Darrach	Quarter back	Rosengarten
Gregg	Left half back	Allen, Geer
H'derson, Mitch'l.	Right half back	Colfelt
Schaff	Full back	Cobb

Referee—Mr. Barnett, Princeton. Umpire—Mr. MacLean, Columbia. Linesman—Mr. Riederer, Columbia. Touch-downs—Allen, Colfelt, Geer, (2.) Goal from touch-downs—Cobb. Attendance, 11,000.

Banquet to Dunraven.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 20.—The Manchester Courier announces that 200 guests will attend the banquet which is to be given to Lord Dunraven at Cardiff to-morrow. The committee, The Courier says, expected a larger number and will keep the list open until the last moment in the hope that the attendance may be made larger.

"Even Lord Dunraven's own neighbors," says The Courier, "seem to doubt the wisdom of his recent statement against the Cup Committee of the New-York Yacht Club."

CITIZENS' "FIVE" WON TWICE.

Defeated the America and Mercantile Teams in the Bank Tourney.

Bank clerk bowlers had a lively session on their alleys in Horatio Street last evening. Three teams competed, and, although small scores only were obtained, the interest displayed by both players and "rooters" made the occasion exciting to all. The "five" of the Citizens' Savings Bank was the team to which two victories fell. The scores follow:

IVORY SOAP

IT FLOATS

Are your dishes rough and dull looking when they come on the table? Were they washed with a rosin soap? Rosin is sticky. Ivory Soap washes clean and rinses readily.

THE PROCTER & GAMBLE CO. CIN'TI.

Cottolene

Cooks

Should remember to use only two-thirds as much Cottolene as they formerly used of lard or butter. With two-thirds the quantity they will get better results at less cost than it is possible to get with lard or butter. When Cottolene is used for frying articles that are to be immersed, a bit of bread should be dropped into it to ascertain if it is at the right heat. When the bread browns in half a minute the Cottolene is ready. Never let Cottolene get hot enough to smoke.

THREE IMPORTANT POINTS: The frying pan should be cold when the Cottolene is put in. Cottolene heats to the cooking point sooner than lard. It never sputters when hot.

The Cottolene trade-marks are "Cottolene" and a steer's head in cotton-plant wreath.

DID NOT LEARN THE PORTER'S NAME

But Mr. Stern Made a Gallant Chase—Wants an Apology.

Simon H. Stern, a lawyer, was walking through the Arcade Building from the Rector Street station of the elevated railroad yesterday morning, when a colored porter pushed him up behind a swinging door. Mr. Stern demanded the porter's name. The porter refused, and started up stairs. Mr. Stern followed. When they reached the top floor the porter started down again, and Mr. Stern followed.

Mr. Stern almost caught him on the second floor, but the negro took the elevator, while Mr. Stern followed up the stairs. They met on the top floor, but again the porter escaped by the elevator.

Then Mr. Stern gave up, and reported the matter to Col. Hain, who promised to look after the porter. Mr. Stern said all he wanted was an apology.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Forecast for Thursday:

EASTERN NEW-YORK, EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA, NEW-JERSEY, and DELAWARE, clearing in the morning, generally fair during the day, colder, brisk to high northwesterly winds.

NEW-ENGLAND, rain and snow in early morning, followed by clearing weather in south and west portions, brisk and high northwesterly winds, much colder. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA and MARYLAND, generally fair weather westerly winds. VIRGINIA, fair, westerly winds, colder in southeast portion in the morning. NORTH CAROLINA, fair, westerly winds, slightly warmer in the interior Thursday evening. SOUTH CAROLINA and GEORGIA, fair, slightly warmer during the day, westerly winds. EASTERN FLORIDA, fair, westerly winds. WESTERN FLORIDA, ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI, LOUISIANA, and EASTERN TEXAS, fair, warmer during the day, west to south winds. WESTERN TEXAS, fair, warmer, southerly winds. NEW-MEXICO, fair, warmer in southern portion, southwesterly winds. OKLAHOMA, INDIAN TERRITORY, and ARKANSAS, fair, southerly winds, and warmer. TENNESSEE, generally fair, slightly warmer, variable winds. KENTUCKY, generally fair, possibly very light snows in the early morning, variable winds, warmer in the western portion. WEST VIRGINIA, very light snows, followed by fair weather, westerly winds.

WESTERN NEW-YORK and WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA, local snows in the early morning, followed by fair weather, northwesterly winds. OHIO and INDIANA, generally fair, preceded by light local snows in the early morning, variable winds, slightly warmer Thursday evening. ILLINOIS, light local snows in the morning, followed by fair weather, slightly warmer, easterly winds. LOWER MICHIGAN, generally fair, but very light snows at lake stations, variable winds, slight rise in temperature Thursday evening. UPPER MICHIGAN, local snows, variable winds. WISCONSIN, generally fair, slightly warmer, winds shifting to easterly. MISSOURI, generally fair, preceded by local snows in northeast portion, warmer in eastern portion, easterly winds. IOWA, fair, preceded by light snows in eastern portion, southeasterly winds, and warmer. MINNESOTA, light local snows, southeasterly winds, warmer in southern portions. KANSAS, generally fair during the day, winds shifting to southerly. NEBRASKA, generally fair, warmer in eastern portions, winds shifting to southerly. SOUTH DAKOTA, fair, followed by showers Thursday evening or night, variable winds, colder in western portions Thursday night. NORTH DAKOTA, light snows, easterly winds, shifting to northerly. MONTANA, threatening weather and snow, winds shifting to northerly and colder. WYOMING, fair, probably colder Thursday night, variable winds. COLORADO, probably fair Thursday, slight changes in temperature, colder by Friday morning, variable winds.

The barometer has fallen rapidly in New-England and to the west of the Mississippi; it has risen from the lower lake region southward to the East Gulf coast. The barometer is unusually low on the New-England coast, and a second depression is forming over Montana.

The temperature has fallen about 20° from New-York southward to Georgia. It is colder from the upper lake region southward to the Gulf coast, and warmer to the west of the Mississippi.

Rain and snow are reported from the Northern States east of the Mississippi, and fair weather in the Southern States and the Missouri Valley. The indications are that generally fair weather will prevail from the lake regions southward to the Gulf coast, with rising temperature in the central valleys and Southern States.

Signals are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Norfolk and section to Eastport, and at Buffalo.

50 cents

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is rapid. For this reason we put up a 50c. size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children.

In other conditions gain must be slow, sometimes almost imperceptible, health can't be built up in a day. For this Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, food rather than medicine, food prepared for tired and weak digestions.

JUDGE THURMAN'S HEALTH IMPROVING

A Letter of Thanks for Birthday Remembrances by a Political Club.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 20.—President Franklin Ruprecht of the Thurman Club to-day received the following letter from ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman, addressed to himself and members of the club:

> I was highly gratified a few days since by the receipt of your kind letter, written on the anniversary of my birthday, and which afforded me true and sincere pleasure. I regret that it finds me stretched on a bed of sickness, where I can now only dictate a few lines of thanks. I do sincerely thank you for your friendship and kind sentiments, and shall always remember them with gratitude and true regard.

Judge Thurman continues to improve in physical condition.

YESTERDAY'S TEMPERATURE

The following records are taken from THE NEW-YORK TIMES's thermometer, which is placed on the face of THE TIMES Building, opposite the Franklin Statue, 6 feet above the street level, and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, which is 285 feet above the street level. Both records show the changes of temperature for the 24 hours ended at midnight, and that of the Weather Bureau gives the temperature on the corresponding date last year:

FUND THE TREASURY NOTES.

In a little less than a fortnight Congress will meet. The House of Representatives will have a strong majority of Republicans. In both branches we believe that the supporters of sound money, of that money for which the standard is gold, will be a decided majority. In principle and in law this standard is now and has for years been absolutely established in the United States. The parity between the two metals, definitely required by law, has been steadfastly maintained by the redemption of all obligations of the Government in gold or silver at the option of the creditor. This has been done, with imperfect aid from Congress, by the Executive, not only by the present Administration, but by that of Mr. HARRISON, as it had been done with equal steadfastness by every Administration since the resumption of specie payments in 1879. Before the declaration of the act of 1890 and its repetition in the act repealing the act of 1890, redemption in gold on demand was the unswerving policy of the Government. With the exception of the period beginning with the second year of the civil war and closing with resumption in 1879, the same policy, the same principle, has been maintained without variation and without question from the foundation of the Government. Every Secretary of the Treasury from HAMILTON to CARLISLE—save in the period referred to—has redeemed all the obligations of the Government in gold when gold was asked.

But within the last two years the application of the principle has met with enormous difficulties, and has been made at great cost—though the cost is a bagatelle compared to what would have been that of failure to apply the principle. The cause of these difficulties has been the neglect or refusal of Congress to make provision for the fulfillment of the obligations imposed on the Treasury by law and by unbroken precedent. The demand notes, which the Treasury is bound to redeem and equally bound to reissue, create a burden which the Government is not allowed to reduce and is not given the means to meet. It should be the first duty of Congress to do one or other, or both, of these things. The most effectual measure would be to reduce the burden, and the most practical method of doing this would be to authorize the funding of the demand notes in a low-rate bond, redeemable on such terms as should be found most expedient. We recognize the difficulty of securing adequate action from a representative body in which responsibility is scattered and where many motives are necessarily at work. But in the present case radical measures are not required. It is not imperative, for instance, that the right to fund should at once be extended to all the legal-tender notes or that it should be without limit—though we are confident that such a measure would give no untoward results. An act which should give the right to fund to holders of the Treasury notes of 1890 or one which should limit the amount so to be funded within a moderate amount per month would be of the greatest value.

In the first place, it would immediately relieve the country of a certain proportion of these notes and give assurance that in the future, so far as they should be found not to be needed in the regular course of trade, the proportion would be increased until finally the entire surplus would be disposed of. That of itself would definitely and appreciably improve the situation of the Treasury. But of even greater importance would be the moral effect of such a measure. It would be a conspicuous and impressive demonstration to the country and to the whole world that the perpetually recurring doubt as to the absolute maintenance of the gold standard was to be dissipated in the only really practicable manner. It would prove that the National Legislature recognized and would sustain the principle to which the Executive has always been faithful. It would set at rest all question as to the possible treatment of the finances in the coming National elections. In the present distribution of the powers of the Government, with a Republican majority in the House, a Republican plurality in the Senate, and a Democratic Executive, it would be in effect a truly National declaration. Such a declaration would carry weight, not merely at home, but throughout the financial centres of the world.

Such a measure would be an anticipation of the performance of that duty which Mr. CARLISLE defined with such force on Tuesday evening. He said:

> "This is a government by parties, and investors in our securities and in our industrial and commercial enterprises watch with the greatest interest and solicitude every manifestation of popular opinion, especially at the periods when, under the Constitution, changes are to be made in the chief executive office. It is of vast importance that these doubts and speculations should be set at rest in order that the world may certainly know what is to be our permanent monetary policy and adjust its trade and direct its financial enterprises accordingly. Vague and indefinite declarations by the great political organizations of the country not only increase doubt and distrust abroad, but encourage harmful agitation at home, and I hold, therefore, that it is the duty of all who are or who may become in any degree responsible for the welfare of the country to insist that there shall be no further equivocation or evasion in our treatment of this great subject. Let us have no more ambiguous phrases, no more inconsistent and irreconcilable clauses in party platforms or in public utterances, but let us make our meaning so clear and our purpose so plain that they can be neither misunderstood nor successfully misrepresented."

Nothing would make the meaning and purpose of this country more clear and plain than this simple, limited, conservative but absolutely conclusive legislative act.

HONOR AMONG YACHTSMEN.

We remark with wonder the published opinions of several yachtsmen that in case Lord DUNRAVEN fails to make good the foul charges he has brought against Mr. ISELIN it will not necessarily follow that he must be expelled from the New-York Yacht Club. In the name of all that is either logical or honorable, what else can follow?

Suppose that Lord DUNRAVEN and Mr. ISELIN were fellow-members, not of a yacht club, but of an ordinary club, and had played bumblepuppy until Lord DUNRAVEN, a heavy loser, had refused to play any longer upon the ground that there were too many people looking on. Suppose that two months afterward he had published a charge that, although he did not accuse Mr. ISELIN of foul play, yet he was quite sure that the cards, which had been supplied by Mr. ISELIN, were marked. Suppose that Mr. ISELIN had thereupon brought this charge before the club and asked for an investigation, and the investigators found that Lord DUNRAVEN had no evidence to prove his charge beyond his own personal impressions; in other words, that he had publicly made a dishonoring accusation because he "guessed so."

That is precisely the case now raised. Either Lord DUNRAVEN will prove his charges, in which case Mr. ISELIN should be expelled from the New-York Yacht Club and from every other association of gentlemen with which he may be connected, or else Lord DUNRAVEN will fail to prove his charges, in which case a like fate should fall upon himself. It is a point of law, and, far more, it is a point of honor, that a man shall not publicly and deliberately accuse another of crime unless he is prepared to make his accusation good; and that it is not a mitigation, but an aggravation, of his offense for him to admit that he has no proof, but to maintain that he was slandering his neighbor "in good faith."

INDIVIDUAL WORKMEN AND UNIONS.

It is difficult to judge of the merits of the strike of the architectural iron workers who were until the other day in the employment of two large concerns in this city because the facts are thus far kept obscure and the statements of the two parties to the difference do not agree. Still, it is evident from these statements, where they do not conflict, that neither party is wholly in the right, which is apt to be the case in any controversy of the kind.

The most tangible complaint of the workmen is that the two employing concerns will not recognize their union, while on the other side it is said that the workmen demand that none but union men be employed. Just here is where both appear to be in the wrong. Iron workers or any other class of skilled laborers not only have the right to organize, but are quite justified in organizing for mutual protection and for the advancement of their common interests. It is the only means they have for putting themselves upon something like a footing of equality with employers, and if their unions are managed with intelligence and a sense of justice much good can be accomplished by them. It is right for them to try to get men of their craft into the unions and to use the power of organization to secure fair terms and conditions for their labor. But when they go further and undertake to say that their employers shall have none but union men in their service, or that non-union men shall not work for any particular employer of labor, they are not maintaining their own rights, but interfering with those of others, which are just as sacred and just as much entitled to protection. Every American workman has as much right to be a non-union man as a union man, if he prefers it, and is entitled to equal protection in the exercise of that right.

But it seems to be admitted by the concerns whose workmen have struck that they refuse to recognize the union to which the men belong or to have any dealings with it as an organization. The statement issued in behalf of the Iron League distinctly implies this, but it says: "The members of this league hold themselves ready at all times to discuss any question of this kind with their employés as individuals." This indicates a policy of ignoring labor unions and insisting upon dealing with workmen as individuals. That is surely a position that cannot be maintained in the present condition of industry. Workingmen have long ago learned that as individuals they are powerless to secure fair terms and just conditions for their labor, and their unions have done so much for them that most fair-minded employers acknowledge their necessity. It is too late now to return to the system of dependence of labor upon capital, for a mutual relation has been established, and they have come to be parties to business negotiations and agreements. What should be striven for now is the perfection of this relation and the adoption of fair means and just methods in making and maintaining agreements.

If the Iron League is trying to destroy the labor union or is "fighting" it as such, it is in the wrong, and its refusal to enter into negotiation or to consent to anything looking toward arbitration of any legitimate matter of dispute makes it appear as though such was the case. Why not have a clear statement of what the men complain of and what they demand, a clear statement of the attitude of the employers with reference to their claims and demands, and an effort, at an open and fair adjustment of differences? That would be the course of reasonable men.

COMSTOCK.

The arrest and arraignment at the instance of Mr. ANTHONY COMSTOCK of an established and respectable bookseller as a dealer in obscene literature, which evidently he is not, brings up once more the question whether the powers of inquisition devolved upon or assumed by Mr. COMSTOCK can safely be reposed in any individual, and especially whether they can safely be reposed in a person like Mr. COMSTOCK, who is a specialist, so to speak, in pornography. It is a curious fact that a man cannot devote himself to such specialties without losing his mental balance and overdoing his business. In the case of a man who assumes the special functions which Mr. COMSTOCK has taken upon himself the fallibility of the specialist is increased, because, in order to render a fair judgment upon the question whether a work of art or of literature is obscene, one needs a very wide acquaintance with literature and with art. It is of course not at all the question whether a passage or a picture might not appeal to a particularly prurient mind. Shakespeare and the Bible abound in such passages. The question is whether the intention of the author of the work, and its necessary tendency, are of an inflammatory or brutalizing character. In this "the hand of little employment hath the daintier sense." A casual citizen of equal knowledge would be a much better judge than an agent for the Society for the Suppression of Vice. And Mr. COMSTOCK has sufficiently shown that if any man can be trusted to decide off-hand what is obscene literature or obscene art, he is not the man. A man who thought it his duty, in the interest of morality, to suppress "Tom Jones," is a man to whom no discretion can in such matters be confided. Such a suppression is a conclusive proof of the incapacity of the censor.

Certainly the fact that a bookseller is a reputable and established dealer is not a conclusive refutation of the charge that he dealt in obscene literature. Some years ago a seizure and arrest were made, under the direction of Mr. COMSTOCK, which appeared to be a persecution of such a dealer. But in that case it turned out that COMSTOCK was in the right and that the man was guilty. In the present case it is maintained by COMSTOCK that the question has already been adjudicated and the book pronounced indecent. But this plea requires much qualification. It is asserted that the adjudication came about as follows: COMSTOCK called at the shop of a French bookseller and demanded the work in question, which he thereupon proceeded to mutilate with a penknife for the purpose of extracting exhibits, thus destroying a work valued at $50 and inflicting a fine of that amount in advance of any judicial proceedings whatever. The bookseller, being arraigned, being imperfectly acquainted with English and under great apprehension, pleaded guilty of an offense which nobody really believes that he had willfully committed. It is the acceptance of this plea of guilty, it is said, that constitutes the adjudication in this case. It is true that no owner of a library would like to submit to a common jury the question whether he was not the possessor of obscene literature, but imperfect as such an adjudication would be, it seems that it is more than was had in this case. Mr. COMSTOCK's victim has very properly demanded a trial by jury. If he is acquitted, it will clearly appear both that his arrest was an outrage and that the arrest of the French bookseller was an outrage, and the injury of his property a wrong for which he is entitled to redress.

EDUCATION AND SUFFRAGE.

The South Carolina Constitutional Convention, after deciding upon an alternative educational and property qualification for the suffrage after Jan. 1, 1898, and providing for a permanent registration as voters in the meantime of all citizens otherwise qualified who can stand the "test of intelligence" by being able to understand and explain any section of the Constitution read to them, has adopted certain requirements for public education which are far in advance of anything now existing in the State. Among these requirements is a tax in every county of 3 mills on the dollar of assessed property for school purposes and a supplementary State tax. The poll tax of $1 a head is also to go to the school fund, and regular school districts are to be formed, with authority to tax themselves.

These absolute requirements will not prevent the State or counties from adopting as liberal a policy as the people may demand or sustain, but the minimum which the Constitution will make obligatory will mark a notable advance upon the present condition. An efficient common-school system ought by all means to accompany an educational qualification for the suffrage. If ample facilities and every encouragement are given for learning to read and write, no one will be disfranchised under such a qualification who does not disfranchise himself by neglect, and there will be in the right of suffrage an incentive to popular education. Universal suffrage can only be made safe by universal education, and they should go together.

There is danger in a State like South Carolina that there will be discrimination between the races in the matter of education for the purpose of maintaining a discrimination in the suffrage, because what is most objected to there is "negro domination" rather than the domination of ignorance. There is a practically unconcealed purpose, in applying the "test of intelligence" for the first registration, to exclude all colored illiterates without excluding any white illiterates, so that the educational qualification may virtually apply to negroes at once and to whites after two years. There are said to be 58,000 colored and 13,000 white males of voting age in South Carolina who cannot read, so that this discrimination alone would assure white supremacy. Then there would be the temptation on the part of authorities who have a prejudice against negro suffrage as such to encourage and support the education of white children to the neglect of the negro children, with a view to the future effect upon the vote. Such a policy would be somewhat facilitated by the Constitutional requirement that in all cases the schools for white and colored children shall be separate.

But whatever may be done in South Carolina, where conditions are peculiar, the general principle cannot be denied that popular education and popular suffrage should go together in every State of the Union. The educational qualification may be justified where sufficient provision is made for education to leave no excuse for inability to read and write after the voting age, but where no such qualification is imposed it is all the more important that primary education should be made universal by compulsory measures.

THE SULTAN'S LETTER.

There is a naïveté about the Sultan's letter to Lord SALISBURY asking him to make another speech, and this time in defense of him, that is at the same time pathetic, amusing, and exasperating. No one who has come into personal relations with the Sultan doubts the general sincerity and good purposes of the man. The question comes how to reconcile these characteristics with the conviction, for which the proofs are overwhelming, that he himself has not only been cognizant of but has indorsed, perhaps distinctly ordered, the series of massacres that has aroused the horror of the whole civilized world.

Two facts must be taken account of—his surroundings and his education. The surroundings, consisting of fanatical Moslem priests, obsequious lackeys, ambitious politicians, ignorant servants, greedy hangers-on of every kind, have been too often dilated upon to need any special reference. The marvel is, not that the chief occupant of the palace knows so little of the actual situation, but that he knows so much. His education, however, is not so generally understood. Readers of the history of the rise of Moslem power will recall at once the phrase, "Islam, tribute, or the sword." This, in connection with the well-known arrangements made between MOHAMMED II. and the Christian communities, represented by their ecclesiastical heads, has been generally understood to mean that those who refused Islam had a fair choice between death and outward recognition of the Sultan's rule in the form of tribute, and that those who accepted the tribute secured thereby a genuine ground for protection so long as it was paid and they were not in open rebellion. This understanding, however, is not correct. It is one of the fundamental principles of Islam, in which every student and every man who aspires to political situation and favor is carefully instructed, that, notwithstanding the regular payment of tribute and perfect general obedience to law, if "giaours" at any time became a nuisance the Imam may, at his own discretion, order them to be killed, and that such order absolutely absolves any Moslem who carries it out from the guilt of murder. More than that, it is the practical instruction of Moslem teachers that it is perfectly legitimate for an Imam, in case he thinks a "giaour" a nuisance, to stir him up to some overt act which shall furnish a pretext for punishment.

This is simply what has happened. For some years it has been evident to the Turkish leaders that the Christians were far outstripping the Moslems in material prosperity. That very fact made them a nuisance, and thus rendered their abatement legitimate. The existence, however, of certain other facts in the form of treaties and financial obligations rendered it somewhat difficult to abate them without at least a plausible pretext. Accordingly, the thoroughly Oriental and typically Moslem plan was conceived of instituting a general persecution over the whole country in the forms of exorbitant and multiple taxation and acts of petty injustice such as would goad the "nuisances" into crime. Forthwith there developed the Huntchagists, and the Turkish leaders were delighted. Here were treason and rebellion, which must be put down at any cost.

There is not the slightest doubt in the minds of those who have carefully watched the events of the past few years that Sultan ABDUL HAMID II. has been thoroughly cognizant of all this from first to last. He realizes, however, now that the movement has gone so far as to endanger his throne and is doubtless genuinely desirous of checking it. But there is not a shadow of proof that he regrets in the slightest the misery that has been occasioned, or that he would lift his finger to save the life of a single Armenian villager from Constantinople to Bagdad were he sure that his death would bring no harm to himself.

Not merely the Christian subjects of the Sultan, but many Moslems, feel that the whole fabric of the Sultan's Government is too rotten to be allowed to continue to exist any longer. These facts should appear in the mass meeting at Chickering Hall to-night. It is well to demand safety for American citizens in Turkey and to contribute funds for the victims of Moslem fanaticism, but with both there must be the demand for the absolute overthrow of the Turkish power.

LYNCHERS AND ANTI-LYNCHERS.

We have received from the Honorary Secretary of the British Anti-Lynching Committee a remonstrance upon the comments of our London correspondent upon the proceedings of that committee. Miss BALGARNIE informs us, as indeed the resolution upon which our correspondent commented had set forth, that not only is the force of American protests against the Armenian atrocities weakened by the fact that lynchings are perpetrated in the United States, but also that English influence is impaired by the same cause. We take leave to doubt this. The Turk does not give much attention to what passes in any country but his own. It is extremely improbable that he has heard that negroes were murdered by mobs in the United States for a crime of which the legal penalty is imprisonment only. If the fact is known in Turkey, it is solely through the efforts of the British Anti-Lynching Committee.

The ends of that committee are of course most praiseworthy, but the means it employs are not well adapted to these ends. In the first place, a very natural national sensitiveness is excited when the philanthropists of one country undertake a crusade against the crimes of another. Wife-beating, for example, is a practice much more prevalent in Great Britain than in the United States. Nevertheless, if an American society were organized for the suppression of wife-beating in Great Britain we should expect to hear its members strongly urged in British prints to devote themselves to their own affairs, and to look for motes in their own eyes. And the advice would be very good.

In the second place, the British anti-lynching movement had its origin, or at least its principal stimulus, in the harrowing tales told to the British public by a woman of color from one of the Southern States, who saw fit to impugn the chastity of the white women of the South, or of such of them as reported outrages by negroes. Nothing, it is evident, could be more calculated to infuriate the white males of the communities concerned, or to excuse their inattention to many expostulations addressed to them by or on behalf of those who had accepted these accusations as true.

The feeling that prevails throughout a considerable part of this country that there is one crime so detestable and flagitious that when it is committed the people are justified in putting the perpetrator to death without warrant of law is always mischievous and always deplorable. Men who have no sort of sympathy with crime or criminals are exerting themselves in all parts of the South to put an end to the state of mind which makes lynching possible. The present Governor of Georgia has distinguished himself by his efforts in this direction. Such men see that the principal obstacle to the development of the South is the distrust which outbreaks of lawlessness inspire in those who might otherwise settle there. But while these Southerners are free to express their own minds upon the subject, they are sensitive even to Northern criticism, and, of course, still more to criticism coming from across the ocean. They would undoubtedly inform the British Anti-Lynching Committee that they were not at all obliged by its cooperation, which they would prefer not to have. In fact, the labors of that committee, while they may furnish occupation for unemployed Englishmen and Englishwomen of a humanitarian turn of mind, cannot have the least effect toward their avowed purpose of suppressing lynching in the United States.

NAWAB'S SIGNS NOT UNDERSTOOD

Bellboys Thought He Wanted Ice Water for a Bath—What He Did Want Was Sole, and He Waited for It.

His Royal Highness the Nawab of Basora, an Indian Prince, is experiencing considerable difficulty in introducing a new sign language. A few days ago he arrived at a leading hotel in this city. He was accompanied by a secretary and two servants. The Nawab's rich Oriental costume created much respectful admiration.

While his secretary was absent, his Royal Highness rang his bell. A black hallboy was sent to his room. His Royal Highness, while profoundly versed in the many languages of the East Indies, is wholly unfamiliar with English. He looked intently at the bellboy to attract his attention. He straightened himself and then made a series of dignified rhythmic motions, as if swimming, then he made a solemn salaam.

The boy, with quick intuition, divined the wish, left the room, and returned with ice water. That did not fill the bill. Then a white boy was sent, when his Royal Highness again made the graceful and regular strokes of a swimmer, closing, as before, with a profound salaam. The white boy had it—he prepared a bath.

His Royal Highness did not want a bath—not that royalty is unfamiliar with bathing—but he did not want one then. Then his Royal Highness was forced to abandon his sign language and await the return of his secretary, when the latter solemnly announced that his Royal Highness wanted a sole. Not to be eclipsed, an English sole from American waters was duly prepared and had the approval of the Oriental Prince.

His Royal Highness's secretary and servants will sail for England Saturday. At present the Nawab is in Chicago. The Chicago sole is from the piggie.

New-Bedforders Still See Whales.

From The New-Bedford Journal.

The schooner Grace Webster, Capt. Crossman, reports that while on her way from New-York to Portland, about ten miles off Wood Island, she sighted a whale about seventy-five or eighty feet in length. He came close to the vessel and could be touched with a boathook. He made several attempts to strike the schooner with his flukes, and for more than an hour continued his remarkable acrobatic performance, standing on his head with his tail wagging in the air most of the time. He seemed bent on hitting the schooner, and it took the best of good seamanship to prevent an encounter. Finally he headed away for the westward. There were three or four other whales in the vicinity at the time.

MACBETH VILLAIN, HYPOCRITE

SO IRVING SAYS TO STUDENTS OF COLUMBIA AND BARNARD.

Shakespeare, He Declares, Created a Bloody-Minded Creature—The Question of Lady Macbeth's Influence.

Sir Henry Irving talked yesterday afternoon to 1,000 Columbia and Barnard College students and their friends in the reading room of the college library.

A general invitation had been given out to the Columbia and Barnard College students, to whom tickets were given upon application. The demand was so great, however, that about 700 requests were refused after the 1,000 tickets had been given out.

The address, which was made at President Low's request, was to have been given last year, but the actor's dates could not be made to agree with those of the college, and it was postponed. The subject of the talk was the character of Macbeth.

"The generally received opinion of Macbeth," said Mr. Irving, "has been that of a good man who has gone wrong under the influence of a wicked and dominant wife. This tradition is mainly due to the powerful rendering of the character of Lady Macbeth by Mrs. Siddons. Her strong personality lent itself to the view of an essentially powerful and dominant woman. As the play was not given as often as might have been expected, the tradition flourished without challenge of any kind, save now and then some scholarly comment, which practically never reached the masses.

"I think that in briefly examining the subject we shall find that Shakespeare has, in his text, given Macbeth as one of the most bloody-minded, hypocritical villains in all his long gallery of portraits of men instinct with the virtues and vices of their kind.

"In the very text before the opening of the play Macbeth had not only thought of murdering Duncan, but had even broached the subject to his wife. Though he played with it, and even cultivated assiduously a keen sense of the horrors of his crimes, his resolution never really slackened."

The speaker referred to different passages in the play bearing upon the point and illustrating the innate wickedness of Macbeth.

"It is quite possible," he continued, "that Macbeth led his wife to believe that she was leading him on. It was a part of his hypocritical nature to work her moral downfall in such a way. He was a poet in his brain—the greatest Shakespeare has even drawn—but a villain in his heart. All through the play his darkest deeds are heralded by high thoughts and told in the most glorious word painting."

President Low will give a luncheon to Sir Henry Nov. 27. Among those invited are Edmund Clarence Stedman, William Dean Howells, Charles Dudley Warner, Joseph Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt, and J. H. Morse.

ART NOTES

—The Ladies' Home Journal exhibition of drawings made for that publication, which were shown with so much success at the Art Club in Philadelphia, has been taken en bloc to the Art Club, in Boston, and is now attracting no less attention than it did in the Quaker City. The works of Alice Barber Stephens have, in particular, come in for a share of approbation, and upon the opening reception the Hungarian Band came from New-York. Over 200 pictures are on view, the catalogue containing the names of Smedley, Frost, the two Gibsons, W. L. Taylor, Dr. Thulstrup, Kate Greenaway, Albert Lynch, Reginald Birch, Irving Wiles, West, Clinedinst, W. A. Rogers, E. W. Kemble, Eric Pape, F. O. Small, Henry Sandham, Harper St. John, Wilson De Mega, Abby Underwood, Granville Smith, and J. Sandoz.

—The Society of the Sons of the Revolution of Pennsylvania unveiled the other day, with considerable ceremony, a memorial stone at the northeast corner of the new Queen Lane Reservoir, Philadelphia, thus marking the site occupied by the Continental Army under Washington at one of the most critical periods of that struggle. This memorial, the first of the kind erected within the city limits of Philadelphia, is a rough shaft of Pennsylvania granite, 7 feet 0 inches high, and 4 feet 9 inches in width. It is somewhat similar to the ones previously erected by the society at Valley Forge, White Marsh, and Gulf Mills to mark those respective localities.

—By a regrettable error, no mention was made Tuesday of the courtesy of the Century Company in supplying this paper with the photograph of the centre panel of Justice in the decoration by Edward E. Simmons for the courtroom of Oyer and Terminer. THE NEW-YORK TIMES acknowledges this friendliness on the part of the Century Magazine, which enabled it to give so excellent a reproduction of a justly important artistic work.

—E. P. Loftus Brock, F. S. A., is dead in London at the age of sixty-three. The lamented architect was one of the honorary Secretaries of the British Archaeological Association for a long period. His knowledge of domestic and ecclesiological antiquities, Roman and mediaeval buildings, numismatics, old books and prints, was unusual, and he contributed extensively to the journals of the day.

—Stanhope Forbes received one of the three first-class medals at Munich for his "Transport des Pierres," which was at last year's Royal Academy. Walter Crane obtained a second-class medal for his "Flying Hours," Sir F. Leighton a similar distinction to the latter for his "Rispah," and S. J. Solomon a third such medal for a "Portrait."

—Eugene Field's death mask was made by Gaetano Trentanove, a young sculptor of Chicago, the day after the poet's death. The sculptor was a friend of Mr. Field, and will model a bust of him during the Winter.

—E. S. Woods, a sculptor of Hartford, has made a statue of the Revolutionary hero Col. Thomas Knowlton, which has been placed in the Capitol grounds at Hartford.

The Heine Monument.

To the Editor of The New-York Times:

Your excellent paper has put lovers of Heine so greatly into its debt by its hearty encouragement of the Loreley fountain project, and by devoting so much valuable space regarding the fair, that I trust you will not consider it unduly captious if I ask you to correct the serious error contained in the editorial printed in to-day's issue.

Artistic considerations were not thought of or discussed in any way by the two German municipalities which refused to give a place to Herter's beautiful work. The poet's religious and political opinions were the only subjects of discussion. I have read a great many articles on the subject, printed by German newspapers, and in not one of them was the monument criticised from the sculptor's or the art critic's point of view. That, indeed, would have been quite unnecessary, for the model was praised by Ludwig Pietsch, the critic, and Reinhold Begas, the sculptor, authorities who may be quite unknown to the more or less famous gentlemen composing our Sculpture Society, but whose opinions are regarded with some respect in a city where hideous effigies in bronze and marble are not quite so common as, I am sorry to say, they are with us.

JACQUES MAYER.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 20.

An Old Landmark Gone.

From The Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin.

The old building near the Norwich town church known as the Trumbull printing office has been torn down during the past week. The building was owned by the heirs of the late Edward Sterry. In it the first newspaper established at Norwich was printed. It was called The Norwich Packet. The press was set up in this building in July, 1773. Aaron Cleveland, great-grandfather of the President, contributed many articles for The Packet.

WARSHIPS WATCH TURKEY

A French Torpedo Boat and a Cruiser and Three Austrian Vessels.

MINNEAPOLIS ORDERED TO SMYRNA

The American Has a Complement of 400 Bluejackets and 45 Marines and Is Specially to Protect Missions.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The French torpedo boat La Lèche has been ordered to proceed to Smyrna to join Admiral Maigret's division. The cruiser Linois has been ordered to proceed to the coast of Syria.

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Pola says that the Austrian war vessels recently ordered to prepare for service in connection with the Turkish troubles have sailed for the Aegean Sea. The fleet consists of the warships Tegetthoff, Kaiserin Elizabeth, and Blitz.

The Tegetthoff is a battleship of the second class. She carries six 11-inch, six 3½-inch, and two 2¾-inch guns, and eleven machine guns. In addition, she has two torpedo ejectors. She is of 5,000 indicated horse power, and has a speed of 14 knots.

The Kaiserin Elizabeth is a steel ram cruiser. She carries two 9¼-inch guns, two 6-inch Krupp guns, two 2¾-inch guns, and eleven machine guns, and has six torpedo ejectors. She is of 9,000 indicated horse power, and is rated at a speed of 19.5 knots.

The Blitz is a double-screw steel torpedo catcher, and carries nine machine guns. She is of 2,600 indicated horse power, with a speed of 23.1 knots.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—As a result of a consideration of the Turkish situation at yesterday's Cabinet meeting, the cruiser Minneapolis was to-day given orders to take on coal and other stores without delay and to sail for the European naval station. Her destination is Smyrna, Asia Minor, and her duty will be to assist the flagship San Francisco and the cruiser Marblehead in protecting the interests of American missionaries and other citizens of the United States.

It was stated authoritatively to-day that there were no new developments in the Armenian situation involving this Government, but from the general aspect of the present status of affairs, it was deemed best to dispatch another United States war vessel.

The action of the Administration with regard to the Minneapolis was brought about through numerous appeals from missionary organizations and prominent men in this country to increase the United States naval force on the coast of Asia Minor. Scores of letters have been received by the State Department representing that the lives and property of American missionaries were in jeopardy.

The Commander of the Minneapolis is Capt. G. H. Wadleigh. The vessel is now at Norfolk, where she will take 600 tons of coal on board, and then proceed to Hampton Roads to secure the 900 additional tons necessary to fill her bunkers. With this amount of fuel, the Minneapolis would be able to proceed direct to Smyrna without stopping, but she will break the long voyage at Gibraltar to replenish the store. The Minneapolis is the fastest vessel in the United States Navy. On her official trial trip she maintained an average speed of more than 23 knots for the required time. It is not the intention of the Navy Department, however, to test her capabilities in this line, and the vessel will proceed at a rate of between 15 and 16 knots an hour, which is her most economical speed from the standpoint of coal consumption.

Ninety-seven tons a day will be all necessary to secure the rate given while the use of a lesser or greater amount would be disproportionate, in economy or fleetness, to the results that can be obtained by using the amount named. It is expected at the Navy Department that the Minneapolis will be ready to sail from Hampton Roads for Gibraltar by Nov. 25. The distance is about 8,200 knots, while from Gibraltar to Smyrna 1,700 more must be traveled.

At the rate of fifteen knots an hour the Minneapolis cannot be expected to reach Smyrna in less than sixteen days, allowing two days for coaling at Gibraltar. It is more likely, however, that the time consumed by the long voyage will be nearer three weeks. In addition to her officers the Minneapolis will carry a complement of 400 bluejackets and forty-five marines. It is understood that Smyrna was selected as her destination because it is the best place for missionaries to gather in the event of danger to their lives.

ROME, Nov. 20.—The Italian squadron has arrived at Smyrna.

EXCLUSIVE TURKISH TIDINGS.

Information That Chicago Associated Press Alone Will Give.

The massacres in Asia Minor and the troubles which environ the Sultan of Turkey, threatening the dismemberment of his empire and menacing his life, being the all-absorbing topics of the hour, the small portion of the reading public of New-York and other cities who purchase the newspapers served with the "news" of The Chicago Associated Press, not being aware of its source, were startled Tuesday afternoon at reading the following "cablegram":

> BERLIN, Nov. 19.—A dispatch received here from Sofia, Bulgaria, says that the Sultan of Turkey, Abdul Hamid, has been poisoned. No details are given.

The only element of verisimilitude contained in this alleged Sofia dispatch via Berlin—it might as properly have been dated Port Jervis, or Cape Town, via Bangkok, Chattahoochie, or Penn Yan—is conveyed in the sentence: "No details are given."

There were no details. The most exhaustive search in Berlin via Sofia, and Sofia via Berlin, has failed to discover the slightest suspicion of a detail or the faintest reason or remotest pretext for sending out such a canard, and the only inference is that it was put out in the hope of influencing prices, which result it achieved in Chicago, as evidenced by yesterday's reports that "wheat opened to-day at an advance established yesterday afternoon on the rumor of the death of the Sultan of Turkey." Not a newspaper in Berlin printed a line even dimly suggesting the poisoning of the Sultan, and nobody in Sofia has heard of such a rumor.

Not satisfied with the glory of sending out this "beat," of which "The United Press did not have the merest mention," The Chicago Associated Press Wednesday sent to its long-suffering clients the following gem of accuracy and exhaustive information:

> LONDON, Nov. 20.—A report has just been received here from Constantinople that Rustem Pasha is dead.

For the information of the benighted readers of the newspapers gulled by The Chicago Associated Press it may be mentioned that Rustem Pasha was the Turkish Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and that that aged statesman and diplomat died in London, where he had been ill for several days with congestion of the lungs. Why it was necessary for the London agent of The Chicago Associated Press to have recourse to Constantinople to obtain an important piece of London news is not explained. The inference is that he didn't know what was going on.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 20.—The News this evening says, editorially:

> The Chicago Associated Press, having killed President Cleveland, has now poisoned the Sultan of Turkey. The Associated Press would have a lot of crimes to account for some day if it were not called to account for some every day.

AGITATION OF THE ARMENIANS.

Sublime Porte's Record of Riots in Explanation of Massacres.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Turkish Legation this morning received the following telegram from the Sublime Porte, under today's date:

"A band of agitators formed by the Armenian parson of Toughatch (this parson had been condemned to hard labor for life, but pardoned recently,) attacked and plundered the Mussulman village of Adjipour. The same parson was the cause of the disorders at Beijriikdji and other villages.

"The Armenian agitator Haama Zaspa wounded another Armenian, called Kevork, in one of the streets of Bitlis, for the reason that the latter tried to convince his brother-in-law not to attack the mosques and not to commit other depredations.

"The rioters of Gumuch-Djik having murdered Arif Effendi, member of the Council of Administration, and having wounded one soldier, an affray occurred. The authorities took the necessary measures for the preservation of order.

"The authorities at Mardin seized a subversive letter, written by a Protestant professor of the city named Khocheabrohan. In that letter the professor was trying to convince both Kurds and Christians that the so-called Armenian principality was to be established.

"Notwithstanding the advice and assurances of the local authorities given to the principal Armenians and ecclesiastics of Marash, the rioters continue to keep closed their shops. They also killed one Mussulman, fired from their houses on the troops, and on the gendarmes, and on peaceful inhabitants; they also set fire to different parts of the city. The authorities, however, succeeded in mastering the fire and restoring order."

DILEMMA OF THE PATRIARCH.

Urged to Plead for Armenians and Summoned to Keep Them Quiet.

CONSTATINOPLE, Nov. 20.—Advices from Aleppo are that all Americans at Aintab, Marash, Orfah, and Mardin are safe. The missionaries at Kharput are leaving and returning temporarily to Constantinople. The Armenian provincial refugees here have petitioned the Patriarch to avert a famine in their country, and ask him to appeal to Europe.

It is said that the Ministers refuse to receive the Patriarch unless he publishes an encyclical calling on all Armenians to maintain order and condemning their intrigues and demands on the Turkish Government. The Patriarch's position is becoming extremely difficult. He has again appealed to the embassies, informing them of various massacres and begging their good offices to put an end to the situation.

The officials insist that the Armenian journals here shall publish articles approving the Government policy and condemning the Armenians. Several Armenian prisoners, who have been released for lack of evidence upon which to convict them, declare that they were beaten daily in prison to compel them to reveal the plans of the Armenian committee. None yielded.

M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador here, has replied to the recent appeal of the Armenian Catholics at Tiflis. He refers to the conflicts in the provinces, which, he says, were unfortunately in most cases caused by Armenians who had been instigated by their revolutionary committees. The result was a terrible revenge on the part of the Turks in the form of a horrible massacre of the Christians.

The Sultan has sanctioned the scheme of reforms prepared by the powers, and is proceeding to effect them. To this end it is necessary for the leaders of the people to persuade the latter to desist from revolutionary attempts, abandon idle hope of foreign intervention, stop all disturbances, and co-operate in the restoration of peace.

AMBASSADORS MEET IN LONDON.

Bayard's Presence Said to Indicate Co-operation of the United States.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Prime Minister Salisbury to-day received at the Foreign Office United States Ambassador Bayard and the Ambassadors of all the great powers. The Chronicle to-morrow will refer to this as a meeting of the Ambassadors, and will remark that it is more important than usual.

Mr. Bayard has not been at the Foreign Office for many months, and The Chronicle says it is believed that his presence there to-day points to a desire on the part of the United States to join the European concert.

Firmans for Inward Passage Wanted.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Times to-morrow will print a dispatch from Constantinople saying that the Austrian, Italian, Russian, and British Embassies applied to-day for firmans for an inward passage, and asked that a second dispatch boat be attached to their respective embassies.

Joint Action to Protect Foreigners.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 20.—Five Ambassadors and M. H. Herbert, Secretary of the British Legation, met at the French Embassy Nov. 18 and discussed the supplementary measures for the restoring of order in Anatolia, to be submitted to the Porte. It is understood that common action to protect foreigners is pending.

Queen Victoria Writes to the Sultan.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The News to-morrow will say that Sir Philip Currie, British Ambassador to Turkey, takes back with him to Constantinople a letter from Queen Victoria to the Sultan of Turkey.

MADRID'S COUNCILMEN ACCUSED.

Shots Fired from Revolvers Without Effect at Marquis Cabrinana.

MADRID, Nov. 20.—The Marquis Cabrinana has caused a sensation here by making charges through the medium of the local newspapers against certain members of the Municipal Government of the city.

The charges are to the effect that these municipal authorities have used their positions for private advantage. An official inquiry has been opened. Last evening two unknown persons fired several shots from revolvers at the Marquis, but their aim was bad, and he was not injured.

Balfour and Others Guilty.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The trial of Jabez Spencer Balfour, formerly member of Parliament for Burnley, and the other defendants, Brock, Wright, Theobald, and Dibley, in connection with the Lands Allotment Company, which began before Justice Sir Gainsford Brice, in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, on Oct. 25, was ended to-day, the jury finding Balfour and all the others except Dibley guilty. Sentence was postponed pending the trial of the prisoners upon other charges, which will begin to-morrow.

Bechuanaland Chiefs Exchange Gifts.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Bechuanaland chiefs, Khama, Sebele, and Bathoen, who have been in London some time seeing the sights and being entertained by distinguished persons, paid a visit to the Queen at Windsor this afternoon and delivered their presents to her Majesty, who presented the chiefs with suitable gifts in return.

Another Objector to Hovas Treaty.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Le Myre de Vilers, who was Special Commissioner to Madagascar prior to the French expedition under Gen. Duchesne, delivered an address before the Commercial and Geographical Society last evening, in which he expressed his strong disapproval of the terms of treaty of peace between the French and the Hovas recently concluded at Antananarivo.

Terrible Work of Melinite Shells.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Le Temps has a long dispatch regarding the incidents attending the capture of Antananarivo, the Malagasy capital, by the French troops. It records the tremendous effect of the Melinite shells used by the French and the huge gaps made by them in the ranks of the enemy. One shell killed thirty-five men, and another killed eighteen.

British Colony in Distracted State.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Lagos, capital of the British colony of that name on the West African coast, states that Capt. Bower, the British Resident at Ibadan, has attacked and killed the King of Oyo and many of his followers and burned their quarters. The country, the dispatch adds, is in a distracted state.

Increased Pay for Duke of Cambridge.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Government proposes that Parliament, in view of his long and valuable services, shall grant to the Duke of Cambridge a moderate addition to the pay attaching to his Colonelcy in the Guards, which he holds for life.

Wilberforce, Bishop of Chichester.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Right Rev. Ernest R. Wilberforce, Bishop of Newcastle, has been appointed Bishop of Chichester in succession to the Right Rev. Richard Durnford, deceased.

Qualities and styles are emphasized in Flint's Fine Furniture at manufacturing prices. 45 West 23d St., near Broadway.—Adv.

MARTINEZ CAMPOS'S HOPE

He Is Confident that Reforms Will Be Introduced in Cuba.

GEN. GOMEZ RETURNS TO CAMAGUEY

Filibustering Expedition on the Horsa Exaggerated in Report of Number of Men—Carrillo and Aguirre.

MADRID, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Havana says that the Constitutional Union Party of Cuba has held a meeting at Matanzas and renewed its assurance of adhesion to the Government. Gen. Martinez Campos was present at the meeting and expressed himself as confident that reforms would be introduced in Cuba by the Government at the earliest opportune moment.

The dispatch also says that the rebel leader Maximo Gomez has issued another order commanding the laying waste of plantations and the burning of buildings thereon and threatening with death all persons rendering assistance in the gathering of crops.

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—The Government asserts that Maximo Gomez has found it impossible to carry on operations in Las Villas District and has repassed the River Zaza in the direction of Camaguey.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Official information received here represents that the strength of the Cuban filibustering expedition which sailed from this country on the Danish steamer Horsa is exaggerated in published reports. There were only forty insurgents, twenty of whom embarked in New-York on the night of Saturday, Nov. 9. The fact was developed to-day that two of the leaders of the Horsa expedition, Francisco Carrillo and José Maria Aguirre, are naturalized American citizens. They were arrested in Havana at the outbreak of the rebellion, but were released at the request of the American Consul General, Mr. Williams. They claimed at the time to have no connection with the rebellion, and their release was granted because of their American citizenship.

WALLER'S CASE AGAINST FRANCE.

Department Cannot Obtain Court-Martial Minutes as Matter of Right.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—While the State Department refuses to furnish any information regarding the matter, the impression exists here that the French Government has notified Ambassador Eustis at Paris that it will not furnish a copy of the record of the court-martial proceedings against ex-Consul Waller as a matter of right.

Mr. Waller's counsel, Crammond Kennedy of this city, believes that the record will be furnished to Ambassador Eustis if requested as a matter of courtesy.

It is not improbable that Mr. Waller will be notified by the State Department that the French Government will release him from custody as a matter of grace if this Government will waive the question of indemnity. So far, apparently, he is in ignorance of this fact.

Mrs. Waller strenuously insists on a payment of damages in compensation for his imprisonment, but it is not unlikely that the whole matter will be referred to the ex-Consul to decide for himself. Should he prefer to remain in prison upon the chance of obtaining the indemnity, the State Department and his counsel will do the best possible for him under the circumstances.

ITALIAN PARLIAMENT PROJECTS.

Financial Legislation and Laws Against Socialists and Anarchists.

ROME, Nov. 20.—Parliament reopens to-morrow. The Government will ask that the financial statement be taken up for discussion at an early date.

It is understood that Signor Sonnino, Minister of the Treasury, in reference to the budget will declare at least an equilibrium of revenues and expenditures, and it is thought quite possible that a surplus of revenues may be announced.

Primo Minister Crispi, it is stated, will propose to defer other than financial legislation, with the exception of laws directed against Socialists and Anarchists.

STRANGE CLAIMS AGAINST THE STATE

Damages Asked for False Imprisonment—Work of the Court of Claims.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—The State Board of Claims will hold a session in the County Court room, New-York City, commencing Dec. 17. It has a calendar for that session of about fifty claims which arose in and about New-York, the aggregate of which is $250,000.

Four of the claims are for large amounts. That of the Long Island Railroad Company is for $22,344, for labor and materials furnished in repairing the State's bridge over the Shinnecock and Peconic Canal, in Southampton.

That of the Panama Railroad Company is for $94,026, for balance due upon a revision and readjustment of the accounts for taxes between the State and the claimant.

That of Charles A. Merritt, for $13,055, is for damages for breach of contract between the State and the claimant relative to the Surf Hotel, at Fire Island.

That of John Roberts, for $101,838, is for false imprisonment. It is the first case of the kind ever coming before the board, and the result, which was substantially outlined by the last Legislature, will be watched with interest. Roberts was arrested at his place of business, 99 James Street, New-York City, Jan. 4, 1877, upon a charge of burglary and larceny, alleged to have been committed Dec. 22, 1876, at Long Island City, at midnight, in the dwelling of William H. Green and George L. Green. A Queens County Grand Jury found an indictment against Roberts and he was subsequently convicted. He was sent to State prison for twenty years on Jan. 27, 1877. On Oct. 21, 1878, Gov. Lucius Robinson pardoned Roberts, it being proved that he was innocent of the crime. Last April Gov. Morton restored Roberts to citizenship, and on April 17 signed a law authorizing him to present a claim to the State Board of Claims for the damages sustained by him by reason of his improper conviction and imprisonment, and authorizing the Board of Claims to hear and pass upon the claim and award such compensation for the damages sustained by Mr. Roberts thereby.

Roberts alleges that he had two places of business at the time of his arrest. He sues not only for the goods contained therein, but also for loss of trade and interest. The main items in his bill of particulars are:

Loss of business, of income, and expenses of counsel, &c., $12,770; interest on loss of business from Jan. 4, 1877, to date, (May 14, 1895,) at 6 per cent. per annum, $14,068; damages for injury to reputation, pain, suffering, &c., $75,000.

Regular Coaching to Summit.

The inauguration of what will be an innovation in metropolitan social life will be introduced on Monday of next week, when the first of a series of coaching trips will be run between this city and Summit, N. J. The drive is said to surpass anything of its kind in this vicinity. It is expected that a programme, consisting of twelve outings, will be carried out before the snow flies. A feature of the list will be a holiday jaunt on Thanksgiving Day, especially planned for the members of the coming-out set who are members of the various coaching clubs under whose auspices the scheme has been promoted. The route as planned takes in Newark, where a sojourn of some thirty minutes will be made, and from thence it leads to Elizabeth, where a reception will be tendered to the members of the different organizations after which they will proceed to Springfield, and from the latter point to Short Hills, reaching their destination, the Hotel Beachwood, in the early evening. After enjoying a collation, a german will be given in the music hall. The members will start on the return trip the next morning. It is the aim of the various clubs inaugurating this ride is to bring to the attention of coaching enthusiasts generally a hitherto unknown drive. This route will in all probability exceed in popularity all other routes, because of its accessibility to the city. The clubs which have combined in this departure will be known as the Amalgamated Coaching Association, prominent in organizing which was the Bloodgood Coaching Club, with which organization, it might be stated, the idea of coaching to Summit was first conceived. The starting point will be the Berkeley Lyceum, Forty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, and no coach will be permitted to leave unless appropriately decorated with the association emblem, the letters "A. C. & A."

MORE "PROTECTION" PROMISED

Representative Henderson of Iowa Says Duties Will Be Advanced Before Other Relief Is Offered to the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Representative D. B. Henderson of Iowa reached Washington this morning for the coming session of Congress.

He denied in most emphatic terms the report that he and Senator Allison had gone to Chicago to start the Allison boom for President.

"The truth of the matter is," said Mr. Henderson, "that Mr. Allison and I had some private business in that city, and went there to attend to it. There was no politics in our visit, and the stories printed about it were totally uncalled for."

When asked what the coming Congress would do in the way of legislation, Mr. Henderson replied that he looked for little more than the passage of the appropriation bills.

"What is the use of our endeavoring to do more than this?" he asked. "If we attempt legislation that has any political tinge to it, we will at once be confronted with a veto. So far as revenue is concerned, I believe it should be increased, but there is not a great probability that we can do so on terms satisfactory to a Democratic President. We shall, doubtless, provide a measure for the increase of our revenues, and it will be a Republican measure, protective in its character, and increasing duties lowered too much by the Wilson bill, and transferring important items from the free list back to the dutiable, where they belong. I believe the McKinley act is a model tariff measure, but at the same time I do not believe that ever again will an enactment so radical as that be passed by a Republican Congress. The Wilson bill, however, needs revision in many particulars, and it will be the duty of the Republicans to modify it according to those ideas of protection that form the cardinal tenet of the political faith of that party. Of course, this desirable result may not reach fruition until we have secured every branch of the Government, and this may postpone much of the matter until the Fifty-fifth Congress.

"To attempt to do much now would be but to invite the veto power of a President who has given every evidence of the possession of an abnormally developed appetite for the exercise of his prerogative, and has vetoed bills in the aggregate far greater in number than any President who has preceded him.

"The currency question will, of course, come to the front during this Congress. We will wait and see what the President has to say on that subject. He cannot expect the Republicans to go back on their principles on this subject, but it may happen that we will be able to agree upon some measure of relief that will be satisfactory to the legislative and Executive. Again, we may be compelled to await a more favorable season. These are questions that cannot be determined in a day or forecasted with any degree of accuracy."

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The annual meeting of the Home Market Club was held this afternoon. Secretary Albert Clark, in his report, spoke of the work done by the club, and said:

> Nothing is more certain than that the tariff will be the chief political issue next year. This might be otherwise if President Cleveland would approve such a bill as both houses of Congress would be glad to pass this Winter, for increasing the revenue and correcting the gross errors and inequalities of the present tariff. I think that Congress should send him such a bill before offering any other relief to the Treasury, and let him veto it upon his responsibility. The demand of the hour is a change that will give to business stability and courage, be its profits ever so small.

Charles A. Stott of Lowell was elected President.

CHICAGO WILL RAISE MONEY.

Business Men Offer to Pay the Expenses of the Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—J. Irving Pearce, Chairman of the committee of business men who are taking the initial steps to bring the National Republican Convention to Chicago, said to-day that he had canvassed the business men of his acquaintance sufficiently to assure him that between $50,000 and $60,000 could easily be raised by subscription, and as soon as he receives an answer from Chairman Carter of the National Committee, to whom he wrote regarding the conditions which would be imposed on Chicago if the convention were to come here, Mr. Pearce intends to obtain the amounts promised verbally by the Chicagoans and corporations he has seen. He thinks that the convention will cost Chicago not over $60,000.

The Coliseum, which collapsed while in course of erection, will be finished by May 1, and it is believed by the convention promoters that when it is known generally that the building will accommodate 20,000 people, the fact will be a powerful argument in favor of having the convention here.

BALTIMORE'S REPUBLICAN MAYOR.

A Change from the Quiet Inaugurations of the Past.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—Ferdinand C. Latrobe, seven times Mayor of Baltimore, at noon yesterday became a private citizen, and Alcaeus Hooper, the first man ever elected Mayor of Baltimore on a straight Republican ticket, took the reins of office.

The inauguration ceremonies to-day were in striking contrast with those of recent years. Gen. Latrobe had been Mayor so often that his inauguration attracted no particular attention. All was changed today, and Mr. Hooper was inducted into office in the presence of a multitude.

The new Mayor took the oath of office and delivered his inaugural address, after which an official reception began and continued for some hours. Thousands of persons, a majority of whom were Republicans, shook the new Mayor's hand and congratulated him.

OBITUARY RECORD.

Abner C. Mattoon.

Abner C. Mattoon, born in Rochester, N. Y., eighty-one years ago, and one of Oswego's most prominent citizens, died at his home yesterday. He was State Senator in 1868-9, and member of Assembly in 1863-4. He had also held many important municipal offices in Oswego, and had been prominently identified with the commercial and transportation interests of the town. He was the builder of the first steam tug built and operated west of the Hudson.

The Rev. Joseph Brewster.

The Rev. Joseph Brewster, rector of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, in High Street, Brooklyn, died in the rectory, 219 High Street, last night of heart disease.

He was the father of the Rev. Dr. Chauncey Brewster, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, on Brooklyn Heights. He had been the rector of St. Michael's about a year. He was the son of the famous Brewster, the carriage man, of New-Haven.

OBITUARY NOTES.

—Levi S. Peck, a well-known newspaper correspondent of Westchester County, died yesterday at Mount Vernon, N. Y. Mr. Peck was born in Redding, Conn., in 1828. He was graduated from Yale College when he was twenty years old, and became a physician, and practised at one time in New-York City. He was a Collector in the New-York Custom House during the war. He opened a drug store at White Plains at the close of the war, and was successful in business there for many years. Mr. Peck moved to Mount Vernon about ten years ago. He wrote for several New-York newspapers, and was formerly Westchester correspondent for The United Press. Mr. Peck had been ill a year and a half. He leaves a wife, two daughters, and a son.

—Clement J. Ferguson, once a New-York merchant, who had been retired from business for several years, died in Portland, Me., yesterday. Mr. Ferguson was eighty-three years old. He leaves a wife and one daughter. He had been in delicate health for several months. Mr. Ferguson passed the last few years in and about Portland. He owned a fine Summer residence at Intervale, N. H. The burial will be in New-York.

—Andrew Turney, the well-known produce merchant, and part owner of the yacht Sylvia, died yesterday at Fairchild, Conn. He was operated upon for appendicitis a week ago. Mr. Turney, although only twenty-nine years old, was deeply interested in aquatic sports.

—Mrs. L. M. Reaves, née Miss Rose Dean, wife of Mr. Lon M. Reaves of Washington, D. C., and sister of Mr. Tunis F. Dean of this city, died at Baltimore, Md., yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Reaves were formerly residents of Indianapolis, Ind.

—Robert Flemmin of New-Brunswick died yesterday, aged seventy-nine. He came from Ireland in 1859, and was at one time an officer of the Raritan Canal and the Pennsylvania Railroad. He assisted in building the Belvidere line.

—Dr. John Shaw died at Poughkeepsie yesterday. He was a brother of the late "Josh Billings." For many years he was connected with the Second Avenue Railway Company of New-York City. He was a septuagenarian.

—Francis Peyre Porcher, M. D., LL. D., an eminent physician and botanist, died at Charleston, S. C., on Tuesday. He was the author of "The Resources of Southern Fields and Forests," a standard botanical work.

—John C. Kauffman died at his residence, at Leesport, Penn., yesterday, aged eighty-four years. He was a well-known retired ironmaster.

CALVE REAPPEARS AS CARMEN

GREETED BY A LARGE AUDIENCE IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

A New Tenor, Lubert, Comes Forward as Don Jose—M. Maurel Assails the Torreador.

The second night of the opera season at the Metropolitan, which was last night, brought forward once more Bizet's "Carmen," with Mme. Emma Calvé in the title rôle. The manner in which the public treated this incident was suggestive of a good many things. The house was packed, just as it used to be two seasons ago, when this one opera was the earner of the profit of the managers. The audience, especially that part of it which spent more than three long hours leaning against the brass rail behind the orchestra circle, acted as if the return of Mme. Calvé were a rare evidence of heaven's favor to this benighted town, and made a large demonstration of hysterical joy. It is impossible to avoid the belief that the sincere conviction of calm judgment has little or nothing to do with such outbreaks of popular applause. People who have been aroused to a state of excited anticipation by the well-contrived efforts of sensational writers go to the Opera House in a state of high nervous tension. They see a woman with black hair and a red flower in her mouth run upon the stage, and, without having heard one tone of her voice or seen one significant action, they exclaim: "Isn't she great!" And forthwith they begin to cheer.

It is a great pity, for two reasons; first, because Mme. Calvé's art is not and cannot be fairly appreciated by these excited persons, and second, because this supreme rule of personal influence is the most formidable obstacle in the path of operatic progress. It is the old, old story—everything for the singer and nothing for the song. We are in a position exactly opposite to that of the average European town, where lovers of music go to the Opera House to hear the opera and take delight in the creations of Gounod, Verdi, and Massenet, even when they are only fairly well performed. Here we care nothing for the opera—except in the limited circle of Wagnerites—and decline to hear anything unless the management is prepared to furnish us with a sensational cast. Even M. Maurel had to be brought into the proceedings last night in order that people might put double exclamation points after the mention of his name and Calvé's in a single breath. Messrs. Abbey & Grau must not be censured for their course. They are not in the operatic business for their health, and only by supplying the public demand can they prosper. So hurrah for a series of big casts, and let the minor singers, no matter what may be their merits, be relegated to Philadelphia!

The Carmen which Mme. Calvé presented last night was kittenish rather than diabolical. It is well known that the popular soprano is a creature of moods, and that her performances of one character vary widely. Last night she indulged in less extravagant action than she did in her last appearances here, and paid more attention to her singing. The results were excellent. Her acting was lighter and more direct in touch, and both the comedy and the tragedy of the part shone to better advantage. On the other hand, as her voice was in the finest possible condition, she sang brilliantly. Her singing, indeed, never possessed more sensuous beauty of tone than it did last night, and this fact deserves especial mention, because most people go to the opera to see rather than to hear Mme. Calvé. Those who go for either purpose are not likely to be disappointed, for she is still the commanding lyric actress of two years ago.

M. Guillaume Albert Lubert, who made his début as Don José, is a typical French tenor. His voice is of the usual French timbre, and his singing is distinguished by a fervency which requires a good deal of regulating, as it now leads him to hurry his work so that his phrasing is not symmetrical. He is a manly actor, but he is not large enough to appear to advantage beside Mme. Calvé. No doubt he will improve upon acquaintance. M. Maurel, as Escamillo, was a mere name. His singing of the torreador song was farcical; it was so labored and unprofitable an effort. It will do M. Maurel no good with the public to appear in rôles which are associated with the memory of finished and sonorous vocal work. M. Maurice de Vries was acceptable as Zuniga. This baritone's presence and bearing are in his favor. Mme. Saville was a very pleasing Micaela. She had better control of her voice than she had on Monday night, and she sang with a good quality of tone, with grace and sentiment. The minor members of the cast were the same as they were last season. Signor Bevignani conducted, but he made the accompaniments very inflexible. To-morrow night "Lohengrin" will be given.

DISPLAY OF HANDSOME GOWNS.

The Boxes Filled with Prominent Society People.

The streets about the Opera House were more crowded with carriages last night than on Monday. On the opening night the weather was clear, and there were no slippery pavements to delay the coming and going of vehicles, but last night the inclement weather and the greater number of private carriages combined to delay travel in Broadway, and the streets about the house were as crowded as usual on opera nights. Broadway was blocked as early as 8 o'clock with lines of carriages extending south to Thirty-fifth Street and north as far as Forty-second Street. The side streets, too, were blocked.

The boxes were occupied by men and women prominent in society, and the display of rich gowns was a handsome one.

Among the first of the box holders to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Goelet, who have the first box to the south of the stage. Mrs. Goelet wore a gown of blue silk, trimmed with white velvet and lace, a stomacher of diamonds, and a coronet of the same jewels.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, who have the box adjoining the Goelet box, were also comparatively early arrivals. Mrs. Wilson wore a gown of white silk trimmed with point lace. On the corsage was a cluster of diamond stars.

Mrs. M. Augustus Field wore a gown of black and white striped silk, trimmed with lace, and Miss Mary Field wore a handsome gown of white silk.

Mrs. Butler of Detroit, Mich., was in a charming costume of white silk and purple velvet. On the skirt were flounces of velvet, and the bodice was striped with the same material.

Mrs. Pearsall Field wore a gown of black and white silk. Mrs. George P. Howe was in cardinal velvet.

Mrs. Astor wore black velvet, trimmed with silk passementerie. Her bonnet was of white velvet, with a black aigrette.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor was in white satin, trimmed with quantities of point lace. On the corsage were several large diamond stars and a large bunch of violets.

Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks wore a costume of white and blue silk. In her coiffure was a diamond and pearl crescent, and on the corsage two large diamond stars.

Mrs. Frederic T. Lambert wore a gown of cream-colored satin, trimmed with purple velvet. Her bonnet was of velvet, with a white aigrette.

Mrs. Anthony D. Biddle was in a handsome costume of white silk and point lace.

Mrs. Arthur T. Hills wore a gown of heavy pink silk, trimmed with duchesse lace. Miss Fanny Hills was in white satin, and wore a large bunch of violets.

Among those in the orchestra stalls, in the Opera Club box, and in other parts of the house were:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Manice, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Astor Bristed, Robert Lee Morrell, Matthew Astor Wilks, Mrs. Austin Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Robinson, Miss Robinson, Mrs. J. Thomas Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pearsall Field, Augustus B. Field, Thomas F. Cushing, Miss Cushing, Miss Alice Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic H. Barton, Clement March, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hills, Mr. and Mrs. F. Egerton Webb, Franklin L. Gunther, Mr. and Mrs. George F. T. White, Miss Amy White, Charles T. Willis, Edward J. King, Jr., Alfred De Castro, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sorchan, Carlisle Norwood, Mercer Pell, Mrs. Lloyd Aspinwall, James Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. F. Norton Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. J. UNIVERSITY EXTENSION WORK

A Document on This Subject, Prepared by Prof. James E. Russell, Issued by the Regents of the University.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—There has just been issued from the office of the Regents of the University an "Extension Bulletin" on "Extension of University Teaching in England and America," which Secretary Dewey styles "a study in practical pedagogics," and which he says is a very valuable manual for those who wish to understand clearly this modern movement. The work is that of James E. Russell, Ph. D., at present Professor of Pedagogy in the University of Colorado. The university convocation of July, 1893, appointed Prof. Russell, then of New-York, a special Commissioner to visit European educational institutions and report on whatever he might find of most importance to educational institutions in New-York. He had no instruction as to the topic, but was left to select it after making his investigations. The subject which he found most useful, Mr. Dewey says, is that great movement known as university extension, which has clearly taken a prominent place in modern education, and which Prof. Russell handles in a scholarly manner.

He discusses at length university extension, as the "new and powerful" educational movement exists in England, and traces the growth of the popular education in this country, through its various stages during the last fifty years. The lyceum system, the scientific and agricultural schools, and the Summer schools are given prominent places.

The first five significant steps in extension history in America were taken in the Empire State, Prof. Russell says, and he enumerates the library meeting at the Thousand Islands, the work at Buffalo, Chautauqua, Brooklyn, and at the capital in connection with the Regents.

"New-York also claims the distinction of being the first State in the world to make university extension an integral part of its educational system," says Prof. Russell. "This step was singularly favored by the State's method of school control, now more than a century in practice."

Prof. Russell concludes that the outlook for systematic organization in America is very obscure. He says that every day it becomes more apparent that English precedents cannot be found for every emergency that arises. The progress of the movement may continue, but it must be partially in new lines. A better elementary school system, the highly mixed population, the higher social status of workingmen, fewer densely populated districts, long railway distances, all these differentiate American methods from the English. The numerous central societies already in existence, and others forming, show conclusively that as yet no one plan has been found suitable to all parts of the country. It is more than likely, if university extension is to become a permanent feature of the educational system, that this process of differentiation will continue after the American fashion till the need of union becomes too strong to be resisted. Such an event is highly improbable; the most that friends of the movement can hope for is State supervision and a National acceptance of high ideals in aims and standards.

THE YALE-PRINCETON FOOTBALL GAME

A Big Crowd Will See the Collegians Battle on the Gridiron.

Julian Curtiss, who has served on many football committees, says that he never knew the demand for tickets to be so steady for a college game as it is for the Yale-Princeton contest, which takes place at Manhattan Field next Saturday. The indications are that the biggest football crowd in the history of the sport will see the great pigskin rivals struggle for supremacy.

Cornelius Vanderbilt was one of many who didn't get a box at the first opportunity, but after two days' work, during which much money was spent for telegraph messages, an agent ran one down for him in New-Haven. It would be interesting to know what Mr. Vanderbilt's box cost him.

Manager Foote of Yale was in town yesterday. He said that there were scores of speculators in New-Haven when the students received their tickets, but that every effort was made to keep the pasteboards where they belonged. It is intimated that the Yale News will print the name of every student caught selling his tickets to speculators. Referring to the rumored illness of H. Cross of the Yale eleven, Mr. Foote said he knew nothing personally about it. The New-Haven boys will reach town to-morrow afternoon and will be quartered at the Plaza Hotel. Some of the "subs" will arrive on Saturday.

The Princeton team, contrary to what has previously been said in the matter, will not reach here until Saturday morning. The Tigers will lunch at the Murray Hill, after which they will go to the scene of the contest. A special train will bring the wearers of the orange and black from Old Nassau. Capt. Lea will start in the game, but may not play it out.

A few open-seat tickets will be placed on sale to-day at the usual places. These comprise a lot returned from New-Haven. The betting on the Stock Exchange yesterday was $100 to $90, Yale being the favorite. Considerable money was placed at these odds.

Princeton and Yale have played annually since 1870, this being the twentieth annual game. The following is a complete record since the organization of the Yale-Princeton teams:

1870—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1877—Yale, 2 touch-downs; Princeton, 0.
1878—Princeton, 1 goal; Yale, 0.
1879—Yale, 2 safeties; Princeton, 5 safeties.
1880—Yale, 5 safeties; Princeton, 11 safeties.
1881—Yale, 0; Princeton, 0.
1882—Yale, 2 goals, 1 safety; Princeton, 1 goal, 1 safety.
1883—Yale, 1 goal; Princeton, 0.
1884—Yale, 1 goal; Princeton, 1 touch-down.
1885—Princeton, 1 goal from touch-down; Yale, 1 goal from field.
1886—Yale, 1 touch-down; Princeton, 0.
1887—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1888—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1889—Princeton, 1 goal, 1 touch-down; Yale, 0.
1890—Yale, 32 points; Princeton, 0.
1891—Yale, 19 points, 2 goals, 2 touch-downs; Princeton, 0.
1892—Yale, 12 points, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1893—Princeton, 6 points, 1 goal; Yale, 0.
1894—Yale, 24; Princeton, 0.

It is an almost assured fact that the two teams will line up as follows:

Yale.	Position.	Princeton.
Chadwick	Left guard	Riggs
H. Cross	Centre	Galley
W. R. Cross	Right guard	Rhodes
Murphy	Right tackle	Lea
Hinkey	Right end	Cochran
Fincke	Quarter back	Suter
Thorne	Left half back	Armstrong
De Witt	Right half back	Rosengarten
Jerrems	Full back	Baird

Meat for Cats at Post Office.

From The Westminster Gazette.

It may not be generally known that a considerable sum of money for cats' meat appears annually as an item in the Post Office estimates. This meat, according to The Animal's Friend, goes to the support of a whole colony of cats at St. Martin's-le-Grand. How they first came there, no one seems to know, but the general impression is that their ancestors belonged to the private offices which were demolished when the present General Post Office was built, and that they became "strays" about the ruins until the rising walls gradually shut them in, and thus provided them with a home.

HE SAID THE LAWYER LIED

HANNIGAN EXCITED DURING MR. M'INTYRE'S ADDRESS.

The Prisoner's Wife Fainted Away in the Courtroom—Case May Go to the Jury To-day.

The closing scenes in the trial of David Hannigan on the charge of killing Soloman H. Mann began yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. Charles W. Brooke, the leading attorney for the prisoner, took the entire day, no time being allowed for the usual noon recess, in summing up.

For the prosecution, Assistant District Attorney McIntyre began his address in the evening. After briefly reviewing the case, he said:

"The defense claims that this defendant was insane when he committed the crime. The law finds no excuse for acts committed while one is drunk. This defendant was drunk on May 23 when he shot Soloman Mann."

"You lie!" shouted Hannigan, jumping from his seat.

The prisoner was urged to keep quiet, but just as order was restored a groan was heard from his wife, who sat near by. She had fainted away and was carried into an adjoining room and revived.

Mr. McIntyre attacked the proof offered by the defense that Hannigan was insane. His insinuation that a shrewd lawyer might have posted Hannigan as to what to say on examination aroused Dr. O'Sullivan, who declared that it was "infamous." The Assistant District Attorney explained that he meant no reference to the doctor, and he proceeded with his speech until Charles Beutzen, a juror, almost fainted.

When the juror was able to resume his seat, Justice Ingraham adjourned court until 10:30 this morning, as Mr. McIntyre said he would require two hours more to finish his address.

THE "SHORT AD." PAGE.

Courtin' Time.

From The Denver Post.

Courtin' time is sweet 'n tender,
By th' fire's glow—
Sam'el snaps at 'is suspender,
Sue, she giggles low.

Sam'el, he is shy an' stam-ring,
Sue, though, understan's,
Sam'el's heart is ham'ring, ham'ring,
Snappin' at its ban's.

Firelight blazes in a glow,
Dancin', ruddy bright,
Cold outside drifts th' Autumn snow
Pure 'n soft white.

An' touches up th' pensive maid,
As she sits knittin',
Coquettin' soft with light 'n shade
O'er beauty flittin'.

Sam'el hitches closer to her
Heart 'n fear in strife—
Sez, "Sue darling, I would you were
"My sweetheart, 'n—wife!"

Her eyes are dimmed with sudden mist—
Happiness sublime;
Love words are said, 'n red lips kissed,
Lost, forgot, is time.

A Surprise Party.

From The Detroit Free Press.

She (looking at the clock)—Dear me!

He (tenderly)—Are you surprised to find it so late?

She (yawning)—No. I am surprised to find that it is so early.

Let Us Hope.

From The Rochester Union and Advertiser.

A Mrs. Grace of England recently rode ninety-three miles on her bicycle in less than seven hours. Let us hope that Mr. Grace had supper ready when she got home.

It's Likely.

From The Philadelphia Record.

We are taught by experience stern
That the girl who doth manage to catch
A husband with money to burn
Is likely to make a good match.

A Better Simile.

From Judge.

Miriam—Don't you think my new hat a poem, Ned?

Ned (critically)—From its height, dear, I should instead compare it to a short story.

Sure to be Rewarded.

From The Washington Star.

I know that Heaven is his home
Whate'er his faults may be;
He once did borrow my umbrell,
And gave it back to me.

Contentment.

From The Philadelphia Record.

"No matter how captious or cranky a man may be," says The Manyunk Philosopher, "the time comes when he must be satisfied with his lot—in the cemetery."

Hotchkiss and Maddox in support of said motion, Hon. Theodore E. Hancock, Attorney General, appearing and not opposing, it is Ordered that the time for creditors of the Commercial Alliance Life Insurance Company to file claims with William T. Gilbert, Esq., receiver thereof, be and the same hereby is extended until and including the 15th day of December, 1895.

And it is further ordered that notice of this extension, and of the time within which claims should be filed, be given by mailing a copy of this order to each and every person appearing on the books of said company as a policy holder or creditor thereof, addressed to him at his address, as shown by the books of the company; that a copy of this order be published in The New-York Law Journal and in The New-York Times and The Evening Post newspapers, published in the City of New-York, twice a week for four successive weeks prior to said 15th day of December, 1895.

And it is further ordered that any person who claims to be a creditor of said company, who shall fail to exhibit his claim to said receiver, as hereinbefore provided, on or before the 15th day of December, 1895, be and he hereby is precluded from any participation in the distribution of the assets of the said company in this action.

MILES BEACH, J. S. C.

To all policy holders and creditors of the Commercial Alliance Life Insurance Company: Take notice that the above is a copy of an order this day made and entered in the above-entitled action and filed in the office of the Clerk of the City and County of New-York, in the Court House, in the City of New-York.—Dated New-York, October 11th, 1895.

CITIZENS TO HOLD A MASS MEETING

Gen. Horace Porter and Others on the Reported Turkish Outrages—Contributions to the Relief Fund.

President Seth Low of Columbia College is announced to preside at the mass meeting to be held in Chickering Hall this evening, under the auspices of the Armenian Relief Association, to protest against the massacre of Armenian Christians by the Turks, and to appeal to the powers of Europe and the United States Government to put a stop to the slaughter.

The full list of Vice Presidents for the meeting is as follows: Mayor W. L. Strong, William E. Dodge, the Rev. Dr. Henry Y. Satterlee, the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Gen. Horace Porter, the Rev. Dr. David H. Greer, Alexander E. Orr, the Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, Anson G. McCook, Frank H. Scott, the Rev. William R. Huntington, William P. St. John, the Rev. Dr. William H. P. Faunce, James W. Perry, the Rev. Dr. Charles W. E. Body, Gustav H. Schwab, the Rev. A. J. F. Behrends, John S. Kennedy, Bishop Henry C. Potter, the Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, the Rev. Dr. John W. Brown, Morris K. Jesup, the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, Robert Underwood Johnson, Mgr. Thomas J. Ducey, the Rev. Dr. John P. Peters, Dr. William H. Thomson, George Macculloch Miller, Edwin Einstein, the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Henry W. Cannon, Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, the Rev. R. S. MacArthur, James R. Sheffield, the Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water, John Noble Stearns, and William Brookfield.

J. Bleecker Miller, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Armenian Relief Association, will call the meeting to order, and will introduce President Low. The other speakers will include Bishop Potter, the Rev. Dr. H. Y. Satterlee, Father Ducey, the Rev. Dr. David H. Greer, the Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, Gen. Anson G. McCook, and George MacCulloch Miller.

Vartan Dilloyan, a native Armenian Christian, who escaped the massacre at Sassoun, will be present, and will tell his story through an interpreter.

Gen. Horace Porter said to a reporter for THE NEW-YORK TIMES yesterday, in speaking of the atrocities in Armenia:

"There can be no doubt that the continuance of the atrocities committed by the Turks upon the Christian Armenians, under cover of authority, is a disgrace to civilization. They are unparalleled in modern history. Turkey is again the 'sick man.' I believe that the Sultan is not able, owing to the demoralization which exists throughout the Ottoman Empire, to control affairs in his large territory. He is a weak man himself, both morally and physically, and is easily influenced by the corrupt and scheming men by whom he is surrounded. He is timid by nature, and there is no doubt that he is now greatly alarmed by the threats of intervention by the other powers of Europe.

"Through appeals to his fears he may be compelled to take some steps to put a stop to the wholesale massacre of his Armenian subjects. It is possible that he may be able to do so. The powers of Europe will no doubt exact from the Sultan some guarantees of reforms in his administration with especial reference to the safety and protection of his Christian subjects from their Mohammedan neighbors. Frightened at the threatened dismemberment of his empire, the Sultan will, in all probability, grant the reforms demanded, but it is a question whether he will be able to carry them out.

"The great trouble is that the discussion of these matters by the representatives of the nations of Europe brings up the vexed question of the balance of power in Europe, and it is barely possible that the fear on the part of each nation that one of them will obtain an undue advantage over the others in case of a forcible interevention will deter the powers from prompt action. But there does not appear to be any other way of solving the problem.

"The American people are suffering under a sense of outrage, owing to the repeated atrocities which have been reported from time to time. The United States Government cannot properly interfere in the internal affairs of a foreign nation, but the people should express their horror and indignation at the atrocities. Therefore, I am fully in sympathy with the mass meeting which is to be held to-morrow, and trust it will prove of benefit."

Simon Sterne said: "I do not think a meeting such as is proposed would do much good. The Government of the United States cannot very well interfere in the affairs of a foreign country, especially while insisting on the Monroe doctrine and non-intervention by foreign powers in affairs on the American continent. We cannot, therefore, with propriety interfere in the internal affairs of Turkey. We ought not to take active part in the demonstration which will doubtless be made by the great powers of Europe, no matter how good or meritorious we may deem the cause to be.

"Now, as to a protest by the American people, what would the Turkish Government care for that? What would a Turkish soldier care for a protest from New-York, a place he probably never heard of? Yet, I am not averse to expressions of sympathy with the Armenians, and while a protest from a gathering of prominent Americans, no matter how representative, would not move the Turkish Government one particle, yet it would serve to indicate that we on this side of the water are in sympathy with the efforts of civilized nations on the other side to protect and succor an oppressed people."

J. Edward Simmons, President of the Fourth National Bank, said: "I am astonished that these brutalities should have been allowed to assume such large proportions without interference from the civilized people of Europe. It is a disgrace to our civilization that hundreds of men, women, and children should be brutally slaughtered because of their religious belief. The great powers of Europe should have intervened long ago, and put a stop to these outrages by a brutal soldiery goaded on by religious fanaticism. We, in this country, are too far distant to make intervention effective, even if the United States desired to intervene. It is a question in my mind whether this Government would be justified in interfering with the internal affairs of a foreign country, except so far as the protection of the lives and property of American citizens is concerned. The American citizen ought to be protected in his rights on foreign soil, no matter at what cost, but further than that I do not believe the Government ought to go. But I am in favor of the American people expressing their condemnation of a Government which permits such outrages, and demanding, in the name of humanity, that they cease."

"While I am in full sympathy with the objects of the meeting," said George MacCulloch Miller, "in so far as it is intended as an expression of the feelings of the American people in relation to the reported atrocities by the Turks upon Armenian Christians, yet I am inclined to believe that, like every other question, the Armenian question has two sides. I should counsel our people to go slow in the matter, so that we may not become embroiled with a nation with whom we are now at peace.

"I am all the more inclined to counsel a waiting policy in view of the letter of the Sultan of Turkey to Lord Salisbury, which was published in the papers this morning. The American people are always ready with their sympathy and aid to the citizens of the world in case of famine or distress of any kind, but in this case it seems to me it would be wise to await further developments."

The following additional contributions have been received by the Armenian Relief Fund Committee:

Archbishop Corrigan, $100; St. Mark's Church, Bridgewater, Conn., $5; Mrs. M. L. McCarty, Treasurer, $1; Emily Holbrook, $5; Morrill, Wis., $1; "Broughton Memorial Mission Band," $10; Caroline W. THE REMINGTON PICTURES SOLD

American Art Association Now to Dispose of Chinese Porcelains, Enamels, Jades, and Crystals at Auction.

Many people were present at the sale of the works of Frederic Remington, at the American Art Galleries, on Tuesday night. Anxiety to secure black-and-white sketches by this popular man made the bidding lively, and $5,800 was realized for some hundred-odd works.

Among the buyers were Owen Wister, L. G. Tewkesbury, W. K. Townsend, W. H. Schieffelin, and others. The following are some of the prices realized:

The Missionary	$280.00	Making an Arrest	80.00
Tragedy of the Plains	205.00	Their Late Enemy	90.00
		Chasing Bear	77.50
Fantasia	200.00	Cowboy	67.50
Unbranded Cow	255.00	Epitacio	65.00
Fall of Cowboy	105.00	Vaquero's Story	55.00
Apache Scouts	110.00	Finding Ford	50.00
Bell Mare	90.00	Roping Grizzly	58.00

On the afternoons of to-day, to-morrow, and Saturday, Nov. 21, 22, and 23, the American Art Association will sell the Chinese porcelains, potteries, enamels, and crystals. These should, and doubtless will, attract much attention.

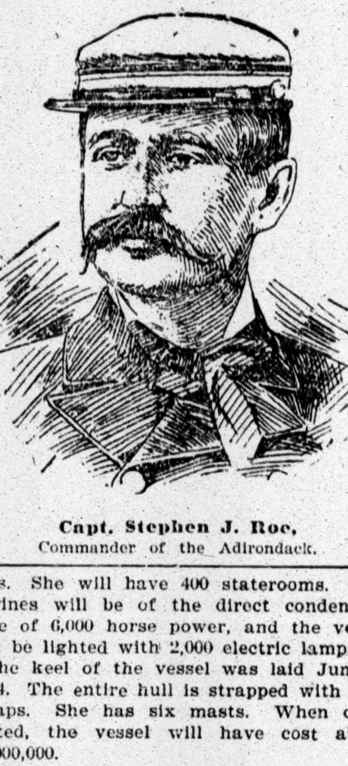
STEAMER ADIRONDACK AFLOAT

LARGE SIDEWHEELER TO PLY BETWEEN THIS CITY AND ALBANY.

Christened by Miss Englis, Daughter of the Builder—Veteran Capt. Roe to be Commander.

A big sidewheel steamboat which is to ply between New-York and Albany on the Hudson River was launched at the shipyard of John Englis & Sons, at the foot of Kent Street, Brooklyn, at noon yesterday. Miss Englis, daughter of the builder, spilled the contents of a bottle of champagne on the bow and said: "I christen thee Adirondack."

The Adirondack when completed will have five decks. She is the largest wooden vessel ever constructed in Brooklyn. She is 400 feet long and has a main deck 86 feet wide. Her carrying capacity is 1,000 tons. She will have 400 staterooms. The engines will be of the direct condensing type of 6,000 horse power, and the vessel will be lighted with 2,000 electric lamps.



Capt. Stephen J. Roe,
Commander of the Adirondack.

The keel of the vessel was laid June 3, 1894. The entire hull is strapped with iron straps. She has six masts. When completed, the vessel will have cost about $1,000,000.

There were present at the launch W. W. Everett, President of the People's Line; Jacob Hays, Joseph J. O'Donohue, John Englis, Congressman Amos J. Cummings, ex-Congressman Harry C. Calkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Sayre, A. W. Moynhan, E. St. John Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, W. Smith, James Smith, A. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fletcher, Jr., Richard Deming, A. McKelvey, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Logan, John Coyle, Gen. Monagh of the Maine Steamship Company, Capt. Horatio Hall, George Brown, the Rev. Lewis Francis, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Sayre, Mrs. Jennette Englis, Mrs. Anna Englis, and J. Leary.

A medal was presented to Superintendent Silas Hulse in behalf of the employes. Miss Mamie Englis made the presentation speech.

Capt. Roe, who is to command the new Adirondack, is one of the oldest river Captains in point of service, as well as one of the best-known and most popular boatmen along the Hudson River. His connection with the People's Line dates back to 1858, when he entered its service as clerk of The New World.

Capt. Roe was promoted to the position of Captain in 1864 and took charge of the steamboat Hendrick Hudson. The following year the palatial steamboat Dean Richmond was put into service, and Capt. Roe was given command of her. Two years later the Drew came out, and Capt. Roe was transferred to her. Since that time he has been in charge of that vessel.

NEW-YORK MAN CHOSEN PRESIDENT

The National Fraternal Congress Elects Its Officers.

TORONTO, Ontario, Nov. 20.—At the session of the National Fraternal Congress, the motions to change the name of the organization were considered.

In the course of the discussion T. W. Sears of Kansas City said it was only a matter of time when Canada would be annexed to the United States. The report of the committee was adopted recommending that the name remain unchanged.

W. R. Spooner of New-York was elected President by 16 majority over Howard Morse of New-York. The other officers were re-elected.

Conference of Baptist Churches.

A conference of the Baptist churches in Harlem to discuss missionary questions was begun yesterday in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. E. E. Chivvers presided, and among the speakers in the afternoon were the Rev. A. S. Hobart, the Rev. Robert Hartley, and Mr. J. L. Nicoll.

The speakers of the evening were the Rev. W. H. Faunce, D. D., of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, this city, and the Rev. H. T. Madie, D. D., of Boston, Mass., Home Secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Union.

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Halsey—Grubb.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Nov. 20.—Miss Effie Van Rensselaer Grubb was married this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to Charles D. Halsey of Newark, N. J. Owing to the recent death of Gen. Grubb's mother, followed by that of Mrs. Harriet Grubb, the wedding was celebrated without music or floral decorations and without the usual reception.

The wedding was celebrated in St. Mary's Church, and was attended by a large number of people of prominence from Newark, New-York, Trenton, and Philadelphia. The Rev. C. H. Hibbard, rector of the church, officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Gen. E. Burd Grubb of Philadelphia, formerly United States Minister to Spain. On the maternal side she is connected with the Van Rensselaer, Schuyler, Hamilton, Stuyvesant, and many other old families in this country. Her mother, who died several years ago, was a Miss Van Rensselaer. Gen. Grubb's present wife was Miss Violet Sopwith of Scotland.

The bridegroom is a son of Silas C. Halsey, who was formerly United States Consul to Sonneberg, Germany. He is a member of the Union Club of New-York, where he gave his farewell bachelor dinner last week. His best man was Henry P. Toler.

The bridesmaids were Miss May Sopwith, sister of Mrs. Grubb; Miss Sarah Pemberton, Miss Jessie Halsey, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Olive Van Rensselaer, and Miss Angelica Schuyler Crosby. They wore gowns of pink satin and silk, and picture hats of black velvet, trimmed with pink.

The ushers were Frederick Frelinghuysen, Alfred L. Dennis, Robert M. Parker, Frederick Evans, Jr., of Newark, Daniel W. Evans of New-York, Alexander Van Rensselaer of this place, and Edward Browning and Samuel Bell, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The bride wore a gown of heavy white satin, elaborately trimmed with rare old point lace, which had been worn by her mother. The skirt was made full and the sleeves large, and the veil of tulle was fastened to the hair with a crescent, the bridegroom's present. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and Russian roses.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to Gen. Grubb's country house at Edgewater Park, and shortly afterward the newly married couple started on their wedding trip.

The bride received many rich presents, among them being gifts from the Woman's Relief Corps of Trenton, N. J., in which the Grubbs are much interested, and the Essex Troop.

Rengifo—Barbour.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Miss Regina Barbour, daughter of Mrs. James L. Barbour, and Señor Don Julio Rengifo, Chargé d'Affaires of the Colombian Legation, were married to-day at St. Matthew's Church in the presence of a small gathering of the bride's relatives.

Mr. Eastman, Secretary of the Chilian Legation, was best man, and Miss Annie Barbour, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

The chancel was decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, and the high altar blazed with lighted tapers.

The bride came into church with her brother, James F. Barbour, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas S. Lee, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Kervick, pastor of Holy Name Church.

The bride of this latest international marriage was simply arrayed in a traveling dress of dark green broadcloth, and the old-fashioned jewels she wore were emeralds in antique setting, part of the wedding gifts made her by Mme. Rengifo, mother of the bridegroom. A richly chased silver-bound Prayer Book she carried was the gift of her tiny niece, Marguerite Barbour, and it was blessed by Pope Leo XIII. during an audience last year in Rome, at which were Mr. and Mrs. James F. Barbour.

The Barbours' family residence, on Farragut Square, was decorated throughout for the wedding breakfast, which followed the ceremony, and at which only a small party of relatives were entertained. The flowers were yellow and white chrysanthemums, with Farleyense ferns and asparagus vines.

Señor and Mme. Rengifo went to New-York this afternoon, and will be at the Waldorf for ten days. This Winter they will live with the bride's mother, and in the Spring begin housekeeping.

Señor Rengifo is a great favorite in the Diplomatic Corps, and has been in charge of the Colombian Legation almost continuously for the last few years.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Barbour, widow of the late James L. Barbour, who, up to the time of his death, nearly two years ago, was one of the most prominent of the wealthy business men of this city.

Ayers—Lindsley.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The wedding of Miss Joy Lindsley, daughter of Mrs. Van Sinderen Lindsley, to Dr. Edward Augustus Ayers of New-York, at noon to-day, at the family residence, was attended by a fashionable gathering of their friends in diplomatic and social life. The double drawing rooms were elaborately decorated with Farleyense ferns, asparagus vines, and white chrysanthemums. The ceremony was performed under a bower of palms in the bay window, canopied with asparagus vines and ornamented with ribbon streamers and white chrysanthemums. Miss Lockwood of Buffalo was the only bridesmaid. She was gowned in pink silk, with a fichu of white chiffon, in Marie Antoinette style. The bride's eldest brother, Harris Lindsley, gave her away, and another brother, Van Sinderen Lindsley, and Thomas J. Bedle of New-Jersey were ushers. William Adams Kissam of New-York was best man. The ceremony was performed by an old friend of the family—the Rev. Mr. Witherspoon, rector of the First Presbyterian Church of Baltimore.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with the fine old point lace worn by her mother at her wedding. She wore a tulle veil and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

At the wedding breakfast over a hundred Washington acquaintances were entertained. The couple left this afternoon for a wedding trip before going to their future residence, in New-York City.

Among the out-of-town friends here for the event were Mrs. J. D. Bedle of New-Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rusch, Mr. and Mrs. Kissam, Mr. and Mrs. Ting, all of New-York, and Gen. and Mrs. J. M. Dickinson.

Straus—Nathan.

Miss Irma Nathan, daughter of Max Nathan of 33 East Seventy-second Street, and Jesse Straus, eldest son of ex-Congressman Isidor Straus, were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the bride's home. Prof. Felix Adler officiated.

The parlors of the house were elaborately decorated with American Beauty roses, white roses, lilies of the valley, and chrysanthemums. The young couple stood under a floral canopy.

In the bridal procession were twelve charming young girls, dressed in dainty pink and white costumes and wearing picturesque, wide-brimmed hats.

The bride, who is tall and stately and beautiful, wore a white satin dress, with appliqué lace. Her sister, Miss Elsie Nathan, acted as bridesmaid.

The ushers were Lee Kohns, P. S. Straus, S. Felchner, H. Gans, A. Hochstader, A. Leaman, G. Beer, A. Lazaar, G. Goldsmith, A. Rindskopf, and S. Wolfe.

After the wedding a dinner and reception were given at Delmonico's. Among those present were Postmaster General William L. Wilson, ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. F. Rothschild, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Straus, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Straus, E. Eising, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stettheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Loeb, Miss Loeb, Miss Edith Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Stein, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nathan.

Parshall—Ewell.

The marriage of Miss Caroline Ewell, only daughter of the late John Newton Ewell, to De Witt Parshall of Lyons, N. Y., took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. John Hall, pastor of the church.

The church pulpit and platform were prettily decorated with palms and chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Annie Parshall, Miss Annie Sutherland, Miss Florence Sullivan, Miss Mary Woodward, Miss Lillian M. Stokes, and Miss Bertha Terrell. The ushers were Arthur C. Jackson, Frederic Matthews, Theodore H. Price, Wilbur Matthews, Dr. Charles Townsend Dade, and Lewis Brown Gawtry.

The bride, who went up the aisle on the arm of her brother, Douglas Ewell, wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with Venetian point lace. Her veil, of point lace, was fastened to the hair with a large diamond star.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow silk and velvet, made in Marie Antoinette style; fichus, and picture hats of Croton velvet, with ostrich feathers.

A large reception followed the church ceremony, at the home of the bride's mother, 75 East Fifty-sixth Street.

Walsh—Loughran.

Miss Anne F. Loughran, daughter of John Loughran of 4 South Portland Avenue, Brooklyn, and Dr. John E. Walsh of South Brooklyn were married yesterday morning at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by Bishop McDonnell, assisted by the Rev. John E. Barrett and the Rev. Sylvester Malone.

The wedding took place in the rear parlor, where there is an altar, which was blessed by the late Bishop Loughlin, under a special dispensation by Pope Pius IX., upon the application of the late Rev. John Loughran. The altar was covered with rare flowers, and was brilliantly lighted with candles.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Loughran, as maid of honor. The best man was Dr. George B. Sullivan, and the ushers were Humphrey J. Kelley, Benjamin Kelley, James W. Loughran, and John Kelly.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with duchesse lace, and a tulle veil. She carried a fan of point lace, the ivory handle being inlaid with diamonds.

After the nuptial mass had been celebrated, a wedding breakfast was served. Ninety-five guests were present.

Dr. Walsh and his bride started yesterday afternoon for Boston, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Whittemore—Byrne.

Miss Genevieve Byrne, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Byrne of 115 East Sixty-second Street, was married last evening at 8 o'clock to Charles Francis Whittemore of Springfield, Mass., in All Souls' Protestant Episcopal Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. R. Heber Newton, rector of the church.

Wilbur Munn of East Orange, N. J., acted as best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Marie Antoinette Byrne and Miss Clark. The ushers were Frank S. Taylor and Albert E. Taylor of Springfield, L. C. Tiemroth, and H. B. Fonda of East Orange, N. J.; Ray Byrne of New-York, and John Enry of Baltimore.

Fleming—Garey.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Miss Bessie L. Garey, daughter of Leander Garey, a banker of Providence, R. I., was this afternoon united in marriage here to the Rev. Samuel J. Fleming, pastor of Elmwood Temple of Providence. The ceremony, which took place at the Worden Hotel, was witnessed by Mrs. Leander Garey and the Misses Garey, mother and sisters of the bride, also by Everett T. Fleming of Jersey City, N. J., brother of the bridegroom. The Rev. William Orr Wark, pastor of the New-England Congregational Church, officiated.

Brady—Holt.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 20.—The wedding of Miss Loretta G. Holt of this city and Charles J. Brady of Harrison took place this morning in St. John's Church, Mulberry Street. The Rev. Father Poels, the pastor, officiated. Miss Teeling presided at the organ. Samuel Walker was best man and Miss Annie Herick was bridesmaid. The bride was attired in a gown of white silk, with veil, and carried Bride roses. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, 72 Park Street. Mr. and Mrs. Brady went to Washington, D. C.

Arrowsmith—Walton.

The marriage of Miss Edith E. Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Walton, and Mr. Robert Arrowsmith of Brooklyn took place last Thursday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 233 West End Avenue. The Rev. Robert J. Thomson of Lima, Ohio, a brother-in-law of the bride, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Harold Arrowsmith of Bergen Point, and the Rev. Henry M. Ladd of this city.

Dolliver—Pearsons.

FORT DODGE, Iowa, Nov. 20.—Jonathan Prentice Dolliver, member of Congress from the Tenth Iowa District, and Miss Mary Louise Pearsons were married this evening at the First Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. Greene, assisted by the Rev. J. J. Dolliver, the aged father of the Congressman. Many prominent guests were present, including Gov. Jackson. The bride is a daughter of George R. Pearsons, a pioneer of this section. She is a graduate of Wellesley College.

Fleming—Garey.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Rev. Samuel J. Fleming, pastor of Elmwood Temple, Providence, R. I., and Miss Bessie L. Garey, daughter of Leander Garey, also of Providence were united in marriage this afternoon at the Worden Hotel by the Rev. William Orr Wark of this place. The mother and two sisters of the bride were among those present. The bridal party left to-night for a tour through the South.

Kirkland—Henderson.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Miss Mary Henderson, daughter of Col. W. A. Henderson, was married in this city to-night to Dr. James H. Kirkland, Chancellor of the Vanderbilt University, Nashville. Guests were present at the brilliant reception following the marriage from nearly every city in the South. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Saunders McDaniel of Atlanta.

She will wear a gown of pink moire and mousseline de soie. The bridesmaids will be Miss Anna Pilgrim, Miss Charlotte Kenna, Miss Nellie Bogert, and Miss Eleanor Metz. They will be attired in gowns of white satin, draped with white silk mull and trimmed with lace and satin ribbon. Walter G. Rogers will act as best man, and the ushers will be William H. Wright, A. C. Knowles, William Heller, and Ignatius Radley. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. D. Parker Morgan, rector of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. St. John Gaffney of 38 West Seventieth Street will open their country home, Orchard Lodge, at Summit, N. J., for Thanksgiving week.

Mr. James T. Dennis has sold his estate, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and is spending the year in Europe with his family. He will be the guest of Mrs. Orville Horwitz, in Rome, in December.

Mrs. Otis Rockwood and the Misses Rockwood are spending the Winter at 18 East Eighty-seventh Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitney Munroe, who have been living in Paris for the last two years, have returned to New-York for the Winter.

The Students' Dancing Class, which is associated with the Students' Dramatic Club, will give three dances at the Hotel Majestic under the patronage of Mrs. Minthorne Brundage, Mrs. Amelia Heffernan, Mrs. John Elderkin, Mrs. Joseph Collins, and Mrs. William McDonald. The first dance will be given on Dec. 11.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

—At "Billy" Florence's Grave.—Large numbers of friends and admirers of the late William J. Florence, the comedian, visited his grave, at Borden and Vine Avenues, Greenwood, Tuesday, and decorated it in recognition of the fourth anniversary of his death. A wreath sent by Joseph Jefferson, beautiful cut flowers from A. M. Palmer, President of the Actor's Fund of America; a wreath from Dr. Walter Fleming for the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and a ribboned wreath of immortelles from the Florence Dramatic Association of Brooklyn were the prominent floral contributions.

—Zwei Wappen.—Blumenthal and Kadelburg, who have just received news of the immense success of their farce comedy, "The Coat of Arms," which is now in its third week at the Irving Place Theatre, have cabled a congratulatory message to Manager Conried. It is their intention to collaborate on a new comedy, dealing with the German-American topic. Gustav Kadelburg, who has spent several seasons in this country, has studied the manners and progress of his countrymen to great advantage, as he has demonstrated by the characters in "Two Coats of Arms."

—Comedian George W. Monroe's new comedy, "A Happy Little Home," which comes to the Fourteenth Street Theatre as the Thanksgiving attraction, beginning next Monday night, is said to approach more nearly to legitimate comedy than anything that "funny fat fellow" has yet attempted. It is in three acts, in the last of which some very clever specialties are introduced by the members of the company, the most notable of which are imitations of Vesta Tilly and the French character artist, Mlle. Paquerette, by Idalene Cotton.

—"Will" Keogh is Sane.—William T. Keogh, of Davis & Keogh, has a collection of letters and telegrams inquiring as to the violence of his insanity. George Keogh, a theatrical manager, was taken to the insane pavilion in Bellevue. The Chicago Associated Press sent the information to its subscribers that the insane man was the senior member of the firm of Davis & Keogh. George Keogh is an Englishman, and formerly managed a theatre in London. He came to this country as the representative of Mrs. Langtry.

—McIntosh to Leave "Trilby."—Joseph Brooks, manager of William H. Crane, has engaged Burr McIntosh to create a character in Franklyn Fyles's new comedy, "The Governor of Kentucky," which will be presented in the Fifth Avenue Theatre Jan. 20. A. M. Palmer released Mr. McIntosh from his present engagement as Taffy in "Trilby" in order to enable him to accept this engagement.

—Irving's Thanksgiving Week.—The sale of seats for the Thanksgiving week performances of Henry Irving will begin to-day. "Faust," W. G. Wills's version, will be given Monday and Tuesday nights. "The Merchant of Venice" will be given the rest of the week, except Saturday night, when the play will be Casimir Delavigne's "Louis XI."

—Peter Dailey's Changes.—Peter F. Dailey has introduced clever novelties in his "Night Clerk" at the Bijou Theatre. The finale of the second act has been changed, many new songs have been added, and a cake walk has been put into the last act. Mr. Dailey proposes to have new features every week. A special matinée is announced for Thanksgiving Day.

—New Play for the Standard.—"The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown," a farce comedy that is successful in London, is to be produced in the Standard Theatre Dec. 3. John R. Rogers has engaged for it John T. Sullivan, Harry Brown, Herbert Sparling, Charles Harbury, Clara Lipman, Louis Mann, and Ellen Berg.

—Miss Morton Going Abroad.—Miss Martha Morton, who has just finished for William H. Crane a comedy called "Sunset," will sail for Italy Saturday on the steamship Columbia. She has been commissioned by Joseph Brooks to write a play for the new American Theatrical Syndicate, and is going abroad to study.

—No "Bauble Shop."—Because of the great demand for seats in the Empire Theatre, beyond this week Charles Frohman has decided to continue "Christopher, Jr.," to the end of John Drew's engagement, which will end Nov. 30. "The Bauble Shop" will not be presented until Mr. Drew's next engagement.

—George Leyton for Proctor.—George Leyton, a London music hall entertainer, who was born in New-Orleans and was taken to England in infancy, has been engaged by cable to appear as Henry V. and in other character impersonations at Proctor's Pleasure Palace.

—"Fatal Card" for Harlem.—"The Fatal Card," the melodrama by Haddon Chambers and B. C. Stephenson, which has just closed a run of nearly 100 nights in the Boston Museum, will be the Thanksgiving attraction at the Harlem Opera House.

—"Trilby" Will Soon Depart.—"Trilby" will leave New-York, probably forever, three weeks from Saturday night, after a run of 200 nights. The two hundred and fiftieth performance, Dec. 6, will be celebrated with souvenirs.

—"The Merry World."—J. Wesley Rosenquest says "The Merry World" is making him forget that the Fourteenth Street Theatre ever was a continuous-performance failure. The piece is on only for this week.

—"The Cotton King."—William A. Brady's "Cotton King" will reign over his gin and incidentals in the Grand Opera House next week. There will be a matinée Thanksgiving Day.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 20.—A rear-end collision occurred on the New-England Road at Bristol at 1 o'clock this morning. A freight train stood on a siding, with one car on the main track. Another freight train, going in the same direction, dashed into the car, smashing the caboose, and derailing three or four cars. The engine was also damaged.

BUTTE, Montana, Nov. 20.—Pettingill, the wild man of the Wise River Mountains, has been found dead in his mountain retreat. Pettingill came to Montana during the early period of the war and has ever since lived among the wild animals of the Wise River Mountains. Pettingill had knowledge of a fabulously rich vein, but never disclosed its location.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Proposals have been called for the enlargement of the wheelpit of the Niagara Falls Power Company to provide for three additional dynamos and turbines to furnish additional power for local use. The Acetylene Gas Company closed a contract to-day with the power company for 10,000 horse power.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 20.—Customs officers have seized a schooner near Berthier, below Quebec, having on board forty barrels of liquor. The vessel started from that nest of smugglers, the Island of St. Pierre, with eighty barrels on board, forty of which she landed somewhere down the St. Lawrence before she was seized.

ENGLISH, Ind., Nov. 20.—Alvin Thomas, thirteen years old, killed his brother William, aged eleven, and then committed suicide. William reported Alvin for playing truant. Alvin had a reputation for viciousness, and is supposed to have burned his father's barn two years ago in retaliation for chastisement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Post Office Department to-day denied the privileges of the mails to the Preferred Bond and Investment Company, and C. W. Bailey, Secretary and Treasurer and General Manager of Portland, Oregon, for conducting a lottery or similar enterprise.

BRADDOCK, Penn., Nov. 20.—It is said that Andrew Carnegie will give an organ to the Bethel Evangelical Swedish Lutheran Church at this place, to cost about $5,000. The gift was secured by Mrs. N. Forsberg of Buffalo, whose husband was once pastor of this church.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—The Federal Grand Jury has declined to indict H. B. Mackaye, Warren P. Freeman, and Wallace E. Freeman, three principals in the Freeman-Westinghouse controversy, because the case is in the United States Civil Courts.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Dr. Henderson, a tuberculosis expert of the State Board of Health, is in Watertown testing the herds of cattle whose milk has been found to contain tuberculosis germs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 20.—The Court of Appeals has sustained the law imposing a 2 per cent. tax on the earnings of foreign building and loan associations.

Information of public interest forwarded to that office will reach not only these local newspapers, but will be disseminated throughout the country by The United Press.

—Samuel Sisco, colored, of 117 Sullivan Street, who was arrested charged with burglary by John Sturzenegger, Jr., ten years old, of 115 Sullivan Street, was arraigned in Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday, and discharged by Magistrate Mott. The boy still stuck to his story, and was corroborated by two girls, but his father declared that the boy had lied to escape the consequences of punishment for leaving the house unprotected. He had accused Sisco of entering the house and tying him to a chair, and escaping with $150 worth of clothing and jewelry.

—The suspicion that George F. Walsh of Sherwood Street and Marion Avenue, who died suddenly at his home, Tuesday afternoon, had committed suicide by taking chloral, was removed yesterday by Coroner's Physician Donlon, who, after an autopsy, pronounced the cause of death apoplexy superinduced by Bright's disease.

—The fortieth anniversary of the Woman's Hospital will be held at the hospital, Fourth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, at 2:30 P. M., to-day. Reports will be read and addresses made by the Rev. John Hall, D. D.; William T. Lusk, M. D., and James C. Carter, and Mrs. Francis Wellman will sing.

"Frivolous Cupid."

"Frivolous Cupid" is the title of a new book by Anthony Hope, just published this month by Messrs. Platt, Bruce & Co. of New-York. It is claimed that its intensely modern and piquant contents cannot but add to the reputation and popularity of the talented author of "The Prisoner of Zenda." According to The Bookman, the same firm have made a very good start with their first publication, "The King's Stratagem," by Stanley J. Weyman, of which over 10,000 copies have been sold in four weeks.

A BAD DAY FOR SOROSIS

First Ignored on Committee and Then Called Egotistical.

MRS. HELMUTH, PRESIDENT, PROTESTS

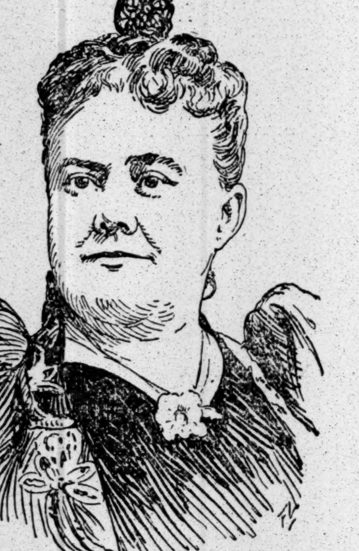
Two Breezes at the Session of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Brooklyn.

The first day of the convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs opened with such a gathering of women, in spite of the inclement weather yesterday morning, that the lecture room in the Young Women's Christian Association Building, Brooklyn, was more than comfortably filled.

It was a handsome, well-dressed, and cultivated gathering of women, who reflected credit upon the organizations to which they belonged.

Ropes of laurel for decoration gave a festive appearance to the room, and on the platform were big clusters of chrysanthemums.

It was late when the gavel, in the hands of the President, Mrs. "Jennie June" Croly, sounded for order, and the delegates concentrated their attention upon the platform. The address of welcome by the President, the response by Mrs. Mariana W. Chapman, President of the Brooklyn Woman's Club, and appointment of the nominating committee made up the order of exercises of the morning.



Mrs. William Tod Helmuth,
President of "Egotistical" Sorosis.

The committee and Sorosis took up the greatest part of the interest of the session. They occupied only a short space of time. The committee appointed included the following delegates: Mrs. Charles G. Freeman of the Woman's Club of Staten Island, Mrs. Hamtilton Ward of the Allegany County Federation of Clubs, Mrs. Amelia K. Wing of the Woman's Club of Brooklyn, Mrs. Benjamin Estes of the Colonia Club of Brooklyn, Mrs. Katherine Dunn of the Woman's Club of Jamaica, L. I.

Not one member of the Nominating Committee had been appointed from Sorosis, or even from a New-York club. That seemed rather hard, as Sorosis is always called and is entitled to the name of "Mother of Women's Clubs," from being a pioneer in that branch of women's advancement. So, at least, the members of the club thought.

Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, the President of Sorosis, who upholds the club's dignity upon every occasion, rose to make objection. She asked first that the names of the members of the committee and the bodies represented be read.

The members of the committee, all of them, represented clubs outside of New-York City. Although there were only five on the committee, there were nineteen clubs represented, Mrs. Hamilton Ward being a delegate from the Allegany County Federation, which is made up of fifteen clubs.

"I think," said Mrs. Helmuth when she had heard the reading, "that, as the idea of starting the federation was original with Sorosis, she should at least have one delegate on the Nominating Committee."

"Why not have one of the committee withdraw in favor of Sorosis?" suggested a voice, which was drowned with protestations.

"Another member might be added to the committee," suggested another voice, but this was also received with disfavor, and the committee remained as elected.

It was a trying time for the presiding officer, Mrs. Croly. As the founder and first President of Sorosis, its interests are very dear to her heart. She was numbered among the delegates as a representative of the New-York Woman's Press Club, but it is Sorosis to which she is most closely allied. The mother of woman's clubs felt grieved at another apparent reflection upon her general character in the report made by Mrs. Frances Goodale of the Corresponding Committee. Mrs. Goodale gave a brief description of the work and aims of each club in the federation, classifying them as the "altruistic, semi-altruistic, and egotistical clubs." Sorosis was placed under the last head.

At the close of the report, Mrs. Ella Dietz-Clymer, who occupied a seat on the platform as Vice President of the federation, arose to correct the statement. She read from the by-laws of Sorosis to prove that the club had always been engaged in philanthropic work, and had a Standing Committee on Philanthropy.

Mrs. Goodale disclaimed any feeling of ill will in her classification, but said from the meagre information sent in reply to her request for information, she had been able to put Sorosis among the egotists.

A luncheon was served to the delegates in the building, and in the afternoon the convention met in the large memorial hall on the main floor.

Mrs. Helmuth, Mrs. A. M. Palmer of the Professional Woman's League, Mrs. Helen H. Backus, Mrs. Alice A. Chadwick, Mrs. Alice Rich Northrop, President of the New-York Normal College Alumnae, and Mrs. Florence F. Vose were on the platform with Mrs. Croly.

Mrs. Northrop was the first speaker of the afternoon. Her subject was "Our Public Schools." "They rank," she said, "twenty-sixth in the order of schools, according to the census."

She then gave an account of the schools, speaking of the 50,000 children on the streets for whom there was no room in the schools and the inferior condition of the buildings, sanitary and otherwise. "That some of the teachers were mechanical and behind the age was one of the reasons," she said, "for the poor condition of the schools. "Compare our schools with Western and German schools," she went on, "and you will soon see their shortcomings."

She urged the clubs to take up this work in addition to whatever else they were doing. Parents, she said, were appallingly ignorant and indifferent as to where they sent their children to school.

Mrs. Chadwick spoke of the kindergarten and Mrs. Backus of "Women and the Woman's College."

Mrs. Russell Sage spoke of the Emma Willard Association in the short reports which followed. Mrs. Ella Hardin Walworth spoke of her experience in New-York as one of the first women school trustees, Mrs. Emma F. Pettengil spoke of her work as present member of the School Board in Brooklyn, and Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, referring to previous remarks upon manual training, said that all girls should learn to sew and cook.

An elaborate reception was given in the association parlors in the evening. There were beautiful floral decorations, music throughout the evening, and a collation.

Assisting Mrs. Andrew Jacobs on the Reception Committee were Miss Simms, Miss Conklin, Miss Whittemore, Miss Bertha West, and Miss Edna Doughty. Mrs. Horatio C. King and Mrs. J. F. Whitney were in charge of the arrangements for the reception.

The second day's session will begin at 10 o'clock this forenoon. The report of the Committee on Nomination and Election of Officers will be the first business of the morning.

Reports of special committees will follow. The afternoon session will be devoted to educational topics and reports of local clubs and societies.

There will be an evening session in Pratt Institute.

BRIDGE ACCIDENT INVESTIGATION

Grand Jurors Will Try to Place the Responsibility for the Loss of Two Lives Tuesday.

The fatal bridge accident of Tuesday morning is to be investigated by the Kings County Grand Jury. The Grand Jury of last month censured the bridge Trustees for the manner in which they had constructed the bridge terminal, and recommended that a competent board of engineers be engaged to properly arrange the terminal.

District Attorney Ridgway yesterday issued subpoenas for Superintendent C. C. Martin, Engineer Davis, who was in charge of the engine which was, according to Mr. Martin, the primary cause of the accident; Conductor Ross, Gripman Schaffer, and Conductor King, and they were notified to be in the room of the Grand Jury at 10 o'clock this morning.

Coroner Kene yesterday impaneled a jury that will investigate the death of Thomas Cooper and George Grannet. The inquest will be held in the Coroner's office on Tuesday evening next.

Bridge Trustee Henriques yesterday said: "The bridge has outlived its usefulness, we are carrying more passengers than we ought. When the bridge opened it carried 3,500 passengers an hour; now it carries 35,000. We cannot run more cars than we do, and the bridge has reached its limit in carrying passengers.

"I have an idea which I do not care to express until after the Coroner's inquest, still I will say that I think in the fog of yesterday the accident was unavoidable."

TESTIMONY AS TO MILK RATES

THE INQUIRY BY THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Charges for Condensed and Fresh Milk—The President of the Westcott Express Company Examined.

William J. Rogers, Secretary of the New-York Condensed Milk Company, was called yesterday morning before the Inter-State Commerce Commission, which is investigating the complaint of the Milk Producers' Protective Association regarding the railroad rates for milk.

The freight tariff on condensed milk, Mr. Rogers said, is from 10 to 12 cents a hundred pounds. On ordinary milk the tariff is 32 cents for forty quart bottles in a box, on all roads ending in Jersey City. The rate on roads entering Harlem is 30 cents.

It is difficult, he said, to get near-by sufficient milk for the purposes of his company, unless that of cows fed upon brewers' grain or other food "equally injurious to the milk," is taken.

Robert E. Westcott, President of the Westcott Express Company and owner of the Produce Dispatch, was the next witness. His company handles all the milk carried over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad. It is customary, he said, for representatives of various railroads to meet once a year and agree on milk rates. At one meeting they had agreed to raise the can rate upon cream from 42 to 50 cents. The charges are the same for 25 as for 300 miles—32 cents for milk and 50 cents for cream. Mr. Westcott said he receives 20 per cent. for his share of the transportation work, and during the last year his percentage amounted in the gross to about $100,000.

There were several little tilts between Mr. Choate and the witness during the lawyer's efforts to ascertain how much the Westcott Company is making out of the milk traffic. The witness finally admitted that his company had received more money during the first nine months of 1895, as its share, than in the entire year of 1894.

Mr. Westcott said he had been interested in the building of between fifty and 100 creameries on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad.

The gross figures, which he gave for the expense entailed in giving the extra milk service, were not, according to the plaintiff's counsel, "commensurate with the profit."

George O. Whitney, a Boston milk dealer, said that the railroads leading into that city charge so much a mile for transporting milk.

H. G. Fillman gave similar testimony regarding the Pennsylvania Railroad, of which he is Divisional Ticket Agent.

Dudley Evans, Manager of the Wells-Fargo Express Company, testified that the Erie Railroad compels his company to charge double rates for milk, so as to prevent its becoming a competitor in that branch of traffic.

After examining two or three other witnesses, the commission adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when the complainants expect to conclude their evidence. The commission announced that it could not extend the inquiry longer than this week.

QUEENS COUNTY BALLOTS COSTLY

Supervisors Will Find Out Why a High-Priced Bid Was Taken.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Nov. 20.—The Queens County Supervisors appointed to-day a committee, composed of Supervisors Denton, Everitt, and Underhill, to ascertain the rates paid by other counties per thousand for election ballots. It took 150,000 ballots to supply the polling places in Queens County, and County Clerk Sutphin made contracts with certain newspapers in the county to print the ballots. Some of the bills show that the printers expect to get $36 per thousand for the ballots.

It appears that the Island Publishing Company of Floral Park put in a bid to print the ballots for $4.50 per thousand, and deliver them in forty-eight hours.

The counsel for the County Clerk told the Supervisors at a meeting yesterday that the blank sheets of paper were worth $4.50 per thousand, and that, supposing a mistake had been made in this bid, no attention had been paid to it.

Joseph Oppenheimer, publisher of a newspaper at College Point, has filed with the Supervisors a protest as a taxpayer against the payment of the bills for printing the ballots.

PROGRAMME FOR NAVAL WAR COLLEGE

The Gulf of Mexico Will Witness Next Year's Operations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Secretary Herbert to-day issued the following order regarding the Naval War College:

The session of the Naval War College for 1896 will commence on the 1st day of June and terminate on the 1st day of October. It is the intention of the department to detail twenty-five officers—twenty of and above the grade of Lieutenant and five below that grade—for attendance during the session. From this class it is proposed to select five officers, upon the recommendation of the college, to continue the work of the college during the Winter and to prepare for next year's session.

The officers detailed will therefore be selected when possible from those who have a year or more to serve on shore duty.

The location of the principal problem of the session of 1896 will be the Gulf of Mexico.

The construction of a war chart and defense plan of the Nantucket Sound will be completed, and the general strategic consideration of Delaware and Chesapeake Bays will be begun.

New Method of Disinfecting Hides.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Secretary of the Treasury will issue a circular in a day or two giving the details of a new method of disinfection for imported hides of neat cattle, suggested by the Secretary of Agriculture, by means of sulphur fumigation for dry hides and immersion in a carbolic acid or bichloride of mercury solution for fresh or moist hides.

Money to Pay Pensioners

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Secretary of the Interior to-day drew upon the Secretary of the Treasury for $10,850,000 for quarterly pension payments, to be distributed at offices as follows: Washington, D. C., $2,025,000; San Francisco, $775,000; Detroit, $1,800,000; Columbus, $3,700,000; Boston, $1,800,000; Augusta, Me., $750,000.

Traction Company Sale Postponed.

The adjourned auction sale of the People's Traction Company franchise was to have taken place in the Controller's office yesterday, but Judge Beach's injunction again prevented it, and it was adjourned to Jan. 20.

LARGE PRICES FOR BOOKS

The Earl of Surrey's Songs and Sonnets Bring $1,680.

MANY RARE ENGLISH WORKS SOLD

High Bids for Scarce Volumes in the Adee Library—Fine Specimens of Early European Binders.

What is believed to be the finest copy in existence of the Earl of Surrey's "Songs and Sonnets" was purchased yesterday at the third day's sale of the David Adee Library, by J. O. Wright, who paid $1,680, the next highest bidder being G. H. Richmond. This is one of the rarest volumes of poetry in the English language. No other copy has been sold at auction for many years, nor is one likely to come into the market for a long time.

Henry Howard, Earl of Surrey, was the first poet to use blank verse in the English language, which he did in his translation of the second and fourth books of Virgil's "Aeneid." The book sold yesterday was printed by John Windet, in London, in 1585, thirty-eight years after the Earl was beheaded by Henry VIII. It was one of the seventh edition, the first edition being published in 1557, and its title runs: "Songes and Sonnets, Written by the Right Honorable Lord Henry Howard, late Earle of Surrey, and Others." It is printed in black letter, is an octavo volume, richly bound by Mathews, in full crimson crushed levant morocco, the sides being covered with a floriated design interlacing a Grolier pattern, with doublé of light blue levant, and delicately tooled borders to a lace pattern.

The sale yesterday was one of the most successful on record, the total for the day being $6,080. A number of out-of-town buyers were dismayed by the high prices bid by New-Yorkers. Among other collectors present were Gen. Rush C. Hawkins and Charles A. Woodward. Some of the books sold were:

John Heywoode's "Woorkes," small quarto de luxe edition by Cuzin, London, Thomas Powell, 1562, autograph presentation by the author, fine, tall, clean copy, exceedingly rare, first edition, $225.

Thomas Heywood's "Troia Britannica, or Great Britaines Troye," a poem, intermixed with poetical tales, quarto, vellum, first edition, London, W. Jaggard, one of Shakespeare's printers, 1609, $43; same author's "The First and Second Parts of King Edward the Fourth," de luxe edition by Bedford, third edition, London, 1613, fine copy, $67.50; same author's "A Woman Keilde with Kindnesse," London, I. NO CHANCE IN BUILDING STRIKE

The Men Willing to Submit the Differences to Arbitration.

There were no developments of importance in the strike of the Housesmiths and Bridge Builders' Union yesterday. Owing to the severe storm, all out-door work on buildings was suspended, and no attempt was made by the contractors who are involved in the strike to fill the places of the strikers.

The members of the State Board of Arbitration were in session at the Murray Hill Hotel and continued their efforts to settle the strike.

Before the conference Commissioner Feeney went to Clarendon Hall, which is the headquarters of the strikers, and received the assurance that the workmen were willing to submit to just arbitration and would abide by the decision.

The Executive Committee of the Iron League met yesterday afternoon and appointed J. M. Cornell, the President of the league; John Cooper of the Jackson Architectural Iron Company, B. E. J. Eils of the Hecla Iron Company, and W. J. Lyon, a sub-committee to confer with the Board of Arbitration. A conference was held at the Murray Hill Hotel, but no decision was reached. The conference will be resumed to-day.

The Board of Walking Delegates met yesterday afternoon, but took no action with reference to the strike.

DUNCAN CAMERON'S JEWELRY SOLD

A Valet Bid Too High on a Watch—Small Money Obtained.

A few pieces of jewelry belonging to Duncan Gwan Cameron, a judgment debtor and son of Sir Roderick Cameron, were sold at 9 East Twentieth Street yesterday by order of the receiver, H. R. Farjeon, who was recently appointed. There is a judgment of $1,260 against Cameron in favor of Henry Lewis, a London jeweler, and there have been numerous examinations in supplementary proceedings.

The jewelry consisted of a gold watch of heavy English pattern, with monogram, a diamond pin, sleeve links, and pearl studs.

A conspicuous figure at the sale was an Englishman who looked like a valet, as he later said he was. He came to bid on the watch and ran the bidding up to $81. He paid a fourteen-dollar deposit and went away. Late in the afternoon he returned and said he could not take the watch.

"Why not?" asked the auctioneer.

"Well, I have exceeded my master's orders; I'm his valet, you know."

The watch was put up again at a crockery sale then in progress, and the valet bid up to $60 and went away. The watch and the $14 are still with the auctioneer. The other articles brought about $70. The auctioneer refused any information as to buyers, &c., saying that he wanted no more trouble with the receiver.

Two Children Perished in Fire.

WILLIAMSTON, N. C., Nov. 20.—Two wooden buildings occupied by a colored man as a store and residence were burned last night. Two children were burned to death. Their father, with his wife and one child, barely escaped.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S APPOINTMENTS

Edwin M. Sweeny, the Rev. Dr. Richard Lalor Burtsell, the Rev. M. Kuhnen, and the Rev. John B. McGrath.

The Archbishop made very few changes.

HE WILL FIGHT MR. COMSTOCK

HENRY MILLER WANTS A DECISION ON "LE NU DE RABELAIS."

Because of a Conviction in the Court of Special Sessions Magistrate Kudlich Had to Hold Him.

Magistrate Kudlich, presiding in the First District Police Court, yesterday afternoon held for the action of the Grand Jury Henry Miller, the bookseller of 122 Nassau Street, who had been arrested at the instance of Anthony Comstock, for selling a copy of "Le Nu de Rabelais," a French work which is on sale in reputable book stores in London, Paris, and in this city, but which Mr. Comstock asserts is objectionable by reason of the nude pictures it contains.

The Magistrate did not enter into the merits of the case, but decided to hold Mr. Miller because there had been a previous conviction in the Court of Special Sessions on a plea of guilty, for the sale of the book. The decision of the Magistrate is perfectly satisfactory to the accused bookseller, as under the decision the case will be tried before a jury in the Court of General Sessions.

When the case was called yesterday, Magistrate Kudlich said: "Without going into the merits of this case or passing an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, I am compelled by the statute to hold the accused for trial. I am informed by the Judges of the Court of Special Sessions that a conviction was had in that court for the sale of the book in question here. Therefore, I must hold the defendant for trial."

The Magistrate was about to send the papers to the Court of Special Sessions, but Henry Thompson of Vanderpoel, Green & Cuming, counsel for Miller, demanded that the case be sent to the Court of General Sessions. He was informed by the Magistrate that under the present statute it would be necessary for him to make application for a transfer of the case to the General Sessions when the case is put on the Special Sessions calendar. At the request of Mr. Thompson, the demand for a trial by jury was indorsed on the papers. Miller and his clerk, George F. Carew, then renewed the bail given previously and were released.

As the action of Magistrate Kudlich yesterday was based entirely upon a previous conviction obtained in the Court of Special Sessions, it is necessary to explain how the conviction was obtained. Emile Collas and his wife, a respectable French couple, keep a small book store in South Fifth Avenue, near Bleecker Street, their patrons being almost entirely French people. Comstock and two of his aids invaded this shop Nov. 4, and seized about $50 worth of books, among which was a book called "Beautiful Paris," which contained also "Le Nu de Rabelais," photogravures of the paintings of Garnier, a celebrated French artist, illustrative of Rabelais. Collas and Omari Boyle, a friend who was helping him in the book shop, were arrested, and were held for trial. Neither of them speaks English, and they were both much frightened at their arrest. They were arraigned in the Court of Special Sessions Nov. 12, and were induced to plead guilty by the representation that if they did so plead, they would be punished by a nominal fine.

Collas was fined $150, and in addition was sentenced to twenty days' confinement in the city prison. Boyle was fined $10, and imprisoned for ten days. Collas is still in the Tombs. It is this conviction that Mr. Comstock insisted should govern the action of Magistrate Kudlich in the case of Miller and his clerk, Carew, a conviction had upon a plea of guilty without the merits of the case having been gone into.

Miller said last evening that he proposes to fight the case to the end, and obtain an adjudication either by the Grand Jury or a petit jury of the question whether the books which he is accused of selling, and similar volumes which he has had openly on sale in his store for yeare are legitimate works of art, as he claims them to be.

WHY PRESIDENT HILL RESIGNED

It Is Said He Could Not Agree with the Faculty.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 20.—President David J. Hill of the University of Rochester, who tendered his resignation yesterday at the close of the chapel exercises, this morning was called back by repeated encores on the part of the students, and spoke a few words relative to his resignation, but gave no reasons for resigning. A man familiar with the affairs of the college said this morning: "The resignation is doubtless the result of the difference of opinion between Mr. Hill and members of the Faculty of the Theological Seminary. Not long ago there was printed in The Baptist Examiner the Robbins letters, charging Dr. Hill with, in general terms, trying to alienate the institution from the Baptists."

Chicago Gas Trust Having Trouble.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—By mutual consent the hearing of the application for an injunction against the organization of the Chicago gas companies has been postponed until Dec. 2. It has been said that Attorney General Hancock of New-York will take a hand in the fight and block the way of reorganization. Attorney General Maloney said yesterday that he has just received a call from the Gas Trust lawyers, who promised to submit the plan to him next week.

Wheat Cannot Have Free Entry.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 20.—The Customs Department, replying to an inquiry whether Manitoba wheat shipped in United States vessels, from Duluth to Buffalo, and stored in bonded elevators there, can be brought into Ontario duty free, if so desired, states that wheat so shipped cannot be allowed free entry into Canada, as the carrying of grain by this route and in the way proposed would be contrary to Canadian coasting and customs laws.

Mrs. Smith's Laces Sold.

The sale of the collection of the late Sarah A. Smith of Philadelphia was finished yesterday at the rooms of the American Art Association. The highest price paid was $425 for six and a half yards of Venetian point lace. The proceeds of the sale go to the support of the children's playground in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, which Mrs. Smith's husband founded.

FOR TERMINUS OF BRIDGE

Sinking Fund Decides Location of the New-Jersey Structure.

FAVORS SITE AT WEST SIXTIETH STREET

Company Desired to Go Nine Blocks Above—To This There Was Opposition—Question of Value and Taxation.

It was decided yesterday afternoon by the Sinking Fund Commission to locate the New-York terminus of the New-York and New-Jersey Bridge between the southerly side of West Fifty-ninth Street and the northerly side of West Sixtieth Street, 100 feet west of Eleventh Avenue. This location has a frontage of 320 feet.

This decision did not take the form of a resolution, but President Andrew H. Green of the Bridge Commission was told that such a location would meet the unanimous approval of the Sinking Fund Commission, and no other. The approval of the Sinking Fund Commissioners is necessary to the location of the site. The commission met in the afternoon to decide the question.

The Bridge Commission wanted the site located at West Sixty-ninth Street. Much opposition to this was developed at previous hearings.

Ira A. Place, representing the New-York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, presented a protest yesterday. One point was that the proposed erection of the terminus between Sixty-eighth and Sixty-ninth Streets would make necessary the construction of a pier which would destroy a large part of Pier I of the railroad company, which is the only one thereabout on which freight can be transferred from seagoing vessels to cars.

Another point was that the long stretch of approach between Sixtieth and Sixty-third Streets would entail piers between the tracks of the railway, and interfere with the traffic. As the company owns all of the water front above Sixtieth Street to where the proposed terminal was to be, Mr. Place argued that the charter of the bridge company gave it no right to condemn for its own use lands already dedicated to public use as the railway lands were. He said that, as the justification of the bridge was its usefulness to the city, the Sinking Fund Commissioners had no right to cripple the usefulness of a railway. He warned the commission that the railroad company intended to contest in the courts every step taken by the New-York and New-Jersey Bridge Company to acquire the railroad rights.

Controller Fitch asked if the location of the bridge at Fifty-ninth Street would be harmful to the railroad. Mr. Place said that it would not, except so far as it affected its leased lands.

R. Floyd Clarke, counsel for the bridge company, said, in answer to Mr. Place, that the whole matter had become a question whether or not the railroad owns the city. Mr. Clarke said that the Sinking Fund Commission was not called upon to decide the legality of the bridge company's charter.

Recorder Goff asked if it was an engineering impossibility to have the bridge at Fifty-ninth Street. Mr. Clarke said that it was not, but that it would cost more for anchorages and foundations. There was also a possibility of there not being enough room there.

James M. McDonald, for the West End Association, protested against the location of the bridge at Sixty-ninth Street. He used the same arguments he employed at the previous hearing.

"We have found out," said Mayor Strong, "that the taxable value of the property to be used by the bridge for its terminal from Sixtieth to Forty-third Streets and Seventh Avenue is $10,000,000, and of the abutting property, $2,000,000, making the actual value about $20,000,000."

"Then let us talk about taxation," said the Controller, turning to William Foster of the bridge company. "Is there anything in your charter that will exempt you from local taxation?"

"There is not," said Mr. Forster.

"Do you admit," went on the Controller, "that a reasonable taxation will be to take the assessed value of the land you occupy and a fair valuation of the improvements?"

"We will enter into any agreement which seems fair to you, gentlemen," said Mr. Forster.

"I should like to have it in writing," said the Controller.

After this the Sinking Fund Commissioners went into executive session. Afterward the Mayor announced that they would approve of the erection of the bridge landing between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets. The Mayor also said:

"We are not yet ready to pass upon the approaches to the bridge. Before we do that we want to have before us the specifications in the fullest detail. The selection of this site will entail a greater cost on the bridge company, but this will be partially offset by gains. There will, it is estimated, be a gain of over half a million in not having to build a viaduct 100 feet wide from Sixtieth Street to Sixty-ninth Street, to connect with the approaches. In order to get the proper grade, the tracks of the approach will have to be raised fourteen feet higher than they were originally intended. But this will be offset by the greater warehouse capacity secured by the company."

The Sinking Fund Commission, at its regular meeting in the morning, approved the plans submitted by the Dock Department for the erection of piers, bulkheads, and marginal walls on the west side of the Harlem River, in the vicinity of Sherman Creek, and authorized the Dock Board to spend $175,000 toward the completion of part of the work that is immediately required.

City Chamberlain Anson G. McCook, to whom was referred the Veteran Firemen-Essex Market dispute, reported that he had carefully considered the matter, and he was of the opinion that the old firemen were entitled to some consideration. The commission came to the conclusion to allow the firemen to occupy their present quarters in Essex Market until that building is torn down to make way for the erection of a school. After that President Maclay of the Board of Education will be asked to find them suitable or temporary quarters until the trouble can be finally settled.

NEW-JERSEY ODD FELLOWS

Meeting of the Grand Lodge—Full Attendance and Cheering Reports.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 20.—The Grand Lodge of New-Jersey, I. O. O. F., convened in Masonic Temple this forenoon. Grand Master John H. Griffiths called the body to order. There was a large number of Past Grand Masters present, who, with the representatives from the subordinate lodges, made up an attendance altogether of nearly 500.

The report of Grand Secretary Lewis Parker, shows: Brothers relieved, 2,987; widowed families relieved, 130; amount of weekly benefits paid, $25,806; paid for relief of brothers, $101,591.64; paid for education of orphans, $115.49; paid for the burial of the dead, $29,859.65; special relief, $5,330.67; total relief, $139,086.73; annual receipts, $259,237.52.

The statistics of the Order in general, Jan. 1, 1895, were: Grand Lodges, 56; Grand Encampments, 80; subordinate lodges, 10,592; subordinate encampments, 2,610; Rebekah lodges, 3,627; lodge initiations, 63,845; encampment initiations, 9,407; lodge members, 790,795; encampment members, 134,330; Rebekah members, 225,189; relief of lodges, $2,993,457.69; relief of encampments, $284,540.33; relief of Rebekah lodges, $45,313.74; total relief, $3,323,311.96; revenue of lodges, $7,474,338.66; revenue of encampments, $615,932.07.

The business of the session will include the election of officers for the coming year, besides many important matters of legislation.

To Aid Swedish Immigrants.

The Swedish Emigrant and Aid Society of New-York will hold its third annual fair in Varuna Hall, 164 to 168 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, Thursday, Nov. 21, to Saturday, Nov. 23. The proceeds of the fair are to be used for the benefit of Swedish immigrants and in maintaining an agent at the United States Free Labor Bureau, Barge Office, who will care for their interests and assist those in need.

ARE GOING BACK TO HOLLAND

A New Move in the Strike of the Diamond Workers in This City—Supported by the Home Union.

The American Liner St. Louis sailed yesterday with thirty diamond workers bound for Holland. About fifty others preceded them last week, and the 175 workers who are participating in the strike in this city will probably follow soon. This will leave New-York diamond merchants practically helpless.

Owing to the heavy duty on cut diamonds, expert cutters have come from Holland. A short time ago these men formed a union and made a demand for shorter hours and higher wages. With the exception of one firm the employers did not recognize the union.

The 14,000 organized diamond workers in Holland, who recently won a strike for an increase of wages of 30 per cent., are defraying the expenses of the New-York strikers, paying their fares back to Holland and finding them work on their return. Contract Labor Inspector James McKim made complaint yesterday to United States Commissioner Shields, on evidence furnished by the union, against ten diamond workers who came to this country under contract and who refused to join the strike.

WORK ON APPRAISERS' STORES

MR. CARLISLE PROMISED TO RECOMMEND AN APPROPRIATION.

Financial Men Pleased with His Chamber of Commerce Speech—Some Look for a Monetary Commission.

In conformity with an appointment arranged last week, Secretary Carlisle met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday morning the Chamber of Commerce special committee named to urge the completion of the Appraiser's Warehouse, at Greenwich and Christopher Streets. The committee consists of President Alexander E. Orr, ex officio; James McCreery, Hicks Arnold, John W. Aitken, F. B. Thurber, and John Sloane.

Secretary Carlisle signified his agreement with all that his callers said. He promised to recommend in his report to Congress an appropriation for the work. No progress has been made on the building for nearly two years, the appropriation running low when it reached a height of two stories. Plans had been drawn for a ten-story building.

Secretary Carlisle said yesterday that, although the appropriation had been replenished, he doubted if the structure could be finished by next September, because, on account of the advance in iron, he doubted if the money originally proposed for the work would be sufficient.

Secretary Carlisle did not visit the Sub-Treasury or the Custom House. Appraiser Bunn went to the Custom House, hoping to meet him. He would have been cordially received down town, for bankers and merchants were much pleased with his speech at the Chamber of Commerce dinner. Some of them thought it foreshadowed the exercise of Administration influence for a monetary commission, to take in hand the currency problem.

Ex-Congressman William J. Coombs, who pleaded for such a commission in the House at the last session, and who has since watched closely the drift of public feeling regarding the currency, said he thought the coming Congress, reflecting the improved common intelligence, might be persuaded to give the commission plan a trial as a means out of increasing difficulties in Government finance.

Little talk was heard of the gold situation in connection with Mr. Carlisle's visit. It seemed to be assumed that nothing good could come from its discussion just now, while a show of concern over it might be disquieting. W. H. Crossman & Brother withdrew $1,000,000 for shipment to-day. This will bring shipments for the present week to $2,750,000, and for the month to $6,130,000. Exchange rates eased slightly in the afternoon, but they are still high enough to insure a good profit in gold exports.

HOSPITAL FAIR OPENED AT ORANGE

Well-Known Society Ladies in Charge of the Charitable Work.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 20.—The annual fair for the benefit of the Memorial Hospital was opened this afternoon in Berkeley Hall, East Orange, and the attendance, particularly to-night, was large, and augurs well for the success of this great charitable event of the year in the Oranges. The fair is to remain open to-morrow afternoon and evening. It is one of the most attractive ever held, and is in charge of the Entertainment and Sales Committee of the Lady Board of Governors of the hospital, of which Mrs. William B. Arnold is Chairman.

There is a profusion of flowers and potted plants, especially chrysanthemums, in every available nook and corner, and the many booths are also artistically draped and festooned in special colors with bunting, flags, and ribbons, while society belles arrayed in becoming and stylish gowns are everywhere present to wait on customers. The arrangement of the booths is also artistic. The Edison phonograph, the Edison kinetoscope, and a fairy goose are among the special attractions. A full orchestra furnishes music both afternoon and evening. The ladies in charge of the various booths are as follows:

Embroidery—Mrs. Charles Hathaway, Mrs. Frank B. Colton, Miss Wiggin, Mrs. Wilberforce Freeman, Miss Ella Coursen, assisted by Miss Marion Freeman, Miss Helen Freeman, Miss Agnes Zimmermann, Miss Alice Taylor, and Miss Lena Yuengling.

Miscellaneous Articles—Mrs. Henry J. W. S. Cooke, Mrs. Manton B. Metcalf, Mrs. Jacob Mesereau, assisted by Mrs. Walter I. McCoy.

Household Articles—Mrs. Ellis H. Masters, Mrs. Samuel D. Church, Miss Alice Pierson.

Shades and Candlesticks—Mrs. Francis M. Eppley, Miss Rita Jackson, assisted by Miss Laura Bowers, Miss Bredt, Miss Phoebe Rollinson, Miss Mabel Frazer, Miss Georgiana Wilmerding, Mrs. David Valentine.

Fancy Articles—Miss Mary Reynolds, Miss Josephine Van Der Kieft, Miss J. Louise Dodd, Mrs. George M. Gill, Miss Agnes Mills, Miss Emma Spencer, Miss Jessie Vilas, Miss Kate Sweetser, Miss Louise Sutherland.

Flowers—Mrs. William Barr, Mrs. Frederick W. Kelsey, Mrs. Charles H. Gillespie, Jr., Miss Johnson, assisted by Miss Burke, Miss Nellie Babcock, Miss Alma Cohen, Miss Margaret Yardley, Miss Gertrude Chittick, Mrs. Lloyd, Miss Belle Ward, Miss Jessie Olcott, Miss Mathilda Pilot, Miss Margaretta Schuyler, Miss Anna Jackson, Miss Spencer.

Candy—Mrs. Harrison Whittingham, Mrs. Joseph D. Pickslay, assisted by Miss Julia Adams, Miss Susie Chandler, Miss Alice Curtis, Miss Mamie Rogers, Miss Helen Mohr, Miss Hilda Mole, Miss Charlotte Rogers.

Delicacies—Mrs. John N. Robins, Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Loutrel, Miss Mary Scudder, Mrs. J. Hammond Bradshaw.

Lemonade—Mrs. Paul F. Gerhard, assisted by Mrs. William H. Aymar, Miss Lola Van Kaempf, Miss Bertha Gerhard.

Refreshments—Mrs. George E. Adams, Mrs. Henry P. Bailey, Mrs. Theodore F. Wood, Mrs. Horace Stetson.

FRIENDS OF THE REDMEN MEET

Indian Girls Address Members of the Connecticut Association.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 20.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the Connecticut Indian Association was held at the Centre Church this afternoon.

Mrs. Kate Foote Coe of Meriden read a report of the trouble with the Bannock Indians at Fort Hall last Summer, in which she blamed the white settlers for the trouble. Miss Marie E. Ives of New-Haven related the doings of the Lake Mohonk conference.

Three Oneida Indian girls, sisters, named Cornelius, made brief addresses. One of the girls—Isabella—is a graduate of the New-Britain Normal School.

W. W. Culver in Contempt of Court.

Weeks W. Culver, a lawyer who had an office in the Bennett Building, was arrested yesterday on an order by Judge Cullen directing the Sheriff to confine him in Ludlow Street Jail for contempt of court.

Culver is said to have collected $1,195 for Annie J. Hanley of Brooklyn and converted it to his own use. He was arrested in September, but was released on the payment of $500 and a promise to pay the balance by Nov. 1. This he has failed to do.

STATE ASSESSORS NAMED

Gov. Morton Appoints Three Republicans as the New Board.

NEW-YORK CITY NOT REPRESENTED

All the New Members Come from the Smaller Towns—Take the Places Now Held by Democrats.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—Gov. Morton appointed as the new Board of State Assessors to-day Martin Heermance of Poughkeepsie, Edwin L. Adams of Elmira, and Rollin L. Jenkins of Moriah, Essex County.

Heermance is the Governor's personal selection, and though said to have the indorsement of the Republican State machine, is called a Mugwump by some of the Dutchess County Republicans about the Capitol.

Adams is ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett's man, and is the managing editor of The Elmira Advertiser.

Jenkins is the choice of State Committeeman Witherbee of Port Henry. They succeed to the places held by the three Democrats, John A. Maston of New-York City, William H. Wood of Poughkeepsie, and Henry D. Brewster of Weedsport, appointed by Gov. Flower, who recognized the claim of New-York County to representation on the State Board of Assessors, since it is obliged to pay one-half of the taxes of the State.

Poughkeepsie is the nearest that Gov. Mortons' commission touches New-York. The Governor made his selection from over seventy applicants for the places, and after he had made the appointments, several letters and telegrams urging the claims of other candidates were received. The appointment of State Assessors might have been made last Spring, and great pressure was brought to bear on the Governor at that time, but he positively refused, on the ground that it looked too much like a scramble for office, to which he would not be a party.

He has resisted all attempts of the party organization to hurry him, and has allowed the Democratic Assessors to remain in office till he was ready to name their successors. He is pursuing the same course with the office of State Factory Inspector, the State Inspector of Gas Meters, and the Superintendent of State Prisons, regardless of the complaints of bosses and hungry office seekers.

Even Mr. Platt has not been able to change this policy, and it is generally understood at the Capitol that he will not accede to the wishes of the Platt Republicans in summarily removing Sheriff Tamsen, at least not until the New-York courts have taken some action on the Sheriff's case.

Gov. Morton to-day formally designated the Attorney General to prosecute charges preferred by ex-Congressman Weaver and ex-Sheriff White of Clinton County against Austin Lathrop, Superintendent of State Prisons. Eton R. Brown of Watertown, who was appointed a Commissioner to take testimony, will, now that counsel for both sides are arranged for, shortly designate a date for the first sitting.

Gov. Morton has appointed Arthur L. Andrews of Albany one of the commission to devise charters for cities of the second class, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alden Chester, Justice-elect of the Supreme Court.

COMPLAINTS OF THE BAKERS

WOULD IMPROVE THE SHOPS IN WHICH THEY WORK.

Filthy Places, They Say, Where Men Are Obliged to Sleep and Animals Make Their Homes.

There is considerable agitation going on at present among the journeymen bakers in this city over the question of their small wages, long hours, and, above all, the uncleanliness of the shops in which they work.

There was a meeting last night of the International Bakers' Union, in East Fourth Street, at which the grievances of the journeymen were fully discussed.

"It is not so much our long hours and poor pay," said Charles Iffland, manager of the union, to a reporter for THE NEW-YORK TIMES yesterday, "that we are fighting for, although they are worth vigorous and earnest effort; but it is the improvement of the bakeshops that we are aiming at first of all. At a mass meeting we held recently we passed this resolution:

"The conditions in the great majority of the bakeshops of this city are a menace both to the health of the breadmakers and the great body of consumers, the shops being situated in damp and miasma-breeding cellars, totally devoid of the proper safeguards to preserve the cleanliness and wholesomeness of the goods therein produced.

"The bakeshops of the east side are dirty and filthy beyond description," continued Mr. Iffland, "and we consider it most necessary that they should be inspected and kept clean.

"The majority of the men board with the 'bosses' and sleep in the bakeshop. They work fifteen or sixteen hours a day and receive only $8.50 a week. The bakeshops in the cellars are overrun with cockroaches and other insects, while dogs, goats, and cats make their homes in the unoccupied corners. It is impossible to produce a loaf of good bread without healthy conditions for the bakers.

"I know one place on the lower west side where the men sleep on straw in the horse stables and go to work in the morning without even washing themselves. How can they make clean, healthful bread?

"We want the Legislature to amend the bakers' law in several ways. No animals should be allowed in the bakeshops. The bakeshops should not be underground nor their ceilings lower than nine feet. Proper ventilation and airshafts should be provided. The sleeping quarters of men who board and sleep with the 'bosses' should be inspected.

"The law that was passed last May has done a lot of good. We have Inspectors at work, and many of the most filthy bakeshops have been either torn down or renovated and cleaned."

The journeymen bakers are also fighting for a ten-hour working day, and will hold another mass meeting next week.

BATTLESHIP INDIANA IN COMMISSION

Navy Department Orders Read and the Ensign Hoisted.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—The United States battleship Indiana was placed in commission at the League Island Navy Yard at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremonies were brief, comprising the reading of the orders from the Navy Department and the hoisting of the ensign at the flagstaff aft.

With the ship's officers, sailors, and marines to the number of 200 drawn up on the quarter deck, and in the presence of Commandant Farquhar of the League Island Navy Yard, Lieutenant Commander Swift, in the absence of Capt. Robley D. Evans, who will command the vessel, read the orders. Commandant Farquhar then ordered the hoisting of the ensign, and this order was repeated by Lieutenant Commander Swift.

Capt. Evans was prevented from being present by an attack of rheumatic gout.

The Indiana's full crew will number 480, and the remainder of the men will arrive to-morrow from the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Before the battleship went into commission, and while lying at the League Island Navy Yard, she was under charge of Commandant Farquhar.

Price of Sewing Silk Goes Up.

At a special meeting of the Silk Association of America held yesterday at 70 Grand Street, the price of twist and sewing silk was advanced 5 per cent. The price goes into effect Dec. 2. This is the second advance on this quality of silk this year, the price having advanced 10 per cent. on Sept. 12. The advance is caused by the recent rise in the price of raw silk.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

An Active Covering Movement Results in Higher Prices.

GOLD STILL GOING OUT IN VOLUME

The Trunk Line Agreement, Secretary Carlisle's Speech, and the Burlington Dividend Encouraging Factors—Foreign Liquidation.

WEDNESDAY—P. M.

Professional traders regarded to-day's news as somewhat more reassuring. Home conditions, barring the gold shipments, are by no means discouraging, but the uncertainty prevailing abroad holds in check any disposition there may be on the part of outsiders to buy stocks, even at the low level now existing. It is recognized that foreign liquidation of what may be called speculative holdings has about run its course, but the fear remains that the accounts of houses which had to be assisted over the recent settlement are yet to be liquidated. The agreement of the Trunk Line Presidents reached yesterday, the tone of Secretary Carlisle's speech at the dinner of the Chamber of Commerce last evening, and the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent. by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Directors to-day are incidents tending to the creation of a better feeling.

While to-day's market was almost wholly professional, its disposition to advance was evidence that the importance of the incidents referred to was not lost on the traders. Whether the recovery, which became pronounced in the afternoon, is the beginning of a permanent upward movement time alone can answer, but the anxiety to cover short contracts was so pronounced that it is not risking much to assert that the prominent bear leaders feel that the decline has about run its course for the present. At the same time the London market was uneasy under heavy selling from the Continent, although Americans closed somewhat better than the worst. There was quiet selling here of the international stocks in the afternoon by the arbitrage brokers at the advance.

Messrs. Crossman made arrangements to ship $1,000,000 gold by to-morrow's steamer, and it is understood that the firm will ship another million on Saturday. Several foreign banking houses have also intimated that they will be shippers on Saturday unless there should be a radical change in the exchange situation in the meantime, something not at all likely to occur. Rates of exchange were slightly easier to-day, but this was the natural result of the placing of the bills against the gold exported.

The active stocks to-day were Burlington, St. Paul, Tobacco, Western Union, Sugar, and Louisville and Nashville, and all, with the exception of Burlington, which was down ¼, closed higher. Western Union led the advance, its net gain being 1¼ points. Final prices were in many instances the best of the day.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The money market was quiet. Call loans were at 1½@2 per cent. The last loan was made at 1½ per cent.

Time money was in light demand, but the offerings were liberal. Rates were at 2 per cent. for 30 days, 2½ per cent. for 60 days, 3 per cent. for 90 days and four months, and 3½ per cent. for six months.

Commercial paper continued quiet. Quotations were 4@4½ per cent. for 60 to 90 days' indorsements, 4½@5 per cent. for four months' acceptances, 4½@5 per cent for four months' single names of the highest class, and 5@5¼ per cent. for six months' single names of the same grade.

Clearing House exchanges to-day, $96,448,662; balances, $6,356,916; Sub-Treasury debit balances, $393,772.

Money on call in London, 1 per cent.; open market rate of discount, 1½@1⅝ per cent. for both short and three months' bills.

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC EXCHANGE.

The foreign exchange market was firm. Nominal rates were $4.88½ for 60 days and $4.90 for demand. Actual sales were at $4.87¾ for 60-day bills, $4.89¼ for demand, $4.89¾ for cable transfers, and $4.86½@$4.87 for commercial.

In Continental, francs were quoted at 5.16⅞ for long and 5.15 for short, reichsmarks at 95¼ and 95¾, and guilders at 40⅜ and 40⅝.

New-York exchange was quoted as follows: Chicago—40 premium. Boston—5 discount to par. San Francisco—Sight, 1-16 premium; telegraphic, ⅛ premium. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛ premium. New-Orleans—Commercial, 50 discount; bank, par. Savannah—Buying, par; selling, one-eighth of 1 per cent. premium up to $5,000; one-tenth of 1 per cent. premium for $5,000 and over.

BULLION STATISTICS.

Silver bullion certificates were quoted at 67¼@67¾. There were no sales.

The commercial price of bar silver was 67c per ounce. Mexican silver dollars were quoted at 54c.

In London bar silver sold at 30⅝d per ounce.

The following is a comparative statement of the gold movement since 1892:

Exports from Jan. 1, 1895, to date	$74,837,343
Imports for the same period	25,099,332

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—The local market opened weak and irregular, with the specialties commonly called "Philadelphia Kafirs" the centre of attraction. Electric Storage Battery common opened at 35½, a decline of 5½ per cent., and the preferred at 36, a decline of 5 per cent. This naturally unsettled the other market. Welsbach opened down 1¾ per cent., at 69. This was followed by a further decline to 66½. About 10:30 o'clock the market began to receive support, and it closed at the best prices. Electric Storage sold up to 40, the preferred to 41½, and Welsbach to 72. United Gas Improvement, after an early decline to 84¾, advanced and closed at 86, a net gain of 1 per cent. Pennsylvania Heat opened ⅝ lower, at 14⅝, and declined to 13⅛, but subsequently rallied and closed at 14½. Choctaw was weak on realizing and declined to 14⅛, a net loss of ⅞ per cent. In the tractions, Metropolitan opened ½@⅝ higher, but failed to hold its advance and closed unchanged at 114. Union Traction was weak and declined to 15⅛, but, with the rest of the market, rallied in the last hour and closed at 15½. Philadelphia sold at 72½, Baltimore at 17¾, and Indianapolis at 50. The balance of the market was strong, especially for Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley, which advanced fractionally, the former to 53½ and the latter to 40¼. The market at the close was strong at advances generally of ½ to 1¼ per cent.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Trading to-day was confined chiefly to Lake Street and West Chicago. In spite of the good showing made by the former yesterday in earnings, the stock declined on heavy selling by the bears. The short interest has undoubtedly been largely increased in the last day or two. There was some covering to-day at the decline. West Chicago declined about 1½ from yesterday's price. There appears to have been considerable selling of long stock. Alley declined fractionally. Diamond Match was dull but in fair demand. Bonds were dull. The market closed fairly steady.

THE BOSTON MARKET.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The market for local stocks was very dull, and the tone on the whole weak, though the better class of investment securities held up well, and advances in some cases were made. The telephone stocks were quiet, with Bell down 1, to 199, and New-England Telephone off 1¼, to 85. Mexican Central 4s were down ¾, to 67, and the first incomes off ½, to 20½. Fitchburg preferred strengthened ½, to 93, and New-York, New-Haven and Hartford rose the same amount, to 185½. Old Colony was steady at 179, and West End Street Railway at 69½.

Copper in London fell ½, to 42½ for spot and 42⅞ for futures. This caused still further weakness on the market for copper shares, prices generally ranging considerably lower than yesterday. Boston and Montana declined 2¼, to 67, but recovered to 67⅞, and closed at 67⅝. Butte lost ⅜, to 15⅛, closing at 15⅜. Calumet and Hecla dropped 3, to 300, and Franklin, which rose ½ on the opening, closed at 12, the same as yesterday. Quincy fell 2, to 118, recovering later to 119. Tamarack rose 2, to 137, with the Junior firm at 15½. Wolverine gained ⅛, to 6½. The only activity shown was in Boston and Montana, in which sales were quite heavy. It is thought probable the short interest has increased somewhat in the last two days.

Money between banks loaned at 3 per cent. New-York funds sold at 3 to 5 cents discount.

TO LOOK AFTER MINING STOCKS

Consolidated Exchange Committees to Examine Lists of Properties.

Measures were taken yesterday to coax a mining boom to the Consolidated Exchange. President Wilson appointed a special committee, consisting of L. J. Werner, M. E. De Aquero, S. F. Strong, H. E. Jenkins, and A. D. Moir to co-operate with the regular Mining Committee of the Exchange in devising a plan.

The two committees conferred in the afternoon, and decided to examine the lists of the properties on which the present Colorado boom is based, with the view of making attractive selections for trading here.

The scheme will be to choose only properties that pay dividends or seem promising in that direction, and, as one of the committee said, "to keep clear of holes in the ground," in which the Cripple Creek region abounds.

Capital Over a Million.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 20.—Articles of incorporation were filed in the County Clerk's office to-day by the Appert Glass Company. The incorporators are Henry W. Meen of this city and Herbert F. Hatch of East Orange. The capital stock is $1,200,000.

Articles of incorporation were also filed by the Power Transmitter Company. The incorporators are Herbert F. Hatch of East Orange and George Birrell and Patrick Eagan of New-York. The capital stock is $1,000,000.

Paid $300 to Conscience Fund.

Controller Fitch received a letter yesterday with a quick delivery stamp on it. It inclosed three crisp one-hundred-dollar bills. On a sheet of note paper was written: "This money is due the city."

There was no signature, and nothing to indicate the sender.

ONE TRUST SQUEEZES ANOTHER

The Salt Combine Worries the Chicago Packers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A morning paper says: The leading packers in the stockyards, as well as the lesser ones, are worried by the salt combine, which has been raising prices until now it seems the effect of the Salt Trust's squeeze will cost the packers a matter of $400,000 a year. An interesting feature of the affair is that Joy Morton, eldest son of Secretary of Agriculture Morton, established the salt combine, and is now making a more successful fight on the packers than his father did. Rock salt has been advanced in price nearly 100 per cent.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

Very Steady Markets, with Speculation Moderate.

BUSINESS MAINLY LOCAL SCALPING

Wheat at the Close Was Steady—Corn Was Firm—Provisions Easy—Cotton Steady—Coffee Lower.

The grain trading was confined to local scalpers, as outside news was very scarce and without importance, while the general run of prices was to steadiness. Provisions were influenced by the heavy receipts of swine and closed weak. Cotton was unsettled, but closed at an advance. Coffee was freely offered and closed lower.

WINTER—Fine, $2.25 per bbl; supers, $2.65@$2.70; No. 2, $2.80@$3; No. 1, $3@$3.10; clears, $3.15@$3.35; straights, $3.40@$3.50; white wheat straights, $3.35@$3.45; patents, $3.50@$3.90; city patents, $4@$4.25; city clears, $4; city extras, $3.20; city supers, $3@$3.10; city fine, $2.90@$3.

SPRING—Sacks and Barrels—Fine, $2@$2.10; supers, $2.10@$2.30; No. 2, $2.25@$2.50; No. 1, $2.40@$2.80; clears, $2.65@$3.15; straights, $3.10@$3.40; patents, $3.15@$3.50; special brands, $3.40@$4.10.

RYE FLOUR—Barely steady and quiet. Sales, 500 bbls. We quote: Western and State superfine, $2.50@$2.90; fancy, $2.95.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Light demand and weak at $1.25@$1.35 per 100 lb....Buckwheat quoted at 41¼@42c, with 20,000 bushels sold, part at 41½c.

BARLEY AND BARLEY MALT—Nominal.

OATMEAL—Demand light at steady prices. Quoted: Rolled oats, $2.90@$3.30; cut, $3.20@$3.60; ground, $2.90@$3, including wholesale and jobbing prices for fresh goods; No. 3 pearled barley, $1.60@$1.85.

CORN PRODUCTS—Inactive at steady prices. We quote: Brandywine, $2.55; Sagamore, $2.55; Esmeralda, $2.50; granulated yellow meal, $2.40@$2.60; white do, $2.60@$2.70; brewers' meal, 90c; grits, 90@95c; chops, 67½c; coarse meal, 74c; fine do, 85@90c.

FEED—Very steady and quiet. Quoted: 40, 60, and 80 lb, 60@65c; middlings, 67½@72½c; sharps, 80@85c; rye feed, 72½@75c; cottonseed meal, $18@$18.50, spot or to arrive; job lots $1 extra; screenings, 50@75c for No. 2 seed and 75c for No. 1.

OILS.

COTTONSEED—There was very little new crude in barrels on offer here, and 25½c would have been paid for choice; but of refined there was a good deal of the oil arriving that had been bought a little while since on speculation, and its owners were seeking an outlet for a portion of it at least rather than incur the expense from storing; lots of 500 bbls and more of prime yellow have been offered at 29½c, but there has been shown restricted bidding of 29c; for the good off-grade yellow there has been an intimation that 28c would be accepted, which showed a slight further yielding in the price; all of the above figures would show a material profit on the cost price, while there was indicated in the disposition to sell the feeling either that a further substantial improvement was not expected, or that the venture was not made for prolonged holding, but rather for quick turns at whatever profit was possible; there was not much oil coming in unsold outside of the above parcels, or most of it taking in stock that had been placed for export when the market stood about 2c under current market rates; the demands from the West to the mills was not general, but more special, yet of sufficient force to bolster some of the storing views that had been entertained through the cost of seed; at the same time there appeared to be localities South neglected by this Western demand, since urgent efforts were made to induce the local refiners here to make bids; the Western demand has been up to 21½c for crude in bulk in the Missippi Valley, where 22c was asked, with 21c bid at Memphis, while 20c was offered in certain sections in Texas and to all Southeast coast sections, with 21c asked; the local refiners also offered 20c, but were not able to reach any under 21c. LINSEED was steady; American, 42c; boiled, 45c; Calcutta at 48c. NEATSFOOT OIL was in moderate demand, with pure unracked yellow at 55c, and racked yellow up to water white at 57@80c; No. 1 at 50c; No. 2 at 48c; common at 45c. LARD OIL was firm; 52@52½c quoted for city. COCOANUT OIL was steady, with 6c asked for Cochin; Ceylon at 5¼c.

Petroleum.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—Oil opened, $1.50¼; highest, $1.51¼; lowest, $1.50; closed, $1.51. Standard's price, $1.50.

PROVISIONS.

HOG PRODUCTS—An exceptionally large receipt of hogs at the West, or about 98,000 head, tended to weaken the products a little, more especially pork and ribs. There was not much life to the speculative demand, but the distributing business appeared good in all articles, with pure lard especially taken up freely that way, however more restricted its movement otherwise. Chicago estimates its receipts for to-day at 45,000 head.

LARD—Was an exception to the general list; steady at the West, where business had improved in cash stuff; November closed there at 5.42½c, nominal; December at 5.42½c; January at 5.52½c bid; May at 5.75c bid. There there was a little local refining demand. Sales of 250 tcs cash at 5.82½c, and 2 tanks at 5.47½c, cost and freight. City steam was steady; sales of 125 tcs at 5.40@5.45c. November option closed at 5.80c, nominal. Refined had moderate attention; Continent, 6.25c; South American, 6.62c. Compound, 4½@5c, as to quality.

PORK—Sold off about 7½c to 10c at the West under the full offerings of hogs, where November closed at $7.90, nominal, and December at $7.95; January was at $8.97½ to $8.87½, closing at $8.90; May at $9.25 to $9.37½, closing at $9.27½. There there was little done, with 175 bbls mess sold at steady prices. Quotations here: For mess, in job lots, $9.50@$10; family mess, $10.75@$11.25; short clear, $10.75@$12.25.

BACON—The short rib market dealings at the West were small at easier prices, with November closing at 4.42½c, nominal. January was at 4.50@4.52½c, closing at 4.50c bid; May at 4.75@4.80c, closing at 4.75c asked.

CUTMEATS—There was a slow business in city meats, while the cutters were offering to place bellies at easier prices. Sales of 4,000 lb pickled bellies, 12 lb, 5¼c; 50 bxs clear bellies at 5⅝c; 500 pickled shoulders at 6c; city pickled shoulders, 6c; pickled bellies, 12-lb average, 5½c; 10-lb average, 5¾@5⅞c; pickled hams, 8¼@9c; clear bellies at 5⅝c. Western Meats—Western prices: Green hams, 16 lb, 6⅞c; 14 lb, 7¼c; 12 lb, 7⅝c; sweet pickled hams, 16 lb, 8¼c.

BEEF—Was offered at rather easier prices. Recent sales of 500 bbls. Quotations: Packet, $9@$10; do, in tierces, $12.50@$13.50; family, $10@$12.50; extra mess, in barrels, $7.50@$8.50; city extra India mess, in tierces, $17 for best grades, and $14 for good second grades.

BEEF HAMS—Were slow of sale and easy in price; quoted at from $13 to $14 at the West, and $14@$15 here.

HOGS—Were at steady prices here. Receipts at the West, 98,599 head; same time last year, 118,003 head. Chicago—Receipts, 45,000 head; fairly active; steady to 5c higher; $3.35@$3.70; left over, 4,000 head. Cincinnati—Receipts, 9,007 head; steady; $3@$3.65. St. Louis—Receipts, 8,692 head; steady; $3@$3.65. Omaha—Receipts, 8,000 head; steady to strong; $3.30@$3.50. Pittsburg—Dull, $3.60@$3.70. Milwaukee—Receipts, 5,880 head; $3.30@$3.60. Kansas City—Receipts, 15,000 head; steady; $3.35@$3.60. Cleveland—Light average and Yorkers, $3.65@$3.75. Indianapolis—Receipts, 7,000 head; steady; $3.50@$3.65. Quotations here were 4 9-16c for heavy, 4 11-16c for 180 lb, 4 13-16c for 160 lb, 4 15-16c for 140 lb, and 5⅛@5¼c for pigs.

TALLOW—The temper was firm, at 4¼c for city, with special lots at 4 3-16c on moderate wants. Sale, 50 hhds city, 4¼c. Of country, sale of 40,000 lb, in lots, at 4⅛@4⅜c, as to quality.

STEARINE—For oleostearine the market was slow, with sellers at 5⅝c and 5⅞c bid. In lard stearine, nothing of moment in the way of business, with 6¼c quoted, nominal, for Western.

COFFEE.

Contracts were easy all day and closed at 10@30 points decline, with free foreign offerings and local longs realizing. Havre was barely steady at ½f decline, and no Hamburg market.... Spot Rio was dull but steady at 15¼@15½c for No. 7. Sales, 1,000 bags Santos No. 5 to 8, to be shipped, at 15⅝c for No. 7, and 500 bags Maracaibo on private terms....Opening Call, 11 A. M.—March, 500 bags at 13.90c; total, 500 bags. Between Call and Close.—November, 250 bags at 14.40c; 500 bags at 14.35c; 500 bags at 14.50c; December, 1,500 bags at 14.35c, 500 bags at 14.40c; January, 500 bags at 14.20c; March, 1,000 bags at 13.90c, 1,750 bags at 13.85c; May, 500 bags at 13.40c, 1,000 bags at 13.35c; July, 1,000 bags at 12.75c; total, 9,000 bags. Exchange—90 points paid to exchange 1,000 bags May for December; total for day, 11,500 bags.

GROCERIES.

MOLASSES—Demand very light, with holders generally firm....New-Orleans centrifugals, ordinary to fair, 10@18c; do, open kettle, fair to prime, 29@30c; Puerto Rico, 20@31c; Barbados, jobbing, 24@26c.

RICE—Jobbers bought fair, but general demand light, with prices steady....Domestic—Ordinary to prime, 3@4½c; choice to fancy, 5@5¼c; head, 5¾@6c; Patna, 3¾@4¼c; Japan, 3¾@4c; Java, 3⅞@3¾c; rice flour, per 100 lb, $1@$1.10; rice bran, 60@65c.

SUGAR—The raw market was steady, but without business....Refined in light demand at steady prices....Raw Sugars—Muscovado, 89° test, 3c; molasses sugar, 89° test, 2¾c; centrifugals, 96° test, 3⅝c. Refined Sugars—Quotations are those made by refiners on the one-price basis under the plan of Oct. 10, 1895, which makes large dealers and wholesale grocers agents of the trust handling sugars on consignment, and who are at stated terms of settlement allowed a commission of 3-16c per lb. There is also a trade discount of 1 per cent. on 100-barrel lots, and 1 per cent. for cash if paid within seven days. No sales less than 25 bbls....Cutloaf, 5¼c; crushed, 5¼c; powdered, 4⅞c; granulated, 4¼@4⅝c; standard A, 4¼c; off A, 4 1-16@4¼c; softs, 3⅝@4c.

TEA—The auction sale of 9,005 pks was at steady prices for fine grades, but otherwise easy, including Moyune: 369 pks Hyson, 8@6¾c; 681 pks Young Hyson, 31@8¼c; 468 pks Imperial, 23¼@8½c; 1,030 pks Gunpowder, 34@9c. Pingsuey; 169 pks Young Hyson, 9@8c; 788 pks Imperial, 19@6¼c; 3,720 pks Gunpowder, 25¼@7½c. Japan; 30 pks panfired, 21¼@14c; 491 pks Congou, 17@8¼c; 153 pks India and O. Pekoe, 20@13c; 25 pks Capers, 18½c. Oolong; 331 pks Foo-Choo, 10¼@9c; 46 pks Amoy, 9¼@8½c; 703 pks Formosa, 23¼@14½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS AND PEAS—No change in marrow, medium, or pea; demand moderate, but supplies are still rather light, and there is a fairly steady feeling. Exporters have paid $1.32½@$1.35, free on board, for some lots of red kidney, but the orders are not large, and holders do not feel at all firm on the situation. White kidney, yellow eye, and turtle soup are weak, and lima have further declined. Green peas steady. We quote: Beans, domestic, marrow, choice, per bushel, $1.60; do, medium, $1.45; do, pea, $1.40; do, red kidney, $1.30@$1.35; do, white kidney, $1.75@$1.80; do, turtle soup, $1.65; do, yellow eye, $1.50@$1.55; do, lima, California, $1.92½@$1.95; do, foreign, medium, old, $1.10@$1.20; do, foreign, pea, old, $1.15@$1.25; green peas, bbls, 85c; do, bags, 80c; do, Scotch, 90c.

BUTTER—Fancy creamery in limited receipt and steady, but a quiet market otherwise, with prices still irregular....Creamery, State and Pennsylvania, 17@22½c; Western, 14@22c; do, extra, 23c; do, June, 16@21c; State dairy, 12@21c; do, extra, 19@22c; Western imitation creamery, 12@16c; do, factory, 8½@15c.

CHEESE—Some little interest in storage stock and a steady holding, but late-made lots are quiet and lack strength. State, full cream, large, 7½@10½c; do, fancy, 10@10¼c; do, small, 7¾@10½c; fancy, 10¾c; do, part skims, 3½@7½c; do, full skims, 2½@3c.

EGGS—The position is about unchanged, with a very moderate buying of the better qualities. State and Pennsylvania, fancy, fresh, 25@26c; do, fair to good, 22@24c; Western, fresh, fancy, 25@26c; do, fair to good, 21@22c; refrigerator, 16@20c; do, defective, case, $3.50@$4.25; limed, Western, 16½@17c; do, case, $3.50@$4.

FRUITS—FRESH—Fine hard red apples, suitable for export, and fancy large greenings and table sorts for local trade, are in good demand and firm; lower qualities still quiet, but in large supply. Fine table pears firm, but common kinds and grades are slow to move. Fancy grapes scarce and rather firm; supply mostly of lower quality and dull. Cranberries in steady fair demand and firm. We quote: Apples, fancy, Northern, per bbl, $2.50@$3.50; do, State King, $2@$3.50; Baldwin, $1.75@$2.25; greening, $1.50@$2.50; winesap, Virginia, $2@$3; other red, Virginia, $1.50@$2.50; Ben Davis, Western, $1.75@$2.25; inferior apples, 75c@$1.25. Pears, Boston seckel, per bushel box, $2@$4; do, Sheldon and Bosc, $2@$3; do, other kinds, $1@$2; do, near-by choice varieties, per carrier, $1@$1.50; do, late sorts, per bbl, $1@$3. Grapes, State, Catawba, choice, per small basket, 11c; do, Concord, choice, 11@12c; do, Concord and Catawba, ordinary, 9@10c; do, up-river cases, 50@75c; wine grapes, in trays, per lb, 1@2c. Cranberries, Cape Cod, fancy large varieties, per bbl, $8@$9.50; do, usual kinds, good to fancy, $7@$8; do, poor to fair, $5.50@$6.50; do, Jersey, per crate, $2@$2.35. DRIED—The receipts of evaporated apples are so light that sellers have good control of the market, and there is a firm feeling on prime, choice, and fancy grades. Sun-dried apples working out slowly, but are without further change. Peeled peaches well sustained. Most varieties of small fruits are quite firm. We quote: Apples, evaporated, fancy, 6¾@7c; do, choice, 6¼@6½c; do, prime, 5¾@6c; do, common to good, 4@5¼c; do, sun-dried, sliced, Southern, 2@3½c; do, coarse cut, Southern, 2@3c; do, Southwestern, 2½@3½c; do, Western, 3@4c; do, State, 3½@4½c; chops, 2c; cores and skins, 1c; peaches, peeled, Southern, 5@7c; raspberries, 19@19½c; cherries, 8@10c; huckleberries, 6@6½c; blackberries, 3¼@4c; apricots, 9½@12½c; peaches, California, peeled, 13@15c; do, unpeeled, 7@9c; prunes, 4@8c.

GAME—Grouse continue scarce and wanted at full prices. Near-by woodcock and partridges in moderate supply and steady. Western partridge plenty and irregular in quality and value. Choice large, fresh quail not plenty and salable up to $2.25, but most lots run small and range from $2 down to $1.25. Snipe and plover unchanged. Choice varieties of wild ducks, if heavy, sell readily at firm prices, but light weights and common varieties slow. Venison dull and weak. We quote: Woodcock, per pair, 75@90c; partridges, near by, 75c@$1; do, Western, 30@85c; grouse, $1@$1.20; quail, fresh, per dozen, $1.25@$2.25; do, frozen, $2@$2.50; English snipe and golden plover, $1.50@$2; grass plover, $1.50@$1.75; small snipe, 30@50c; wild ducks, canvas, per pair, $1.50@$2.50; do, redhead, $1@$1.50; do, Mallards, 60@85c; do, teal, 30@50c; rabbits, 25@35c; venison, fresh saddles, per lb, 18@20c; do, whole deer, 12@14c; do, frozen saddles, 17@19c.

POULTRY—LIVE—Receipts were heavy, including 20 carloads. An effort was made to advance prices, and a few fowls sold at 9½c and chickens 9c, but these figures proved too high and bulk of sales were ½c per lb lower. Old roosters ½c per lb higher. Turkeys weak. Ducks and geese steady. Pigeons slow. We quote: Fowls, per lb, 9@9½c; chickens, per lb, 8@9c; roosters, per lb, 5½@6c; turkeys, per lb, 7@9c; ducks, per pair, 65@90c; geese, per pair, $1.25@$1.50; pigeons, per pair, 20@30c. DRESSED—Weather continues unfavorable; supply of turkeys liberal; quality generally ranging from poor to good, and with such grade very slow, the feeling continues weak and irregular for average offerings, and few straight lots of ice packed possible above 9c, though 9½c is occasionally reached for exceptionally choice, and some holders inclined to ask 10c where they run all large. Fowls and chickens are not in large supply, and the feeling a shade firmer, though hardly sufficient strength to warrant actual advance in prices. Choice Spring ducks and geese steadily held, but ordinary lots slow and irregular. Squabs dull and weak. Dry-packed poultry is nearly all more or less out of condition, the weather being too mild to insure its safe arrival from any distance. We quote: Turkeys, young, 5@9½c; fowls, 8@9c; old cocks, 5@5½c; chickens, Philadelphia, 11@14c; do, Western, dry picked, 9½@10c; do, scalded, 9@9½c; Spring ducks, Eastern, 11@13c; do, Long Island, 11@14c; do, Western, 7@11c; geese, Eastern, 12@15c; do, Maryland, 12@13c; do, Western, 7@9c; squabs, per dozen, $1.50@$2.25.

VEGETABLES—A slow demand for potatoes as compared with the offerings. Potatoes, Maine, $1@$1.12; Long Island, 90c@$1; State, 50@90c; Jersey, 70@85c; sweets, $2.50@$4.25; cauliflower, bbl, 75c@$3; cabbages, per 100, $1.50@$3.50; celery, dozen stalks, 10@75c; cucumbers, crate, $1.50@$3; eggplant, bbl, $2.50@$3.50; onions, white, bbl, $1@$1.75; do, red, 60c@$1; do, yellow, 90c@$1.25; peas, basket, $1@$3; do, crate, $1@$2.50; string beans, basket, 50c@$1; squash, bbl, 40@60c; turnips, bbl, 60@65c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HAY AND STRAW—Receipts are somewhat lighter and with a very good demand; both hay and straw are quite firm. We quote: Hay, prime, per 100 lb, 87½@90c; No. 3 to No. 1, 70@85c; clover mixed, 70@75c; clover, 65c; salt, 45c; straw, long rye, per 100 lb, 60@65c; short rye, 45@50c; oat, 40@45c; wheat, 35@40c.

HOPS—Offerings were urgent, with demand slow, and prices barely steady. Shipments from California to Europe, via New-York, continue very heavy; State, crop of 1895, medium to choice, 7@10c; do, crop of 1894, common to choice, 3@7c; do, old odds, 1½@3c; Pacific coast, crop of 1895, medium to choice, 6@10c; do, crop of 1894, medium to choice, 5@7c; do, crop of 1894, common, 3½@4½c.

HIDES—A very dull market and prices unchanged. Dry Buenos Ayres, selected, 20@30 lb, 21c; do, Montevideo, selected, 20½@22 lb, 21c; do, Cordova, selected, 21@24 lb, 22c; do, California, selected, 22@25 lb, 18@18½c; do, San Antonio and Laredo selected, 20@25 lb, 19c; do, Buenos Ayres, kips, selected, 10@13 lb, 12½c; do, Cordova, kips, selected, 10@13 lb, 18c; do, Texas, selected, 24@30 lb, 12@13c; wet salted, Havana, as they run, 35@50 lb, 9½c.

LEATHER—Prices without change and a fair call for supplies, partly on export account.... CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—An unconfirmed rumor of the death of the Sultan of Turkey which obtained broad circulation yesterday afternoon was the means of advancing wheat on the curb, and with the gain which was then secured still adhering to prices the market opened this morning. The scalpers and floor traders were disposed to work for a further appreciation in values at the start, but were soon convinced that efforts in that direction were futile, after which the trend of the market was downward. Wall Street was said to be a good seller, but, taking the entire day's business into consideration, the trade was far below an ordinary day's transactions. Thoman the statistician furnished a new and final estimate of the crop, placing the yield at 475,000,000 bushels, against 453,000,000 bushels, his last previous figures. Liverpool cables were quiet and steady. Paris quoted a higher market, and Antwerp was unchanged. Berlin had a holiday. Northwest receipts were 985 cars, against 1,182 cars on last Wednesday and 925 cars a year ago. Chicago received 246 cars and inspected out 58,794 bushels. Export clearances amounted to 231,683 bushels.

WHEAT—December opened from 57¼c to 57¼@57⅜c, declined to 57⅛c, closing at 57¼c, a shade lower than yesterday. Cash wheat was quiet and steady. Receipts at principal Western points, 1,279,558 bushels; shipments, 749,018 bushels. Receipts at Eastern points, 370,200 bushels; shipments, 129,623 bushels.

CORN—The range showed fluctuations covering ¼c, but the bulk of the trading was at one quotation. Weakness was the predominating tone, although the opening was quite firm. Orders either to buy or to sell were something of a curiosity, and a trader who had one was quite an important person. The feeling of wheat extended to corn and ruled the action of prices. Receipts were light at 260 cars, and 40,000 bushels were taken from store. Liverpool cables were firm and ¼d higher. Export clearances were 163,672 bushels. May corn opened at 29⅝c, sold at 29¾c, where it closed—½c under yesterday. Cash corn was quiet and unchanged. Receipts at principal Western points, 529,839 bushels; shipments, 185,900 bushels. Receipts at Eastern points, 290,307 bushels.

OATS—About noon there was quite a gathering in the oat pit, and from a distance it looked like an excited market, but upon a near approach it was evident that there was more noise than business. May was freely offered at 20½@20⅝c, with 20¼c bid, but trades were few. The rest of the session was undisturbed by any incident. Receipts were 101 cars. There were no oats taken from store. May oats closed a shade under yesterday.

RYE—Steady. A few buying orders appeared, while very little rye was offered. No. 2 on the regular market was 38c, nominal. No. 2, by sample, sold from 36½c to 38c. Receipts were 2 cars. December was 36¼c bid, January 37½c, nominal; May 41¼c bid.

BARLEY—Steady for common, with choice to fancy firm and scarce. Receipts were 58 cars. Common to good sold from 23c to 36c; choice to fancy, 36@42c. A round lot of choice Minnesota sold, to arrive, at 40c.

PROVISIONS—By way of a change from the inactivity of the provision market there was rather a lively time during a portion of the morning. A prominent scalper enlivened proceedings by selling and offering freely, his efforts accomplishing a decline, although a moderate one, throughout the list.

HOGS—Quoted firmer, but product derived no benefit from that direction. At the close January pork was 7½c lower, January lard 2½c lower, and January ribs 5c lower. Domestic and foreign markets were quiet and easy. Liverpool quoted Cumberland sides at 1s lower. Receipts were fair and the shipments large. The cash market was moderately active and steady.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat, 340 cars; corn, 350 cars; oats, 115 cars; hogs, 45,000 head.

FREIGHTS—Dull. No grain was offered. Rates were easy at 2⅜c for corn to Buffalo.

THOMAS A. EDISON'S $78,000 SUIT

Cross-examined, He Declared that the North American Phonograph Company Only Exists for Liquidation.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 20.—Vice Chancellor Emery continued the five phonograph suits, in one of which Thomas A. Edison sues to recover from John R. Hardin, as receiver of the North American Phonograph Company, over $78,000 on a promissory note.

Mr. Edison testified about improvements that had been made to the phonograph since the formation of the North American Phonograph Company in 1887. In 1888, he said, he made a contract with the North American Company to continue experimental work, with a view of increasing the commercial value of the phonograph.

At the time, the graphophone had no practical commercial value, and the phonograph only when in the hands of an expert. This experimental work he continued at his laboratory for about two years. A claim for this work had been made against the North American Company. Labor and material were charged for only at their cost value. Mr. Edison also testified that he had advanced over $400,000 to keep the machines going.

(By Mr. Hardin)—What is the object of introducing this machine?

(By Mr. Hayes)—To show that Mr. Edison lost the benefit of one of the most important patents through the failure of the North American Company to carry out the agreement of June 28, 1888, thus releasing the graphophone people from obligation of their contract, and giving them the benefit of Mr. Edison's work.

The North American Phonograph Company, Mr. Edison said, never put any graphophones on the market while witness was President of the company. At the time of the first agreement between the North American Phonograph Company, Thomas A. Edison, and Jesse H. Lippincott, all the stock of the Edison Phonograph Company was owned by himself and his assistants, and when the agreement to sell for $500,000 was made he controlled all the stock except the Hemenway block.

This stock witness deposited with the Guardian Safe Deposit Company of New-York, where it remained several months, when witness withdrew it himself and retained it in his possession.

Mr. Edison also testified to having 6,100 shares of the stock of the North American Phonograph Company, which he received from Jesse H. Lippincott as compensation for renewing the notes. He added that he did not think the stock was worth much money.

On cross-examination, Mr. Edison said that the company was now only in existence for the purpose of liquidation.

RUSSELL MAY NOT BE EXTRADITED

Difference Between the Laws of the United States and Belgium.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Department of Justice has rendered an opinion for the benefit of the State Department on the points raised against the extradition of Russell, the alleged Post Office robber, who escaped with two companions from Ludlow Street Jail, New-York, in July last, and who is now in custody at Bruges, Belgium.

It is understood that the Department of Justice is of the opinion that, on account of a difference between the definition of the crime of burglary in the United States statutes and those of Belgium, Russell's extradition cannot be secured on that ground.

Secretary Olney has the matter of further procedure under advisement, and meanwhile Russell will be held by the Belgian authorities.

SEIZED TONS OF OLEOMARGERINE

Government Takes Possession of Something Which No One Claims.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—It was learned to-day that 7,300 pounds of oleomargarine had been seized in Philadelphia by the State Department of Agriculture.

The oleo was found at the Union Market, on Callowhill Street, and, singularly enough, it appeared to have no owner. It is marked "B," and is supposed to have come from Chicago, but no one can be found who claims possession.

If the owner shall be found he will be prosecuted by the department, and meanwhile the oleo is somewhat of an elephant on the hands of the authorities.

Epidemic of Crime, Recorder Goff Says.

Recorder Goff, in refusing to accept small bail in a robbery case yesterday, said: "The newspapers are teeming with reports of crime by violence. There appears to be an epidemic of crime of all kinds. The safety of the city and protection of society demand that the police authorities and the courts shall be alert and watchful."

Acting Captain O'Brien of the Police Department, yesterday, when asked about Recorder Goff's refusal to allow a man to be taken to Police Headquarters to be photographed for the Rogues' Gallery, deplored the leaning of some Magistrates toward light sentences for criminals. Recorder Goff had nothing to say about the Captain's remark.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

The Lake Earlville Summer Resort Company of Earlville; to develop a Summer resort in Lebanon, Madison County; capital, $5,000. Directors—N. L. Douglass, C. C. Gross, J. R. Parsons, and J. C. Millard of Earlville.

The Minneapolis Market.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Another dull day in wheat and generally stand-still condition is the record. Opening prices were higher, but there was a sagging market from first quotations for about ⅜c decline. December wheat opened ¼c higher than yesterday's close, and closed at the latter price. The opening was 53⅛c, the close 52⅝c, with 52⅝c the lowest price. May opened at 57⅜c and closed at 57⅜c, the same as yesterday. There was a strong demand for cash wheat and 1½c premium for No. 1 Northern was paid by outsiders for a few cars. No. 1 Northern sold at 54⅛@54¼c; No. 2 Northern, 53⅛c. Receipts, 511 cars; shipments, 106 cars. On track: No. 1 hard, 54⅝c; No. 1 Northern, 53⅝c; No. 2 Northern 52⅛c. Corn—No. 3 mixed sold at 22¾c, with offerings light. Oats—Market continues weak and low. No. 3 white by sample sold at 16½c; No. 3, 15½@16c. Flour steady at $3.05@$3.40 for patents; $2.10@$2.65 for bakers'. Production, 48,000 bbls; shipments, 53,951 bbls.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

A NUMBER OF TRANSACTIONS REPORTED BY BROKERS.

Sale of a Block Front on Sherman Avenue—A Notable Lease—The Auction Offerings.

Mr. Daniel B. Freedman has bought of E. H. Landon about twenty-one lots, forming the block front on the west side of Sherman Avenue between Emerson and Isham Streets. The property lies advantageously between the new speedway and the Harlem Ship Canal. Mr. Freedman has sold to A. Wessel a plot, 150 by 160, on the east side of Sherman Avenue, 100 feet south of Hawthorne Street.

The American Surety Company, which is just completing its twenty-two-story building at the corner of Pine Street and Broadway, has finally leased from the Astor estate the Schermerhorn Building. This latter structure has a ground plan in the shape of the letter T, with fronts on Pine and Wall Streets and on Broadway. It adjoins the Surety Building on Pine Street and Broadway, but is only eight stories high. The new arrangement gives the Surety Building light on all sides for the upper twelve stories, and also enables it to have a Wall Street entrance. Besides this, economies may be introduced in running the elevators and supplying steam service from a single plant. The lease was announced prematurely, as having been made some time ago. Later on, however, came the announcement that the Astor estate would sue the Surety Company for having a cornice projecting in the air several stories above the top of the Schermerhorn Building. The lease is supposed to be for twenty-one years, with renewals.

Messrs. L. J. Phillips & Co. have sold for George C. Edgar's Sons & Co., at about $62,000, to a silk importer of this city, the four-story brownstone dwelling 40 West Sixty-ninth Street, 24 by 102.2, with dining-room extension. The same firm have sold, for James Carlew, the four-story brownstone dwelling 41 West Eighty-seventh Street, 20 by 60 by 100.8½, at about $40,000. This is the fourth sold out of a row of five dwellings which are still unfinished.

Mr. J. B. Smith has sold to a Mr. Aiken, at about $33,000, the four-story brownstone dwelling 15 West Ninetieth Street, 20 by 100.8½.

Mr. E. G. Bach has sold the four-story brick building with plot 75 by 100, at the southeast corner of Forest Avenue and One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street.

The dividend of the Real Estate Exchange for the year is 1¼, not 1½, per cent.

Messrs. Douglas Robinson & Co. have sold for Samuel Boehm, to Charles O. Corn, the three-story dwelling 31 West Seventy-first Street, 18 by 55 by 100.

Mr. George R. Read has bought of George H. B. Hill the two-story brick private stable 139 West Fifty-first Street, 25 by 100.

A. E. & E. A. Karlesen report the sale to S. Mosbacher of this city of twenty lots on Merideth Avenue, in Arverne-by-the-Sea, L. I., for Mrs. Lizzie C. Stearns, for about $20,000.

At auction, in the Trinity Building Salesroom yesterday, Mr. Philip A. Smyth sold to William Fink, at $6,500, the three-story and basement brick dwelling 425 East One Hundred and Twentieth Street, north side, near Pleasant Avenue, 18.9 by 100.10. Under foreclosure. Mr. Smyth sold to the plaintiff, Jane M. Lawrence, at $15,000, the three-story and basement brownstone dwelling 39 West Ninety-seventh Street, north side, 402 feet west of Central Park West, 18 by 100.11.

Mr. William M. Ryan sold, by order of the widow of ex-Sheriff Gorman, to Daniel L. Phillips for Mayor Nolan of Albany, the four-story and basement brownstone dwelling at the southwest corner of Lexington Avenue and Seventy-second Street, 20 by 84.2, at $44,700. Mr. Ryan also sold, to Louis Kucera, at $15,400, the five-story brick tenement 436 East Sixty-sixth Street, 27 by 100.5, and to Samuel Block, at $15,375, the similar building 440 East Sixty-sixth Street, 26.6 by 100.5.

Mr. B. L. Kennelly sold, under foreclosure, to the plaintiff, H. B. Caverley, at $28,618, the undivided two-thirds interest in the plot, 75 by 199.10, on the north side of One Hundred and Fifty-second Street, 575 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue, extending to One Hundred and Fifty-third Street.

At 59 Liberty Street, Messrs. Hall J. How & Co. sold, to Thomas Hornsay, at $8,800, the lot, 25 by 100.11, on the north side of One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, 300 feet west of the Boulevard.

The auction sales for to-day, to be held at 111 Broadway, unless otherwise specified, are as follows:

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., receiver's sale, the right, title, and interest of the Cross Creek Mining Company to claims and property in Eagle County, Col.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

—The creditors of Henry Vogel, dealer in clothing at Third Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, and at One Hundred and Twenty-third Street, who failed in June with liabilities of $70,000, will receive a dividend of 36% per cent., an order having been made in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday directing Samuel Ross, the assignee, to make the payment. The report of ex-Judge William H. Kelly, who passed the accounts, shows: Assets, $35,452; expenses, &c., $2,765; payments to preferred creditors, $9,908; leaving $25,544 for distribution among the creditors.

—Lincoln B. Palmer was appointed as receiver yesterday of the Putnam Paper Company, whose office was formerly at 280 Broadway, by Justice Lawrence of the Supreme Court, on the application of the Cushnoc Fiber Company of Augusta, Me., a judgment creditor for $612. It is alleged that the company has no cash on hand, that the debts do not exceed $2,000, and that other creditors are willing to await the result of two claims of the company against other parties, aggregating $13,000, which are in dispute.

—Abraham Gruber said yesterday that he had proposed a compromise with the creditors of Eli M. Goodman, wholesale dealer in tailors' trimmings at 33 Howard Street, who failed on Monday, at 25 cents on the dollar. The liabilities are $45,000.

—Everett H. Osborn has been appointed receiver in supplementary proceedings for William Kohlenbusch, baker, at Alexander Avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, on the application of Enders & Ellis.

—Judgment for $8,009 was entered yesterday against the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron Company in favor of Thomas F. Wentworth for services as counsel between Jan. 1, 1881, and Jan. 1, 1889.

—The Sheriff has taken charge of the store of Julius Zigler, baker, at 202 Broome Street, on claims for $900, the largest being a confessed judgment for $575 in favor of Lena Rosen.

—The appraisers for the assignee of Bamberg, Bloom & Co., wholesale dry goods, who failed recently at Louisville, Ky., have completed their work. The assets are fixed at $858,988; liabilities, $1,215,403, of which $715,977 is owed to Eastern creditors. The members of the firm are desirous of resuming business, and the creditors will not stand in the way.

—The schedules of Louis Katzman, manufacturer of clocks at 546 Broadway, show liabilities of $36,262, nominal assets of $20,062, and actual assets of $15,960.

—William T. McGrath has been appointed receiver in supplementary proceedings for James F. Norris on the application of Alexander Cameron.

INSURE YOUR TITLE.

From N. Y. Sun, July 7, 1895.

"MILLIONAIRE ANDERSON'S WILL.

"Walter S. Carr's Attempt to Have It Set Aside Fails.

"Justice Bartlett of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn has given judgment for the defendant in the suit of Walter S. Carr against Charles J. Anderson to set aside a judgment, establishing the validity of the will of John Anderson, the millionaire tobacconist, his father. Carr, who is a son-in-law of the late millionaire, alleged that he was induced by fraud and collusion to consent to a settlement of a claim of his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Watson, on the estate, for $50,000. Justice Bartlett finds that there was no proof of collusion or fraud."

The expenses attending the contests over this will have been many thousands of dollars. This Company defends at its own expense all suits brought against a guaranteed title and pays the judgment if adverse.

SUPREME COURT.—In the matter of the application of the Board of Education, by the Counsel to the Corporation of the City of New-York, relative to acquiring title by The Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New-York to certain lands on Burnside and Andrews Avenues, in the Twenty-fourth Ward of said city, duly selected and approved by said board as a site for school purposes, under and in pursuance of the provisions of Chapter 191 of the Laws of 1888, as amended by Chapter 35 of the Laws of 1890.

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 191 of the Laws of 1888, as amended by Chapter 35 of the Laws of 1890, notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Supreme Court of the State of New-York, at a Special Term of said Court, to be held at Chambers thereof, at the County Court House, in the City of New-York, on the 14th day of December, 1895, at the opening of the Court on that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon, for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate in the above-entitled matter.

The nature and extent of the improvement hereby intended is the acquisition of title by The Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New-York to certain lands and premises, with the buildings thereon and the appurtenances thereto belonging, on Burnside and Andrews Avenues, in the Twenty-fourth Ward of said city, in fee simple absolute, the same to be converted, appropriated, and used to and for the purposes specified in said Chapter 191 of the Laws of 1888, as amended by said Chapter 35 of the Laws of 1890, said property having been duly selected and approved by the Board of Education as a site for school purposes under and in pursuance of the provisions of said Chapter 191 of the Laws of 1888, as amended by said Chapter 35 of the Laws of 1890, being the following-described lots, pieces, or parcels of land, namely: All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, situate, lying, and being in the Twenty-fourth Ward of the City of New-York, which taken together are bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Andrews Avenue (as now proposed) distant northerly 154.35 feet from the intersection of a certain curve connecting the said easterly line of Andrews Avenue with the northerly line of Burnside Avenue; running thence easterly and at right angles with Andrews Avenue 278.45 feet to a point in the westerly line of Burnside Avenue; thence southwesterly along the northerly line of Burnside Avenue upon a curve to the right with a radius 230 feet, for a distance of 107.02 feet; thence again southwesterly, and still along the northerly line of Burnside Avenue, upon a curve to the right with a radius 1,920 feet for a distance of 200.91 feet; thence still along the northerly side of Burnside Avenue and upon a curve to the right with a radius 19.176 feet for a distance of 38.74 feet, and thence northerly along the easterly side of Andrews Avenue 154.35 feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New-York, November 19th, 1895.

FRANCIS M. SCOTT,
Counsel to the Corporation,
No. 2 Tryon Row, New-York City.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Commissioner of Street Improvements of the 23d and 24th Wards of the City of New-York will, at his office, No. 2,622 Third Avenue, in said city, on November 27th, 1895, at 10 o'clock A.
